Cold Wave Grips East Coast From Florida To Maine

Blizzard Contributes To 72 Deaths; Delaware, Virginia Are Worst Hit

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the icy grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 72 deaths from highay accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept up the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital. (See photos, page 8.)

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency. Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

In northern and central Florida, the gigantic citrus crop as threatened by freezing temperatures.

Thousands of travelers were inconvenienced as airports in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "socked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

SNOW IN D.C.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow — the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years. The storm dumped 12 new inches of snow with four inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

Federal government and city employees in the capital were told to stay away from work in the morning except for emergencies. However, Congress was scheduled to meet.

State legislative sessions were canceled in Albany, N.Y., and Annapolis, Md.

With driving conditions extremely hazardous, schools were closed in many of the states. At Ithica, N.Y., about 2,000 Cornell University students were given an extra day to prepare for mid-term examinations.

DRY ROADS

Icy roads and drifting snow were the main hazards, with visibility cut to zero in many areas. Portions of key state highways were shut down and hundreds of motorists were stranded.

In one of the worst traffic accidents, 40 persons were injured last night in a series of chain-reaction collisions on New York's Thruway between Rochester and Buffalo.

Frigid temperatures and gale-force winds, rather than the snow, created the most misery in many states.

Fifteen-to 20-foot waves were reported in Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island, flooding low-lying coastal areas. Winds up to 60 mph buffeted some parts of the New Jersey shore.

GAS FOR FIRE

In Pittsburgh, officials at one church had to pour gasoline on the ground and light it to melt ice and snow so a handful of earth could be chipped away for a ground-breaking ceremony.

The cold blast nipped into the Deep South, as temperatures skidded to subzero levels in parts of Georgia. In Atlanta, a reading of three below zero was recorded, a low for the date.

Florida officials described the cold wave as their worst in 30 years and expressed fears that the state's citrus crop might be damaged. Growers on the northern fringe of the citrus belt set out smudge pots. Other crops, such as potatoes and cabbage, were damaged by below-freezing readings in many parts of the state.

Storm Brings Snow, Flood; More On Way

A strange storm brought lightning, hail and snow to southern Marin yesterday, after heavy rainfall on Saturday caused minor flooding in several parts of the county. On Saturday gusts of wind reached 85 mph atop Mount Tamalpais.

The Weather Bureau reported a new storm was headed for the Bay Area, expected to reach here tonight. Small craft warnings have been posted from Point Reyes northward for winds of 20 to 35 knots from the south.

Yesterday thunder and lightning were reported in the Tamalpais Valley about 2 a.m., preceded by hail. Snow fell about the same time on the ridge between Green Gulch Ranch and Tamalpais Valley, along Highway 1, but not on Mount Tamalpais, to the north.

Electricity was cut off for about 125 homes and businesses in Fairfax and San Geronimo Valley at 11:27 a.m. Saturday when a large tree fell across a power line on Meadow Way in San Geronimo. Service was restored to all customers by 3:25 p.m. by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Minor flooding was reported in Granton Park area of Kentfield, with about eight inches of water in some streets, and on Laverne Avenue in Homestead Valley on Saturday afternoon, during the heaviest rains.

Clogged pipes on San Rafael Avenue in Belvedere backed up water, and firemen were called out to pump out the low spots, but there was little damage to homes, according to police.

Heaviest rainfall was reported in Fairfax, which had a storm total of 3.25 inches over the weekend. West Marin had the Viet Bombing Resumes; Johnson Goes To U. N.

Quick Action Asked In Security Council

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President Johnson called for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council in a new effort to bring the Viet Nam war to the conference table.

The Chief Executive made the request during a brief, televised report to the nation on his decision to resume U.S. bombing raids on Communist North Viet Nam.

Johnson said resumption of the raids, which had been suspended since Christmas Eve, was necessary because of continued Communist aggression.

Speaking of the Hanoi government, Johnson said, "It is plain that there is no readiness to talk—no readiness for peace—in that regime today.

"The end of the pause does not mean the end of our own pusuit of peace," Johnson said. "That pursuit will be as determined and unremitting as the pressure of our military strength on the field of battle."

GOLDBERG PLEA

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, shortly after, officially asked for a Security Council meeting.

Members of the 15-nation council quickly began consultations on the time of the meeting. The United States indicated it was ready to meet this afternoon, if the other members agreed.

The President said that in view of continued Communist violence against South Vietnamese and American forces, any further extension of the U.S. bombing pause might have led to a greatly increased cost in lives. Johnson spoke from the White House less than 10 hours after word came that the United States had begun bombing North Viet Nam.

PEACE HOPES

As for hopes for peace, Johnson said that both direct and indirect approaches by the United States, her allies and even the Vatican "have been in vain."

"The answer of Hanoi to all is the answer that was published three days ago—they persist in aggression and they insist on the surrender of South Viet Nam to Communism," he said.

Johnson's call for a U. N. Security Council session on Viet Nam was in line with the weekend proposal of Pope Paul VI for U.N.-sponsored arbitration to end the bloody fighting.

POPE'S SUGGESTION

The Pope suggested that the war might be ended through such arbitration, "entrusted to neutral nations." There has been no reply thus far from Hanoi or Peking.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk disclosed today the United States offered to extend the bombing pause over North Viet Nam if the Communist leaders there would make a peace gesture in response to the U.S. peace offensive.

He told a news conference that Hanoi's response had been "negative, harsh and unyielding."

Rusk said the United States made clear to Hanoi's leaders that it was prepared for a formal diplomatic conference, for informal discussions or for

U.S., South Vietnamese Step Up Action On Ground

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States unleashed its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while it tried vainly to bring the Communists to the peace table.

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces stepped up their offensives against the Viet Cong, but the Communists inflicted heavy losses on a militia unit and Red guns hammered Allied positions.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes took the war back to North Viet Nam on White House orders prompted by Hanoi's refusal to talk peace.

The planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area.

One Navy plane was shot down in the sea as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machinegun fire. He was Lt. Cmdr. Sylvester Chumley of Lenoore, Kings County.

Chumley's A-4 Skyhawk jet went down about a mile off Dong Hoi. The Communists peppered the water around him for 35 minutes as he waited to be rescued.

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year. Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers and heavy traffic has been spotted moving toward South Viet Nam over the past two weeks.

On the ground, the Viet Cong backed by regulars of the North Vietnamese forces were goaded into action by Allied troops who have penetrated Communist hideouts in the central coastal plains which had not been disturbed for 15 years.

Operation Masher, the U.S. 1st Cavalry's hedge-hopping push around Bong Son, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, was heavily engaged for the fifth straight day in a firefight the Viet Cong used as a withdrawal action.

Cavalry troops counted 282 Communist dead after four days of heavy fighting with main force Viet Cong and the 18th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 325th division. A spokesman said another 200 Reds may have been killed in air and artillery attacks.

Toward the coast, 20 miles west of Tuy Hoa, South Korean marines squeezed the Viet Cong in another sensitive spot when they sent a column out on a new search and destroy mission. The insurgents reacted from three directions.

The marines hit them hard, split them up and claimed 188 killed by body count, two cap-

Bay Transportation Study Readied For Legislature

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A long-range study of San Francisco Bay Area transportation to be presented to the Legislature in 1968, will be much more complex than expected and cost $960,000 more than was estimated in 1965.

The Bay Area Transportation Study Commission was given these figures today by its study director, Richard M. Zettel.

He presented a 185-page final study design which he estimated will cost $4,425,000 to complete. The most costly individual item is a home interview survey which is listed at $1,465,000.

The commission already has made 53,000 home interviews and expectes these to start again Feb. 11. It reported that it has 100,000 returns from license plate questionnaires and had made 175,000 roadside interviews.

In this program, the commission is considering such things as land useage and future demands for transportatign in the bay area. The legislative act setting up the commission specifically said that its study was not to impede decisions on individual projects.

A variety of specialized types of transportatiin were on the afternoon agenda, including a report on the status of hydrofoil crafts. Commissiiner John C. Beckett was on the program to present data on research into such items as zinc-air batteries, pneumatic tubes and automated highways.

Russ Fire Another Moon Shot

MOSCOW (UPI) —Russia today sent another unmanned space station towards the moon, the Soviet Tass news agency reported.

Tass said Luna 9 was "streaking towards the moon along a trajectory close to the calculated one."

It said all the equipment was functioning normally.

The station is carrying scientific, telemetric and other measuring apparatus which was switched on automatically in accordance with the flight program as well as on orders from the earth.

This appeared to be Russia's fifth attempt to land a space station intact on the moon in the past nine months. The first four failed.

The trip from the earth to the moon takes three-and-one-half days. Luna 9 apparently was launched early today.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Mystery Woman Leaves China

HONG KONG (UPI)—U.S. officials said today they were "studying" the case of an American woman who entered Communist China illegally Jan. 11.

They indicated there was a possibility that the woman, Mrs. Beverly Reilly, 38, of Omaha, Neb., might be prosecuted for possible violation of U.S. passport regulations.

Reilly

Mrs. Reilly, a nurse who said she wanted to write a book on China, returned to Hong Kong yesterday afternoon after being held almost three weeks by Red Chinese authorities.

She came to Hong Kong early last December and took a room in a small boarding house in Sheung--shue Village, near the China border.

She disappeared on Jan. 11 and was reported missing two days later. It was widely speculated then that she had entered Red China.

But it was not known definitely until she was returned suddenly yesterday by Chinese authorities.

Free-Wheeling Baboon Caught

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two young baboons jumped across rooftops, through trees and into yards, then fell victim to a tranquilizer gun, after a three-day spree.

Baboons

The animals—2-year-old Avok and Solearas—escaped Friday from the home of Steve Kallestad, who works as a biochemical specialist for a Los Aneges laboratory, officers said.

While free, the two male baboons dined on neighbors' shrubbery, chewed pine cones and chased each other across rooftops—until cornered on a red tile roof in the neighborhood.

A veterinarian from the Griffith Park Zoo, using the special gun, subdued the baboons yesterday, officials said.

Another Saturday Night In Watts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Violence erupted anew early yesteral youths fighting in the street. of last August's Negro rioting — when about 20 persons attacked to sheriff's deputies trying to stop a street brawl.

Authorities immediately labeled it as "just another Saturday night disturbance."

"Get Whitey," chanted a few persons in the predominantly Negro crowd as deputies Raymond Stewart, 25, and Ronald Dowling, 31, tried to separate several youths fighting in the street.

The two deputies were roughed up in the melee as a crowd of about 100 persons gathered around them. The crowd dispersed at the sound of sirens from additional law enforcement vehicles summoned to the scene by a Negro former sheriff's reserve officer.

Authorities said the Negro bystanders had used the car radio of the to besieged deputies to call aid.

Unlike the chain reaction of violence that exploded last August when to white officers tried to arrest a Negro drunken driving suspect, the distrubance yesterday had no after effects.

Booked on suspicion of felony assault on a law enforcement officer were Willie B. Rucker, 24, his brother, Harrison, 25, and their father, Willie M., 46.

Stewart and Dowling were treated for bruises, cuts and bites before they were released from a local hospital.

Th two deputies said some of the persons in the crowd shouted vulgarities at them while others hit and kicked them and threw things at them.

In last summer's disturbance, more than 30 persons were killed and 4,000 were arrested The rioting ended when California National Guardsmen were called in to assist law enforcement officers.

During the boilover, one volunteer fireman broke his leg, the West Side Fire District lost several thousand feet of hose and a $30,000 bulldozer was ruined.

Pat Niessen of Coalinga, the injured fireman, was one of many who had to run for their lives when the oil boiled out of the tank and spread rapidly on the ground. Although not burned he broke his right leg below the knee. No one else was injured.

The lost bulldozer had been employed in trying to build a dike to hold back spreading oil.

California's Water Need Is Previewed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A preview of federal-state efforts to solve California's water needs in the next 20 years was released in a report during the weekend.

The report resented by the California state-federal interagency group listed 200 water development projects under consideration to meet the state's growing water consumption rage. The group is composed of the Department of Water Resources, the Bureau of Reclamation, the Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Conservation Service.

Of the $9 billion worth of projects listed, some were already under consideration while others either have been authorized or were being studied.

Water Resources Director William E. Warne, chairman of the four-agency organization, said the major water problems facing California can be solved only through coordination of all agencies concerned.

"All members of the group are agreed that California's water resource problems can no longer be solved through piecemeal approaches," he said. He added that the report was the first attempt to ummarize the water development projects of each member agency.

"The $9.2 billion estimated as the cost of water development for the next 20 years is about four times the total spent in California by the four agencies in the last 20 years," he said.

Red Crisis Is Seen Over Aid To Hanoi

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet has taken the first step toward a possible showdown with Peking over alleged delays of Russian aid to North Viet Nam moving across Communist China, informed sources said today.

This seemed to be the intent, the sources said, of a secret memorandum being circulated among the Soviet Union's 12 million rank and file party members accusing the Red Chinese of sabotaging its Hanoi aid efforts.

The document marks the first time the Kremlin has officially acknowleged reports widely circulated in the West that Peking was obstructing the flow of war materials and Soviet specialists to the North Vietnamese regime.

Red China has denied the Russian accusations and countercharged that the Kremlin was conspiring with American to "peddle the Johnson Administration peace talks hoax."

The Kremlin memorandum also charges the Chinese with refusing to participate in a worldwide Communist movement to aid North Viet Nam and ith rejecting appeals to put aside their differences in the face of escalating "American imperialism" in Viet Nam.

Negroes At Base Want Jobs, Food

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A group of plantation Negroes, lugging blankets and clothing, moved into the deactivated Greenville Air Force Base today and demanded food, jobs and land.

Their action caught base guards by surprise and law enforcement officers couldn't decide whether federal, county or city police had jurisdiction.

"We are here because we are hungry and cold and we have no jobs or land," the Negroes said in a statement. "We don't want charity. We are willing to work for ourselves if given a chance."

Greenville police, sheriff's deputies and FBI agents rushed to the base, which ended operations last March.

Officers said about 35 persons were inside a one-story building near the main gate. A spokesman for the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, a civil rights group, said there were 54 in the group.

Civil rights forces said the move grew out of a meeting attended by some 700 Negroes over the weekend at the Mount Beaulah Center near Jackson operated by the National Council of Churches' Delta Ministry.

At a meeting, a "poor people's conference" was launched to ask for land, money and the buildings on the base.

In a statement today, the conference said:

"We are at the Greenville Air Force Base because it is federal property and there are hundreds of empty houses and buildings. We need those houses and the land. We could be trained for jobs in the buildings."

The City of Greenville owns all of the base except 13 acres and had leased the land to the government for use as a base. However, the government leased back a portion to the city for use as an airport and for a Manpower Development Act training school.

Keys District Appointment Is Expected

Jack H. West Sr., chairman of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District Board, has found someone who is willing to serve the remaining two years of his term.

James L. Zoeller of 53 Montego Key said today he will accept appointment to the board. He did not know when West would resign, but believes that it will be prior to the district election April 12.

Zoeller is a lithographer for American Can Co. in San Francisco.

Jack H. West Jr., also on the board, called Zoeller last week to ask if he would be willing to serve. The board can choose men on its own authority to fill vacancies.

The Wests, developers of Bel Marin Keys, have served on the three-member board since the district was created in 1961.

There has never been an election. Term of the third member, Lerona West, Jack H. West Sr.'s wife, will expire April 12. Roger A. Hicks of 49 Montego Key already has announced he will be a candidate for Mrs. West's post.

Shop Center Annex Plea Is Protested

A public meeting will be held tomorrow by the Terra Linda Community Services District Board to protest a request by developers for annexation of the 50-acre Lucas Green Shopping Center to the City of San Rafael.

Melvin Warenback, chairman, said the district had filed for a postponement of a public hearing on the annexation scheduled Thursday by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

He said the developers want the land annexed to San Rafael for zoning purposes. "The whole economy of this district," he declared, "has been based since its inception on the inclusion of this land.

"The meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the community building will inform the citizens that their tax structure may be affected. Money from this land has been brought in to help pay for the services we provide."

Warenback said that, if allowed, the annexation could lead to "serious ramifications." Land could be given to, or taken from cities and county districts resulting in assessment changes, he said.

Silverthorne Attorney Asks Mistrial Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The bank fraud trial of Don C. Silverthorne went into its fifth week today with another argument for a mistrial because of publicity.

Silverhorne's attorney, George C. Martinez, has contended from the beginning that it is impossible for his client to get a fair trial because of unfavorable publicity.

On numerous occasions durthe proceedings, he has moved in the chambers of U.S. District Judge Charles L. Powell for a mistrial on the grounds of the previous day's newspaper stories.

The judge has instructed the jury of seven women and five men not to read stories about Silverthorne or to get information about him from any other source than the courtroom.

Offshore Oil Boundaries Delineated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today spelled out the details of California land boundaries as a follow-up to an earlier decision establishing the federal government's claim to multi-million dollar offshore oil lands.

The case, which involves a dispute between the Justice Department and the state, has been shuttled through the courts for the past 20 years.

On May 17, 1965, the court, rejected all but one of California's claims on the ground that international law governs the situation. Under this test, the United States won all disputed areas except Monterey Bay. Today's decree carries out the law laid down in the opinion.

The court inserted language sought by California defining "bays" and where the various boundary lines may be drawn for "inland waters" in the Port of San Pedro, Crescent City Harbor and Monterey Bay.

The court said "the following are not historic land waters and do not comprise inland waters except to the extent that they may be enclosed by lines for inland waters."

The court observed that the federal government retains jurisdiction over all submerged lands on continental shelves beyond the three-mile limit.

NORMAN R. BARNETT
Seeks second term

Incumbents Take Out Corte Madera Papers

The three Corte Madera town councilmen whose terms expire in April have taken out nomination papers at the town hall to seek new terms. They are Mayor Edward W. Colthurst and councilmen Albert E. Kogler and Norman R. Barnett.

Colthurst, 56, who lives at 480 Montecito Drive, has served eight years on the council, four of them as mayor. Before election to the council, he served three years on the town planning commission.

He said he is seeking re-election "with the thought that the knowledge and experience I have gained should be offered to the voters of Corte Madera."

He said that despite Corte Madera's growth, the town is "still just more than half-way to realizing its full potential." Large areas east of Highway 101 are still to be developed, he noted.

Kogler, 50, who lives at 10 Echo Avenue, has also been on the council eight years. He served as mayor for one year.

Kogler cited the present "progressive government in Corte Madera. We have accomplished a lot and there are still a number of projects I would like to see through," he said.

He said the council must place emphasis on getting "all-around" recreation program back into the town. At present, he said, Corte Madera buys its recreation from Larkspur. The town should have its own program, he said.

Barnett, who lives at 25 Stag Hound Passage, Corte Madera, was elected in 1962 and is seeking his second term. He was unavailable for comment today.

Allen, 53, vice president of Pacific Coast Title Co., San Rafael, was appointed to the council in October, 1960, to fill a vacancy created by resignation of James McNab. He was elected to a four-year term in 1962.

Allen, is a retired Navy commander and served throughout World War II and the Korean conflict as a ship repair officer.

He has lived since 1946 at 131 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, in Ross, San Rafael lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the Ross Volunteer Fire Department, and the American Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers.

Jones, 40, a realty broker and appraiser, is a partner in the realty firm of Farrington Jones and Son In San Anselmo.

He was elected for a four-year term on the council in 1962 and has also served as a member of the Town of Ross Citizens Advisory Committee and as a director of the Town of Ross Property Owners Assn.

Jones is a member and was secretary for eight years of the Marin County Real Estate Board. He belongs to the American Rights of Way Assn. and is a life member of the Marin County Historical Society. He and his family live at 20 Olive Avenue.

Water Board Contest First In Eight Years

With three candidates taking out papers for two positions on the North Marin County Water District Board, the district will hold its first election in eight years on March 28.

Terms of Frank Baccaglio and William Jonas expire and both have taken out papers. Attorney Joseph A. Forest of 543 McClay Road, also has taken out papers.

Since 1958, there has not been a contest in the district and members have been reappointed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Baccaglio, 60, has been on the board since the water district was organized in 1949. He was born and still lives at 1522 South Novato Boulevard.

He has long been active in civic affairs. He is a member of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board. He is a member of the Novato Grove of Druids.

William Jonas, owner of the Roger Wilco supermarkets in Novato and Petaluma, has been on the water board since 1960, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Richard O'Connell. He was reappointed in 1962 when there was no opposition in the election.

He has been in business in Novato since 1950. He is a member of the Novato Rotary Club, Novato Grove of Druids, and Indian Valley Golf Club.

He and his wife, Adele, with their two daughters, live at 1522 Indian Valley Road.

He was graduated from Stanford Law School in 1962 and spent the next two years as a legal officer with the State Division of Highways. He entered private practice in San Rafael and is now on the staff of the county counsel.

He and his wife, Susan, have three daughters.

BOMB

diplomatic contacts which would be kept secret.

Hanoi's response, he said, had been to denounce the whole effort as a fraud.

The United States apparently has resumed the bombing of North Viet Nam at about the same level at which the air war started last February.

One knowledgeable source said "we're easing in gently."

The Navy and Air Force raiders which struck today, ending a 37-day lull, hit targets above the demilitarized zone between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam in the same area where the first strikes were mounted last February.

The targets around Vinh and Dong Hoi were the same order as the early targets — bridges, ferries, storage areas and the north-south Highway 1.

It is known that there was some inclination at the State Department to lower the level of the air war and limit it strictly to the infiltration routes when the strikes resumed.

Hanoi has been exempt from bombing so far.

Communist China said today North Vietnamese gunners shot down five U.S. planes and hit a number of others during renewed bombing raids.

The claim was made in a new China News Agency dispatch from Hanoi. It followed a Peking charge that the United States had "recklessly resumed" bombing of the north after the "utter failure of its 'peace hoax'."

Moscow Radio said the renewed raids "unmasked the hyprocricy of the 'peaceful offensive,' so called," and promised that "the Soviet Union is rendering and will render aid to the fraternal people of North Viet Nam."

The President's resumption of the bombing brought a Republican call for universal draft, higher taxes and wartime controls over the economy.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who had advocated a continued pause in the bombing said:

"I fully appreciate the difficulty and the agony of the decision which was his, and his alone, to make," Mansfield said.

ALFRED J. AZEVEDO
Tiburon candidate

Mrs. Parnell, Azevedo Plan To Run

Incumbent councilman Jacqueline A. Parnell and San Francisco educator Alfred J. Azevedo have become the second and third candidates to take out nomination papers for the Tiburon city council in the April 12 election.

Councilman Fred C. Hannahs had earlier taken out papers. His term and those of Mrs. Parnell and Anne Ellingwood expire.

Mrs. Parnell was appointed to the council on May 10, 1965, after Councilman Leo Souza resigned. She ran sixth in the June 2, 1964, incorporation and council election.

Mrs. Parnell, 36, said she is running "because the city is still feeling its way and I believe there will be many important planning matters during the next four years that will determine what kind of community Tiburon will be in the next 20 years. . . .

"I think we can have a fine community without its being one we can't afford to live in. I would like to continue on the council to fight for an efficient city government guided by intelligent conservation."

Mrs. Parnell is secretary of the Tiburon Peninsula coordinating council, a charter member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, and is active in the Reed School District Parent-Teachers Club, and the Belveron Guild of Sunny Hills. She lives at 8 Filipe Court with her husband, Edward T., a captain with the Tiburon fire department, and their two sons and daughter.

Azevedo, 53, principal of Pacific Heights Adult School in San Francisco, was a member of the Tiburon Fire District Commission from 1952 to 1958. He was a member of the Reed School District Board from 1957 to 1960, when he resigned for a year's trip to Europe.

Azevedo said he is running for council "because I'm interested in efficient government and as a 15-year resident of Tiburon I feel I can speak for some of the older residents of this new city.

"I also want to see some action taken on parks and recreation. And of course, we're all concerned about our taxes."

Azevedo, a captain in World War II, lives with his wife, Margaret, a member of the Marin County Planning Commission, and son and daughter, at 1877 Centro West Street.

In heavy weekend fighting, military authorities said a large Red force wiped out a government militia unit and a relief force 55 miles south of the U.S. air base at Da Nang.

A small unit of U.S. Special Forces men with the militia suffered heavy casualties, authorities said. A second relief force that searched the area said all members of the two government units were killed, wounded or missing. There was no casualty estimate.

The 1st Cavalry last encountered the North Vietnamese 325th Division two months ago in the bloody battle of Ia Drang Valley, about 110 miles west of Bong Son. The cavalry lost 270 killed and 600 wounded in that encounter but claimed an estimated 1,300 Communist dead.

About 25 miles north of the cavalry sweep, B-52 bombers from Guam hit Red positions where U. S. Marines were pressing a massive amphibious assault begun last Friday. The landing was described as the biggest amphibious operation since the Inchon landing in Korea. News of it was withheld until yesterday for security reasons.

Troops of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division launched Operation Mallet 20 miles southeas tof Saigon yesterday. The foot soldiers reported killing eight Viet Cong in a combined helicopter-lift and ground advance which uncovered five Viet Cong base camps.

A government spokesman said Vietnamese forces killed 108 Viet Cong in a three-day operation near Vi Thanh, 120 miles southwest of Saigon. He said government losses were light.

Twenty-four North Vietnamese soldiers who had been captured in South Viet Nam were released yesterday to return to the North. As the group lined up at the Ben Hai bridge between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam, three decided to stay in the South. The remaining 21 marched across the bridge, throwing airline bags filled with toilet articles they had been given into the river. Some also stripped off their clothes and threw them away.

ROBERT E. MERTLE
Out for Assembly nod

Assemblyman Young To Run For Senate

Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Solano and Napa, today kicked off his campaign to oppose State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, with a personal visit to Marin.

"I am encouraged by the great support indicated for me in Marin County," said Young. He added that as yet, he has heard of no one else who is thinking of opposing him for the Democratic nomination.

The 41-year-old Napa attorney was accompanied on the Marin visit by San Rafael attorney Robert I. Conn, who was Young's classmate at Boalt School of Law.

Young has represented Napa and Solano counties in the State Assembly for four years. He is now running for the Democratic nomination from the Fourth Senatorial District, comprising Marin, Solano and Napa.

He won his bachelor's and master's degrees at Stanford University. At Stanford, he was twice nominated as a Rhodes Scholar, and in 1951 went to Oxford University on a Fulbright Scholarship. After returning from England, he won his law degree from Boalt Hall of University of California in 1956.

He is a veteran flying officer of the Pacific Theater during World War II.

Young began his political career in 1960 as campaign manager for the late Sen. Samuel R. Geddes of Napa. He received Senator Geddes' support in his bid for the Assembly in 1962. This year, he has the endorsement of Sen. Luther E. Gibson of Solano, who is retiring.

During his two terms in the Legislature, Young was one of two assemblymen to serve on the California Arts Commission. In his second term, he was named chairman of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

Recently he completed extensive hearings on the Watts riot and recommended new legislation in the field of arson and criminal justice. He plans to introduce an entire series of bills in the field of law enforcement.

Young has been lauded by the California Teachers Assn. for his work in behalf of schools in California.

On Wednesday night, Young will appear with Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the Walter Cronkhite television program (6:30 p.m., channel 5) to discuss politics.

He is founder and president of Pelafoam, Inc., of Richmond, which manufactures plastic foam insulation and packaging materials. He is vice president of Luma Industries, producer of polyethylene coffee can lids and strawberry baskets.

Mertle and his wife, Dixie, live at 12 Tarrant Court, Santa Venetia, with their three children.

Planners In Mood To Continue

The Marin County Planning Commission was in the mood for continuances this morning.

Of eight items considered up to 11:30 a.m., all but one, an application for a land division, were continued.

The commission granted a three-lot subdivision asked by Diane Chambers on four acres on Indian Valley Road near Novato, but denied her request for dedication of a 25-foot rather than 40-foot street.

Items continued included the request of Dillon Beach Inc. for a permit for parking trailers and camper coaches at the end of Cliff Street at Dillon Beach. This was put off until March 7.

The matter of a use permit for lighting of the used car lot at Mill Valley Volkswagen in Alto was continued indefinitely.

Request for architectural supervision for a medical and dental office on the second floor of the Alto branch of the Tiburon National Bank was put off until Feb. 14 at the request of applicant Charles Tijerina.

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty was appointed a committee of one to report on a change in development plans asked on Marin Garden Apartments at 1441 Casa Buena Drive near Corte Madera. Dougherty is to report on Feb. 14.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo, attending a transportation conference in San Francisco, was absent this morning. Chairman Felix M. Warburg submitted his resignation and was also absent.

Two Said Injured When Hit By Truck

Garnet Goffigan, 52, of Mill Valley and Earl Burns, 65, of San Francisco, were reportedly injured Saturday at 11:25 a.m. when struck by a pickup truck driven by Jack B. Benjamin, 48, of 433 Molino Avenue, while crossing Gardner Street in a crosswalk in the rain. Both were treated by their own doctors.

Mrs. Goffigan, who lives at 50-B Corte Madera Avenue, told police she was knocked to the ground.

Rappaport Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Albert Rappaport, founder and director of the San Francisco Town Hall Forum, died yesterday — apparently of head injuries suffered when struck by a car Friday.

Youth's Body Found In Auto

Marin County sheriff's deputies early this morning found the body of Benjamine Mohandras Ehreth, 19, of 792 St. Francis Avenue, Novato, in an automobile parked on Novato Boulevard west of Novato.

Asst. County Coroner William C. Bradley said the death was a suicide.

Deputies Weldon Travis and Richard Borba found the body in the car at 12:30 a.m. A hose had been run from the exhaust pipe to the front seat, asphyxiating Ehreth, Bradley reported.

The youth had been despondent over losing a motorcycle race at Point Arena yesterday, according to Bradley.

Fish Hatchery Funds Proposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today he will propose $1.6 million in his 1966-67 budget for modernizing and expanding the state's fish hatchery system.

The program, Brown said, would be part of a project to greatly increase the supply of catchable trout and other fish.

The funds would come from the $5 million set aside in the $150 million State Beach, Park, Recreation and Historical Facilities Bond Act, approved by the voters in 1964.

Tax Consultant In 'Tap' Probe

A Marin County tax consultant is scheduled to testify this week before a U.S. Senate subcommittee investigating "invasions of privacy" by wire-tapping.

The subcommittee opens its three-day hearing in San Francisco Wednesday with emphasis on Internal Revenue Service wire-tapping activities.

The Marin tax expert reported among those subpoenaed to appear is Joseph J. Rasonsky of 5 Barranca Road, Forest Knolls. Rasonsky was an IRS intelligence officer in 1957 at the time of bookie investigations in which phoen lines were tapped and conversations recorded.

Party Service On Way Out

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has taken steps to eliminate phone service in Marshall and the surrounding area.

The company filed an application with the California Public Utilities Commission Friday asking that mileage charges be eliminated on one, two and four-party services. The existing charges, the company said, have resulted in residence subscribers taking 10-party service at $2.90 a month. There are no mileage charges on this service, which is to be dropped.

The proposed rates for the new mileage-free area on one, two and four-party service are $5.20, $4.05 and $3.20 respectively.

PROBLEM IN WOODACRE A TRIFLE ODORIFEROUS

A skunk has taken over a Woodacre home, forcing the tenants to leave and posing a ticklish problem for the landlord's representative.

Bard Clow of 45 Rockridge Road, Woodacre, said he has complained to the county health department, agricultural commissioner and humane society with no results.

"One department simply refers you to another and you end up with an empty bag," Clow said.

He is managing the home for James David, who is in New York this year on a teaching job. Last week Al Chelinie, his wife and baby moved out of the house after finding the skunk in a cabinet under the kitchen sink.

"It seems to be living in the kitchen cabinets," Clow said. He said he is not sure whether there is just one skunk or a family of skunks.

Two months ago he got an exterminator to visit the home. The skunk vanished, but only temporarily. Clow said he has tried to get the exterminator to return to finish the job, but that has proved a difficult thing to do.

So far no one has been squirted by the skunk, but Clow thinks it's high time he raised a stink about it.

Gun Collector Put In Jail After Threat

A Sausalito gun collector was captured in his truck minutes after he allegedly held a gun on a rookie police officer and threatened to kill him Saturday evening.

Alfred T. Domergue, 49, of 323 Pine Street, was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon on a Sausalito police officer who was discharging his duty.

Police were called at 5:44 p.m. by Mrs. Domergue, who said her husband was fighting with her. Patrolman Brian Newlon was dispatched in a patrol car.

When 21-year-old Newlon, who has been on the force only five months, arrived at the scene, Mrs. Domergue met him outside to say her husband had a gun and threatened to shoot her. Newlon radioed police headquarters for "cover," and Patrolmen Thomas Cain and Michael Keilman were dispatched.

As they arrived, Domergue opened the door with gun in hand and threatened Newlon, Cain related. For several minutes, he stood in the doorway confronting Newlon, who was on the porch. Finally, he slammed the door, dashed through the house and out the back way and drove away on Bonita Street in his truck. Cain and Keilman pursued him.

"Newlon in his car blocked off the south side of the street, and my car blocked from the rear," Cain continued.

Cain said the officers asked Domergue to "give up," but he kept brandishing a .38-caliber revolver.

"Keilman crawled up the sidewalk, opened the passenger side, jumped in and got him," Cain said.

Domergue's revolver was unloaded, but there were shells in the glove compartment, Cain said. "He has a gun collection in his house."

Domergue was booked at Marin County jail on the charge and released under $2,200 bail. He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court for arraignment at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Tires Slashed On Patrol Car

Someone slashed the rear tires of two sheriff's patrol cars while deputies were responding to a call for aid in Marin City Saturday afternoon.

The officers were responding to a call from a mother at 41 Cole Avenue that her 16-year-old son was "tearing up the house." While they searched for the boy, a crowd of youths gathered around the patrol car.

When deputies returned to their car, they discovered the rear tires had been slashed.

Brown Asks More Acreage For Tamalpais State Park

Addition of 4,796 acres, and four and one-half miles of ocean frontage, to Tamalpais State Park was requested Saturday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The purchase was turned down last year by the State Legislature. Brown requested the funds in a message listing park acquisitions statewide, calling for spending the last of the park bond money approved by the voters in 1964.

He had said earlier he would repeat his request for the Tamalpais Park money this year.

The long list of requests includes several additions of redwood groves in northern California. The largest ones along the coast would add 1,000 acres to the Avenue of the Giants along Highway 101 in Humboldt County and another 1,000 acres and four miles of beach frontage to the Del Norte Redwoods State Park just south of Crescent City.

A 1,734-acre addition was requested for Calaveras Big Tree State Park about 25 miles east of Angels Camp, for 600 new camping units.

Purchase of 995 acres of private land to give public access to Montgomery Woods State Reserve, 15 miles west of Ukiah, was also asked.

Drug Effects To Be Checked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Records of some 200,000 persons will be checked in a study concerning the side effects of medical drugs.

Kaiser Foundation Health Plan in Oakland and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration announced the study yesterday.

At first the study will concern the persons covered by the prepayment health plan in San Francisco, San Mateo and Marin counties. Eventually it may involve more than a million patients and the 600 physicians in the 15 Kaiser hospitals.

No experimental dugs will be checked but the study will concern others ranging from aspirin to antibiotics, those currently in standard use at hospitals.

NEW YORK (UPI) —The rosary will be recited tonight at the bier of Michael J. Quill, the Irish immigrant who rose from a ticket taker on the New York subway system to the president of the Transport Workers Union. Quill died Friday.

Medicare Sign-Up Rate Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Social Security officials today reported a sharp rise in the number of old people signing up for Medicare insurance against doctors' bills.

The weekly enrollment rate for the optional insurance, known as "Part B" of the Medicare program, has quadrupled since late December.

Time is running out. Eligible oldsters have exactly two more months, until March 31, to sign up for coverage. After the deadline passes, they'll have to wait two years to get in.

WASHINGTON SNOWSTORM — Falling flakes blanket the Capitol Building in the District of Columbia, as midweek storms beginning Wednesday dumped more than a foot of snow into surrounding states, and tumbled temperatures to below freezing in 32 states by the weekend. BALTIMORE STREETS MUFFLED—There was mighty little traffic in Baltimore, Md., during last week's 14-state snowstorm, but plenty of cars parked at curbside, thickly coated by the seven-plus inches of white precipitation. NEW ROAD EXTENDS NOVATO TO RIVER

Earth moving equipment at the Bahia Marin subdivision in Novato has cut a road, as yet unnamed, from Bugeia Lane at the bottom of the picture through hills to the benched lots and lagoon of the 1,200-acre development. At the top can be seen the Petaluma River, with a canal letting water in to the lagoon. In all, the subdivision will have 1,600 house lots, 36 acres of apartments, 11 acres for a shopping center, 450 acres of water and 366 acres of greenbelt, mainly the wooded hillsides in the center of the picture. Warburg Quits Plan Commission

Felix M. Warburg, chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, today submitted his resignation, ending five and one-half years on the commission.

Warburg, an architect and resident of San Anselmo, said "responsibilities of my professional career now require all of my time."

He concluded in a letter to the board of supervisors that it would be best for the county, the commission and the new planning director if he resigned now and "allow a new chairman to start work with the new director."

Planning Director Paul Zucker attended his first commission meeting today. Warburg was absent.

Warburg said the county has progressed by realizing the need for professional guidance in planning.

"There have been some failures also. We have moved much too slowly, and in such cases as Marincello, in the wrong direction, I feel," he continued.

"The need for new towns, at the right time and the right place, cannot be denied. Instead we have approved a well publicized and thinly disguised land subdivision, which I strongly feel is a wrong use of land, at the wrong time and the wrong place."

Warburg and commissioners Hugh Dougherty and William F. Upton were opposed to Marincello.

Secretary Eugene R. Trombley conducted today's planning commission meeting in the absence of Warburg and vice chairman Margaret Azevedo.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to Take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Suspicion Actually Has Virtue When It Comes To Bridge Play

The man who thinks well of his fellow creatures is admirable, but I don't want him as my bridge partner.

Give me the partner who thinks ill of the opponents and gives them every chance to live up to his estimate of them.

SOUTH'S ATTITUDE

When this hand was played South was a believer in minding his own business.

He won the first heart trick, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then went after the diamonds.

South hoped that the jack of diamonds would drop or that each opponent would hold three diamonds for then he would be able to get rid of a club on dummy's fourth diamond.

Ast it happened, the diamonds did not break favorably.

South had to give up a spade and a club. Down one.

NO HURRY

There's no way of being sure, but South would probably make the slam if he remembered that the opponents were human beings.

There was no need to hurry the play of the diamonds.

South should lead out his top trumps, cash the other top heart and then give West his trump trick at once — before touching the diamonds.

West cannot tell whether to return a club or a diamond.

The club return would be fatal if South held K-J or K-10; the diamond return, if South held Q-10.

This makes it appear that the club lead is twice as dangerous as the diamond lead.

If West happens to return a club, South has lost nothing.

He can still try out the diamonds, and in the meantime he has given West the chance to make the wrong guess.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is a trifle too strong for an opening bid of one no-trump since you have not only the maximum count of 18 points but also a strong five-card suit.

Stocks Fall, Except For Aerospace Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed irregularly lower today in fairly active trading.

Aerospace stocks were strong in early trading after the U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam were renewed but lost some of their edge later. Boeing erased a gain of 6, showed a small loss then rebounded a few points.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.1 million shares compared with 9 million Friday.

The aerospace defense stocks spurted on news that U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam had been resumed but the over-all list was uncertain.

Boeing ran up 6 points and Douglas Aircraft gained more than 2. United Aircraft held a fractional gain. General Dynamics erased a small gain and took a small loss.

American Motors loomed as the most-active stock, opening on a delayed block of 60,000 shares and extending a fractional rise to a full point on word that Detroit industrialist Robert B. Evans had bought more than 200,000 shares of the stock.

Lehn & Fink was a 6-point gainer on word that Sterling Drug had made an offer for the stock. Sterling slipped fractionally.

American Telephone was fractionally lower as it slid to a new low of 59¾ as the investigation of its rate structure was awaited.

Sperry Rand sank ⅞ to 18⅛ on a block of 87,000 shares, pared the loss, and was among the top volume leaders.

Gold-mining stocks rallied as U.S. gold holdings declined. American South African Investment rose 3, Dome Mines more than a point, Homestake nearly a point.

Fairchild Camera gained 3, IBM, Control Data and U.S. Gypsum 1 each.

Zenith erased a loss exceeding a point and was up well over 2 points on news of a 100 per cent stock dividend.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading. U.S. Treasury bonds retreated nearly across the board, apparently in reaction to the Treasury's new offering of 4⅞ and 5 per cent notes.

Income Rises

LOS ANGELES—Net income of International Pope and Ceramics Corp. rose 19 per cent to $6,441,000, or $2.57 per common share, after allowance for preferred dividends, from $5,423,000, or $2.02 per common share in 1964. Revenue rose 6 per cent to a record level of $127,316,000, up from $119,820,000 in 1964.

INCOME TAX FACTS

There Are Some Persons Who Need Not File Return

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Everybody must file a 1965 Income Tax Return by April 15, 1966 unless:

Their self-employment income was less than $400 and:

1. They are under 65 years of age and their income was less than $600.

2. They are over 65 years of age and their income was less than $1,200.

3. They are a married couple, one under 65 years of age, and the other over 65 years of age, and their income is under $1,800.

P. J. Wikel

4. They are a married couple, both over 65 years of age and their income is under $2,400.

It may be that they are not required to file an income tax return as above, but that they should file an income tax return to secure the refund of any income tax that may have been witheld from earnings less than the personal exemptions listed above.

Everyone who has self-employment of $400 or more is required to file a Social Security Self - Employment Tax Return. That is Schedule C-3 of the Federal Income Tax Return, Form 1040.

Your social security self- employment tax is credited to your social security account and will be taken into account in computing the amount of social security you will receive on retirement.

What is self-employment income?

Self-employment income is the net profit, that is, the gross receipts minus the costs, of your business of $400 or more.

You may have more than one business. Then you add your self - employment income from all businesses.

You may be a partner in a business. Then you must include your share of the partnership income or loss in computing your net earnings for self-employment.

Wages (but not drawings) you you receive from the partnership must be included, plus your share of the earnings or minus your share of the losses. If you are a member of a corporation electing not to be taxed as a corporation, you must include your share of this corporate income in your self-employment tax. All individuals engaged in a trade, business or the pursuit of a profession in any capacity, other than employees, are subject to the self-employment tax, except officials elected or appointed. Clergymen, Christian Science practitioners and members of religious orders are not subject, unless they choose to be covered. Once they have chosen to be covered, they are continuously covered.

If your wages subject to social security tax were in excess of $4,800 you are not subject to the self - employment tax on any self-employment income you may have.

Duffy To Advise Steps Foundation

Clinton T. Duffy, former San Quentin Prison warden and member of the State Adult Authority, has been appointed national adviser to the Seven Step Foundation.

The foundation works with ex-convicts, seeking keep them straight and reduce the incidence of return to prison.

Duffy has been a director of the foundation since its establishment in California last August. In his new full-time position, he will travel throughout the country assisting in establishment of foundation branches in other states.

The three-year-old organization now operates in five states. In California, its members work with inmates of San Quentin and the California Institution for Men at Chino.

Pre-parole classes are held for volunteers in both prisons. After release, the men receive continuing advice and assistance from foundation staff members, all of them former convicts who have been successful on the outside.

Of the 15 men who have joined the program in California since August, only four have returned to prison, compared with a usual rate of return of 60 per cent, according to Jim O'Toole, foundation executive.

Duffy, now in New York, has recently sold his Greenbrae home and will live at 2116 Golden Rain Road at Leisure World, near Walnut Creek.

He will speak Sunday at a public meeting of the foundation at 2 p.m. in Nourse Auditorium, Hayes and Franklin streets, San Francisco.

More Teaching Time To Teachers Asked

Volunteer helpers for teachers should not make the job of a teacher easier, Ross School Supt. William W. Monahan said Saturday at a meeting of teachers and volunteers at the College of Marin.

He said the aides should relieve the teacher so she will have time to teach, and not be bothered with housekeeping chores.

"Unfortunately," he complained, "some teachers have made a security blanket out of correcting papers and collecting milk money and cutting out letters for the bulletin board. These people should probably quit being teachers and become teacher aides."

Monahan's speech closed the conference on "the school, the teacher and the volunteer." He called for a program to greatly increase the use of volunteers, or paid teacher aides, for schools in Marin to allow teachers to deal with children individually.

He said he felt there would have to be a coordination of a program for volunteers at the county level, and that it would cost money, but he added he was sure it would be worth it.

The central organization could, for instance, screen and assign volunteers to schools, Monahan said. Most principals probably do not want people that they have not screened themselves, working in their schools.

But most principals also don't want to have to screen a volunteer who might also be a parent of a child in the school, the superintendent explained.

The speech came after conferees had been divided into groups of about 25 for discussion sessions, during which problems of using volunteers in schools were discussed.

Notes from the discussion groups gathered by secretaries in each place indicated most school districts not now using aides were advised to start slowly, picking a good volunteer and good teacher to start with.

Various kinds of volunteers were mentioned, including tutors to give special help in a classroom, library assistants, playground monitors and specialists who might come a few times a year to speak to a class or give a demonstration of a particular subject.

A diversified program will allow use of almost any volunteer in some job, so few would have to be turned away, said Mrs. Violet Smith, in charge of school resource volunteers for the Berkeley Unified School District.

Monahan said teachers now spend 90 per cent of their teaching time conducting classes. He said that other equally important functions are being neglected: Getting to know students and their individual needs, providing the appropriate instruction for each student and evaluating the job that has been done.

No Filibuster End In Sight On Union Shop Law Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today goes into its second week of the union shop battle with neither side ready to budge from its position.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his only plan for now was to keep before the Senate his motion to bring up the bill which would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his forces would maintain their filibuster which has prevented a vote even on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Foes of the repeal bill estimated they had enough speakers lined up to keep the filibuster going for several weeks, if necessary, against even the motion to make it the Senate's pending business.

Before the fight began a week ago today, Mansfield made it clear he felt that at some point he probably would have to try to shut off the filibuster with a cloture petition.

Such a move failed last October in the first Senate floor battle over the measure. Not even the most optimistic supporter of the repealer contends that his side has the necessary two-thirds to invoke cloture at this time.

A union shop contract requires all employes covered to join a union.

Hunger Rioting Spreads In India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Rampaging student mobs today fought a three-hour pitched battle with police in Trivandrum, capital of Communist-infested Kerala state. Police used tear gas and clubs against the rioters who threw up barricades in the streets, set fire to a bus and theater and ripped down power and communication lines.

Violence also was reported in the important northern Kerala city of Trichur. Students there blocked public vehicles and were also attacked by club-wielding and tear gas-hurling police.

It was the fourth day of hunger riots in the densely populated and impoverished state in the south of India.

Constable Gets Man, But The Hard Way

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Constable Don Smith of Midvale, Utah, served a resisting arrest warrant in Salt Lake City, but it wasn't easy.

Police said Smith's man provoked a fist fight with him, threatened to throw a fire extinguisher at him, swung an ax at him and took him for a cross-town ride in the bed of his pick-up truck before surrendering. Smith returned to his own car to find it damaged by vandals.

Sailor, Boy Lost In Surf

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Coast Guard Sunday called off a search for the bodies of a boy and sailor who drowned in churning surf near famed Seal Rock.

The boy, identified as Mario Forstein, 13, San Francisco, fell into the ocean Saturday from the side of a steep bluff where he had been playing with four other youngsters.

Stephen Hung, 18, Fremont a sailor stationed at Treasure Island, was one of three sailors who went to the youth's aid. As two of the Navy men climbed back up the sheer cliffside to get help, a wave swept both the boy and Hung off a rock to which they were clinging.

FOR RESORT AND EARLY SPRING TRAVEL

Instant elegance for early spring is this coat, left, of pure wool by Brittany. Meticulous silhouette is achieved by shaped front seams, lean set-in sleeves and cleanly spliced notch collar. Flapped patch pockets highlight bodice. The fashion finesse of pure wool is seen in this two-piece dress, center, designed by Jacques Tiffeau. Newly buttoned, short-sleeved bodice skims the figure and stops just short of dirndl gathers on a horizontally pieced skirt. At right, a festive gown, designed with dancing in mind, is of pure naked wool in new softly defined stepping, demi-longeur length by Teal Triana. Waist is softly defined by gathers and narrow belt of matching fabric is gracefully bowed at one side.

Cardin's Nude Look An Undercover Idea

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PARIS (AP) It was what the models didn't wear that made the fashion news at the packed Pierre Cardin spring collection opening Friday.

What they didn't wear was underwear.

What they did wear were jersey shifts, bicolored suits, colored stockings, square hats, blue and green wigs and peephole dresses.

A record crowd that left more than 100 persons outside the door witnessed the daredevil designer's "Nude Woman" collection opening.

SEVERAL CAMERAS were confiscated from guests by representatives of the house. Photographs of Cardin's collection, as well as all members of the Chambre Syndicale, are forbidden as a measure against design piracy.

Every eye was trained on each model, from the first in bicolored leather shifts to the demure bride in lacy white folds, for signs of undress. In their long parade from one showroom to another, the pretty misses often halted to answer candidly such questions as "What holds up your colored stockings?"

THE ANSWER: A garter girdle, the maximum in unmentionables that Cardin will permit.

Still, there was not the nude look the title of the designer's collection suggested. Shifts that skimmed natural curves were made of hardy stuff like wool jersey, leather, heavy crepe. Even the sheer fabrics doubled over opaque ones that hampered the view.

THERE WAS plenty of leg exposure—six inches above the knee on some costumes.

There was midriff bareness with boleros hanging loosely and shortly over the skirts cut low on the hipbone. And there was shoulder bareness on dresses with harness type necklines, or halters worn backward. But this kind of undress is now practically universal in the fashion world.

The presidents of the Marin County Federated Women's Clubs are to be honored guests at this Guest Day program.

At 11 a.m. the executive board will meet, followed by a business meeting at 1 p.m.

WOMEN IN WHITE

'Need More Girls In Field' Says Leading Woman Doctor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women make whizzbang doctors. The only trouble, there aren't enough of them in the profession.

So says Dr. Margaret Jane Schneider, the new president of the American Medical Women's Assn. (AMWA), the world's oldest organization of women physicians.

SHE'S SPEARHEADING a campagn to get more women into the medical field. There are only 15,249 female physicians in the United States, she said. "Only six per cent of all U.S. physicians," she added. "In Russia, oddly enough, 80 per cent of all physicians are women."

Dr. Schneider, in private life the wife of Joseph W. Austin, a certified life underwriter of Cincinnati, Ohio, plans to take to the lecture circuit to get more girls into medicine.

"MANY GIRLS of high school age decline a medical career because they believe that marriage and subsequent motherhood would abruptly end their careers, due to absence from practice," she said. Her answer — dozen of medical schools offer refresher courses in medicine and specialization.

Additional information is available in publications from the AMWA. And, she added, proper counseling, adequate knowledge as to where to go to receive scholarships, grants and financial assistance are also available at the association's numerous branches throughout the country.

Venereal Disease Problem Subject Of P-TA Meeting

Miss Denning Kemp of the Marin County Health Department will review the problems in Marin, and Mrs. Joanne Foote, Terra Linda High School nurse, will present a film.

This will be a joint Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting of the Terra Linda and San Rafael High School organizations, sponsored by the Terra Linda P-TA.

Med Students Are Excused From Lectures

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twenty-five Harvard medical students say their lectures are dull and a waste of time. So they're being excused from class — and told to study on their own.

"The lecture system just doesn't work out," says Andrew Weil, 23, of Philadelphia, a second-year student at the Harvard Medical School.

"The psychological effect of sitting in a class and being lectured and 'labbed' at is to make you passive, dull, lose motivation and curiosity," he said.

TOO MANY LABS

Weil, a leader of the student group that successfully petitioned Dean Robert H. Ebert to be excused from classes for the rest of the year, said medical schools are throwing too many organized laboratory sessions and too many lectures at their medical students.

He said, "Most of the time the lectures are giving information that can be found in books, and found much quicker."

Ebert agreed to excuse the 25 from the lectures and laboratories. He said if anyone "is really going to excel at anything he must continue with his own education and a university must have the ability to stimulate a person to study in a particular field that he could only survey superficially in school."

MANY FACTS

He said students should have a chance to digest the many facts and mountains of material presented to them, that they should have a chance to catch hold of something that interests them particularly and go into it in depth. This, he said, would help develop curiosity.

The 25 students are part of a 106-member class studying pathophysiology, a combined approach to diseases and their effects on the body.

They will be divided into groups of five to devise their own learning techniques with the help of volunteer faculty advisers.

They will take the same examinations as their 81 classmates and will attend the lectures that interest them.

Ebert said Harvard has no intention of abandoning the lecture system altogether.

Achievements In Space Held Brilliant

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that American space achievements last year were a brilliant preface to the coming years of stations in space and voyages to the planets.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said 1965 with its walk in space and the rendezvous of to manned U.S. spacecraft was the most successful year in the nation's aeronautics-space history.

"The space program of the United States today is the largest effort ever undertaken by any nation to advance the frontiers of human knowledge," the President said. "What we are discovering and building today will help solve many of the great problems which an increasingly complex and heavily populated world will face tomorrow."

The military space section of the report included this development on space surveillance: Research is under way on the best means of determining the physical characteristics of "uncooperating objects in earth orbit" through observation by ground-based radar.

And the Atomic Energy Commission's section reported that a third pair of detection satellites launched in mid-July is watching for nuclear explosions in space and is measuring X-ray emission from the sun.

In a separate chapter of the lengthy report, the National Aeronautics and Space Council noted that U.S. achievements during the year were so distinctivin quality and quantity as to cause people at home and abroad to conclude that the United States had attained world space leadership.

The council said that in many respects that conclusion as accurate.

MUSIC REVIEW

Community Concert Is Good To Ragged

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Music lovers attending the winter concert of the College of Marin's community orchestra Saturday night in the gymnasium heard some good performances from the orchestra and several soloists.

The 60-piece orchestra, directed by John H. Myers, was at its best in Bizet's "L'Arlesienne Suite No. 11" when all players seemed to be putting forth their top effort.

More colorfully orchestrated than the other numbers, the suite offered the richest sonority for tutti passages with strings, most outstanding in the intermezzo. One of the most enjoyable parts was in the minuet in the lovely duet of the flute played by Dollie Egere and harp by Melony Rogers.

Unusual was the saxophone called for in the Bizet suite — a 19th century work! It was well played by Susan Ernst.

"Epilogue" by Ernst Toch proved to be a good modern work given a sprightly performance.

Haydn's Concerto for Piano in D Major was especially interesting from the standpoint of the soloist, Marilyn Covell, since it was the first time we had heard her since she made her Marin debut in a recital under auspices of the Dominican College Music Department in November, 1962. Her performance showed much more maturity in the control of tempo and assurance of touch and manner.

The most surprising experience of the evening was hearing a group of little known songs by Chopin, an extraordinary type of composition for him, in orchestral form freely transcribed by contemporary composer Norman Dello Joio.

Only in "The Ring" and especially in the waltz, "The Wish," was the familiar lyricism of the composer heard, and emphasized by Myers. "The Lovers" sounded like something Oriental.

The opening Concerto for Orchestra in D Major by Handel suffered from some intonation difficulties and ragged attacks and releases by some instruments.

X-Ray Machine Money Drive Is Unsuccessful

The efforts of three Marin doctors to raise $1,000 for a used X-ray machine to be operated in the tuberculosis-ridden Mexican town of Zacapu have been largely unsuccessful, reported Dr. Richard S. Hahn of Belvedere.

Hahn, Dr. Michael J. Franzblau of Terra Linda and Dr. Catherine Pike of Ross have spent summers in the town giving tuberculin tests and vaccinations against whooping cough, tetanus and diptheria.

The Alliance for Health was formed by the doctors to raise enough money to purchase and ship an X-ray machine to the town so that the anti-tuberculosis campaign can be continued.

"In our recent effort we raised only $106," said Dr. Hahn today. "Of that, $100 came in a single gift, so I suppose its fair to say response hasn't been very good.

"We're going to continue to speak to various local organizations about the project though, asking if they'll help us."

Drug Addiction Conference Set

The Northern California chapter of Americans for Democratic Action, headed by Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon, will sponsor a day-long conference on "Drug Use and Addiction" at the Canterbury Hotel, 750 Sutter Street, San Francisco, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Purpose of the conference is to "re-examine" state and federal laws dealing with norcotics offenders, Mrs. Swadesh announced.

Dr. Karel Botermans, minister of the Marin Unitarian-Universalist Church, will give the summation.

Her husband, Duane Smith Sumner, 28, reported to police that his wife had taken six or eight tablets about 4 p.m., following a family argument over the car.

CDC Wins Point With Democrats

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A statement favoring independence for volunteer party organizations has won approval of the state central committee of the California Federation of Young Democrats.

The committee, at its weekend convention, approved the statement yesterday after listening to Mrs. Simon Casady, wife of the president of the California Democratic Council, say:

"The issue at the CDC convention (Feb. 18-20 in Bakersfield) is not Si Casady; it is the independence of the CDC—whether the governor or any other constitutional officer runs CDC or whether CDC is to remain an independent, grass roots, issues-oriented organization."

Missing Girl, 14, Found In Hospital

Patricia Ann Thompson, 14, missing from her home at 88 Florence Avenue, San Anselmo, since Jan. 17, was found being treated for an illness, in San Francisco General Hospital Friday, San Anselmo police chief Raymond Buchignani reported.

The girl was to be released from the hospital and booked at Marin County Juvenile Hall as a runaway today, the chief said. She had been in the hospital since Tuesday, but used a different name and gave her age as 18, he said.

The car rental industry is a $400 million-a-year business.

San Quentin Workshop Chief Named

San Quentin Prison inmate Hal Waddell has been named executive director of the prison's drama workshop, replacing Rick Cluchey in the post.

Cluchey, who has held the job since 1963, stepped down in hopes of being paroled next month. He will continue in the meantime as associate director and an adviser to the group.

The changes were made by prison recreation supervisor T. L. Baker.

Waddell's first actions were to name Ron Hunter, formerly the workshop's master carpenter, as production manager, and staff artist Veat Neal, as art director. The posts had been vacant.

Waddell joined the workshop in 1964. He has apeared in six productions and directed one, "The Zoo Story." He now is directing rehearsals for "The Dumbwaiter" which will open Feb. 12.

Cluchey has been with the group since 1957. He authored "Le Cage," which was performed by the San Francisco Actor's Workshop in December. He is scheduled to go before the parole board the week of Feb. 21.

Trustees To Hear Bond Issue Report

A report on the progress of the Feb. 15 bond issue election in the Lagunitas School District will be given at a meeting of the district board tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Lagunitas School.

The election will determine whether the district shall issue $200,000 worth of bonds and borrow another $400,000 from the state for site purchase and construction of new schools.

Junior Theater Sets Story Of Aladdin

The story of Aladdin will be presented for Junior Theater of Marin on Feb. 5 at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. at Marin Country Day School, 5221 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

The play is directed by Martha Bigelow Eliot, who for 17 seasons has guided the San Francisco Players Guild.

The Sultan is played by John Brebner, who has worked with the Guild in a variety of capacities since 1959. He and his wife, Ann, were founders of the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Aladdin is played by a new addition to the guild's company, Clifford Dean, just back from two years duty in Germany with the Army where he was able to participate in theater productions.

Season tickets may be purchased at the door. If available, single seats will also be sold.

Dance Limit May Be Modified

Corte Madera town council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the recreation room of the public safety building, will discuss changing the section of the business ordinance which limits public dances in town to three every two months.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said the council, about nine months ago, discussed changing the ordinance to allow two dances a month. The matter was never acted on, he said.

The council also will be asked to call for bids on the new fire engine for which it has budgeted $27,000. Tonight's meeting was rescheduled from two weeks ago, after it was cancelled then for lack of a quorum.

When captured or kept out of water, porpoises do not thrash or struggle.

AUTO TOPS TREE—Tree in divider of Miracle Mile in San Rafael is split five feet above ground after being hit by car (right) which flew through the air after hitting a parked car Saturday just before midnight. Bystanders aid Robert L. Russell of San Anselmo and his passenger, Kathleen G. Hall of San Rafael, both injured in the crash. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Speeding Car Snaps Tree; 27 Injured In Accidents

A speeding car flew through the air to snap off a tree in the Miracle Mile divider strip in San Rafael just before midnight Saturday in the most sepctacular of 15 weekend traffic accidents reported today, which injured 27 persons.

San Rafael police reported a car driven by Albert Luigi Russell, 19, of 37 Cordone Drive, San Anselmo, eastbound on the Miracle Mile, went into a skid near Alexander Avenue. It slid sideways into a car owned by Max E. Spikes of 2066 Fourth Street, San Rafael, parked between trees in the divider strip.

60 MPH

The Russell car—which police witnesses reported was going at least 60 mph, took off after hitting the parked auto. It leaped some five feet off the ground, snapping a tree in two.

Kathleen Gertrude Hall, 17, of Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, passenger, was thrown from the car as it spun in the air. She was reported in fair condition with internal injuries today at San Rafael General Hospital.

Russell was treated for a cut head and sprained ankle at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Four persons were injured in Larkspur early yesterday when a car sped through a stop sign at Williams Avenue and Magnolia Avenue, striking two autos traveling in opposite directions on Magnolia, police reported.

Marius E. Ledebur, 14, of 22 Currey Street, Sausalito, driving without a license, failed to stop his westbound auto for a stop sign at Williams Avenue and Magnolia Avenue, police said.

His car struck first a northbound auto driven by Jack R. Padbury of 727-B Spring Street, Sausalito. Then both cars were struck by a southbound auto driven by John W. Groth of 137 King Street, Larkspur. Female passengers in all three cars struck and broke the car windshields, police said.

Teresa Ann Gira, 17, of 1411 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, whose parents lease the car driven by Ledebur, was admitted briefly to Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts and an injured left shoulder.

Jo Jennings, 20, of 280 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, a passenger in Groth's auto, was treated at Letterman General Hospital for multiple bruises.

Amy Favre, 36, of 37-B Locust Street, Larkspur, riding with Padbury, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple bruises and a scraped right leg.

Ledebur was treated at the same hospital for a cut scalp. Police cited him for driving without a license, running a stop sign, and reckless driving which caused injury.

A two-car collision at Fifth and Lincoln avenues, San Rafael, at 9:12 yesterday, sent three persons, including a 3-year-old girl, to the hospital. None was hurt seriously.

Treated at San Rafael General Hospital were driver John K. Enos, 50, of 1303 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, for a sore leg, and his wife, Catherine Teresa Enos, 49, for painful ribs.

Catherine Annette Marie Dieli, 3, daughter of the other driver, Paula Antoinette Dieli, 29, of 29 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry, was treated for multiple bruises of her face and head at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital.

HEADED SOUTH

San Rafael police said Mrs. Dieli's car was headed south on Lincoln Avenue and Enos was headed west on Fifth Avenue. They said one of the cars must have run a stoplight.

Driving rains and a slippery roadway resulted in a score of accidents along Highway 101 Saturday.

In the Corte Madera area, at 3:15 p.m., a car driven by Pamela Serino, 21, of 19 Merrydale Road, Los Ranchitos, slid on the wet roadway into a bank and overturned about 100 feet south of the town limits, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Miss Serino suffered a sprained leg and a head bump. Her passenger, Ruth Thompson, 19, of 123 Union Street, San Rafael, suffered cuts of both feet. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

ANOTHER CAR

Moments later a car driven by Jane S. Washburn, 28, of 1288 Denlyn Street, Novato, slowed about 200 feet north of the Corte Madera town limits, for the Serino accident. A car driven by Mario A. Colombo, 47, of 267 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, slid into the rear of the Washburn car, then spun into a bank. Both Colombo and his wife, Doris, 41, were thrown from the car. He suffered chest pains, and she scrapes of her left leg. Both were treated at Marin General Hospital.

There also were two accidends along Highway 101 near the San Rafael overpass.

A car driven by Edmund P. Lencioni, 17, of 370 Via Casitas, Greenbrae, spun into the fence and guard rail about a quarter mile south of the overpass at 1:50 p.m., the Highway Patrol reported.

Eric Swanson, 15, of 567 Tarragon Drive, Terra Linda, a passenger, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for face cuts and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

THREE-CAR COLLISION

A three-car collision just south of the San Rafael overpass at 4:40 p.m. injured Lucille Davenport, 19, also of San Francisco. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a leg injury and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

The Davenport car hit the rear of a car driven by Jeffrey E. Benninger, 26, of Berkeley, which had slowed for traffic, then collided with a car driven by Robert M. Ellwanger, 26, of 169-A Woodward Avenue, Sausalito, the patrol reported.

William Rabben, 52, of Boyes Springs, suffered a scalp cut and chest injuries when he was thrown from his pickup truck as it spun backward into an embankment and overturned off Highway 101, about three miles north of Novato, at 4:45 p.m. Saturday.

Rabben was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital.

THREE INJURED

Three persons were injured in a three-car collision on Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue, Novato, at 6 p.m. Saturday.

A car driven by Mildred Landucci, 52, of San Francisco, entering the highway, was struck by one driven by P. E. Williams Jr., 50, of 200 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, the patrol reported. Williams' car then spun and hit a northbound car driven by Bertha Mae Balfour, 34, of Petaluma.

Mrs. Landucci, who was thrown from her car, suffered a cut scalp. She was admitted to Novato General Hospital where she was reported in good condition today.

Dadmar Anderson, 62, of New Westminster, British Columbia, a passenger in the Landucci car, suffered a cut forehead and chest bruises. He was treated at Novato General Hospital. Williams, who suffered back pains, told officers he would be treated by his own doctor.

Carrie Priscilla Kennedy, 24, of 30 Tiburon Boulevard, Alto, suffered a sprained shoulder when her car rolled over on Highway 101, about 1000 feet south of the Corte Madera overpass at 6:45 p.m. Saturday. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

A pedestrian, John M. Foran, 27, of San Francisco, was struck by a car as he walked along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard about 200 yards west of the crest of White's Hill at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Driver Clyde A. Barnett, 39, of Arroyo Road, Forest Knolls, said Foran was walking in the middle of the traffic lane.

Foran was treated at Marin General Hospital for a sprained left ankle. Sheriff's deputies later found him wandering at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue in Kentfield at 10:30 p.m. and took him to Napa State Hospital for observation.

SPLIT LIP

A Sausalito youth suffered a split lip in a three-car accident on Highway 101, just south of Puerto Suello Hill, at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Injured was Richard E. Phelps, 20, of 315 Second Street, who was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and transferred to Treasure Island Naval Hospital.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Kevin J. Downey, 18, of 703 Bradley Avenue, Novato, spun on the wet roadway and hit the center guard rail. A car driven by Paul Robert Keeler, 18, of 2 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, struck the Downey car veered off the shoulder of the road. Phelps' car struck the Downey car, officers said.

Joseph N. Perry, 31, and his wife, Mary K., 39, of 98 Buena Vista Drive, Novato, both suffered bruises at about 12:30 a.m. yesterday when the car Perry was driving north on Highway 101 crashed into the guard rail.

The highway patrol said Perry was just north of the Blackpoint cutoff in the slow lane when a car cut in front of him. His car hit the right guard rail.

LEFT TURN

A car making a left turn at 4:55 p.m. Saturday struck two 13-year-old girls in a crosswalk at Third and A streets, San Rafael, but San Rafael General Hospital officials said neither was hurt enough to require treatment.

The car, driven by Harold J. Vonfeldt, 37, of Sterling, Colo., was making a left turn when it hit the girls: Vera J. Presley, of 9 Taylor Street, and Kathy M. Hollingsworth of 238 San Rafael Avenue, both of San Rafael.

Keith Joseph Sides, 30, of 645 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, was cut over his left eye about 2:15 a.m., yesterday when he rode his motorcycle around the home of Loren R. Williams at 1400 Chase Street, Novato, and hit a childrens' swing, Novato police reported. He was treated at Novato Hospital.

The major island of Tutuila was hit by the hurricane's main force yesterday. Strong winds still raked the smaller island of Manua today as the storm moved slowly to the southeast on a course passing near Tahiti.

Armed Men Strike Two Marin Stores

Market Loses $105 To Robber; $75 Taken At Store

Separate armed robbers struck twice in Marin County yesterday, making off with $105 cash from a Santa Venetia supermarket owner and about $75 from a Tamalpais Valley liquor store.

Sheriff's officers said one of two men involved in the latter may be the same bandit who pulled two earlier holdups, the Jan. 8 robbery of a Union Service Station and another of Del's Liquors No. 2 in Mill Valley last Jan. 16.

Robert E. Porter, co-owner of Santa Venetia Super Market, 741 North San Pablo Avenue, told deputies a tall man with pock-marked face entered the store about 9 a.m. and asked for garlic salt.

RINGING UP

Porter said he was ringing up the 39-cent sale when the robber pulled a small revolver, spun the cylinder for emphasis, and fled with the loot.

Officers said witnesses reported two cars left the scene shortly after, one a blue Volkswagen with a single occupant, and the other a Chevrolet convertible with a man and woman as occupants, but it wasn't determined if either vehicle was involved.

Walter Raymond Snell, clerk at Dan's Groceries and Liquor, 254 Shoreline Highway, Dolan's corner, said two young Negro men entered while he was stacking milk in the building's rear at 9:50 p.m. yesterday.

The shorter of the two men, wearing a blue fuzzy wool jacket with parka hood, drew what appeared to be a .32-caliber pistol, Snell told officers.

RAISES HANDS

He said he raised his hands, but the robber said, "No, just open the cash register." Snell said the robber had scooped from $50 to $75 in bills from the register, and was reaching for more when a car drove up outside.

The bandit instead grabbed a March of Dimes coin box containing about $5 and he and his companion fled afoot, Snell added.

Deputies said Snell's description of the gunman, about five feet, eight inches tall and stocky, matched that of one of three men who took $40 from an attendant at the Union Service Station, Frontage Road and Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, on Jan. 8.

His description also matched one of two gunmen who took $100 from Del's Liquors No. 2, 653 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, on Jan. 16. Officers said both wore dark parkas.

Old Shotgun, Typewriter Are Stolen

Loss of an antique 16-gauge shotgun, a typewriter and three sweaters in burglary of the home of Clarence Arthur Wigell, 101 South Ridgewood Road, Kent Woodlands, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Harold E. Riegger, 469 Panoramic Highway, Tamalpais Valley, said burglars entered via an open window, making off with a high fidelity phonograph worth $135, amplifier equipment worth $150, and a Japanese camera worth $95.

L. E. Vern Denson, 102 Garden Avenue, Santa Venetia, reported 21 cans of beer were taken from his unlocked garage.

Richard Robert Anderson, 410 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, told officers that burglars entered his unlocked patio and ransacked a bedroom, but nothing was believed taken.

San Anselmo police Friday cited two 13-year-old San Anselmo boys they say visited Mrs. Harriet Briggs at 46 Santa Barbara Avenue on Tuesday and, while talking with the elderly lady, stole her husband's silver watch and cigarette lighter.

Dog Kills Cow, Calf On Marin Dairy Ranch

Two dogs reportedly killed a white-faced cow and injured a calf during the weekend on the dairy ranch of George Giannecchini in Tennessee Valley.

Giannecchini told the Independent-Journal today that he shot and hit one of the dogs. His loss is $200 for the cow and, he added, "the calf is no good to me" because of its injuries and because it is now without its mother.

"People don't realize," the rancher said. "They think their dogs are at home by the hearth."

Giannecchini, who leases the Dean Witter Ranch, said he has lost at least 20 head of cattle in eight years and has killed 14 to 18 dogs. "Ninety per cent of the dogs I have killed have no licenses," he said.

Rings, Cuff Links Reported Stolen

Harold K. Harroun of 154 Terrace Street, San Rafael, told police at 2:23 a.m. yesterday that $300 in men's rings and cuff links had been taken from his home during the night.

Harroun said 15 pairs of cuff links and five rings were taken. Entry was gained through an unlocked sliding glass door, he reported.

The papers will be circulated by George W. Blackwell, former city councilman.

Meyer, 38, is president of Leo W. Meyer, Ltd., a San Francisco insurance brokerage company. He announced his candidacy Jan. 19.

Senate Will Lose Gibson Due To Reapportionment

Senator Luther E. Gibson's departure from the State Senate at the end of this year means a big loss to the State of California and to the County of Solano, which he so long and faithfully served.

Gibson, of Vallejo, last of the long line of distinguished newspaper publishers who served in the Legislature, has been representing Solano County for the past 17 years.

During his five terms, he sponsored $200 million in Solano County projects, including the Monticello Dam on Putah Creek. He was the leading supporter of legislation creating Carquinez and Benicia-Martinez bridges, including the extensive highway approach systems.

Gibson's departure from the Senate is the direct result of reapportionment, ordered by the United States Supreme Court.

While Gibson represented Solano, the late Sen. Samuel Geddes represented Napa, and John F. McCarthy represents Marin County. After Jan. 1, 1967, there will be only one senator representing these three counties. Instead of each county getting a vote in the Senate, the three counties will have to share one vote beginning next year.

Senator Gibson is only one of many old-time stalwarts who will be squeezed out of the Senate. The redistricting is taking a heavy toll in experienced and dedicated public servants.

These developments once again underscore the importance of Sen. Everett Dirksen's amendment to permit states to apportion at least one house on a basis other than population, provided the people of each state approve.

We regret that the efforts of Senator Dirksen and his colleagues were not successful in keeping men like Senator Gibson in public service in the Legislature, at least through 1968, which would have normally been the end of his present term had it not been for reapportionment.

We'll miss Senator Gibson in the Senate come next January. But he will continue to be active in the newspaper field, as publisher of three dailies—Vallejo Times-Herald, Vallejo News-Chronicle, and Contra Costa Gazette.

We expect to continue hearing his voice of experience brought to bear on public issues, through his publications.

Ground Hog Day And The Heart Fund

It's mere coincidence that Ground Hog day falls on Feb. 2, the beginning of Heart Fund Month.

Actually, Mister Ground Hog is one of the most valuable Heart volunteers. He has already provided much information vital in delicate human surgery, such as the open-heart operation.

The ground hog is one animal whose heart can be studied in normal state at a temperature as low as 10 to 15 degrees centigrade and a slowed pulse rate as low as two beats per minute.

So, hats off to the ground hog. Hats off also to the Marin County Heart Assn., and its continuing fight to bring under control heart attack, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases through its local and national research grants.

The Heart Assn. also provides weight and nutrition classes, nurses symposium and physician conference periods.

Switch To Accrual Bookkeeping Is Governor's Latest Gimmick

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The administration of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, it appears, never will run out of political gimmicks, especially during an election year when it is trying desperately to avoid new and increased taxes as an added burden of the public which is supporting a government dedicated to the "give-away" philosphy of the modern age.

The latest gimmick now under consideration is the switching of revenue bookkeeping from a cash to an accrual basis.

THIS MEANS, to those uninformed about the various methods used to juggle books in order to come up with more money than actually is on hand, that the revenues of the state will be computed on the basis of what is owed at any given time, rather than money that has been paid.

This is not a new procedure in the bookkeeping world. Many private firms use the accural system. Banks require a statements of accounts receivable on financial statements. The procedure, however, has been eschewed as far as government is concerned, largely on the grounds that when financial statements are issued, it is necessary to show the cash on hand to meet the expenditures.

Governor Brown explains it this way:

"If you have $5 on Tuesday and payday is Friday, it is something less than accurate to say that your assets during that week were $5. But under the cash system, that is how you would report your finances for the week if you did not actually have the paycheck in hand."

HOWEVER, if the bill collector happens to want his money on Wednesday, it might be embarassing to the individual who says he has his money, but actually doesn't have it.

By going on the accrual system, taxpayers of the state would in effect be "gypped" out of about $2 million a year. This would result from the fact that funds normally raised by taxes are invested and draw interest until it becomes necessary to use the money to meet normal state expenditures.

Under the accrual system, financial statements would show the tax money was there, but actually the money wouldn't be there, so it couldn't be invested.

Also, there would be a possibility of increased borrowing by the state general funds, from its varied special funds. Added cost to the taxpayers would result if this occurred, due to the fact the general fund pays interest on its borrowings.

SHOULD THE ACCRUAL system be adopted, the governor said, estimating revenues would be done by computer. Private financial firms which have studied the problem and recommended its solving by the accrual method, say it would not have been possible before the age of the computer to use the accrual basis.

However, the fact remains that eventually, the bills have to be paid, and a switch to the accrual system merely means another political delay in facing the facts of life. It is estimated such a delay would eliminate the necessity of raising about $100 million of the anticipated $350 million the administration indicates is needed to finance government next year, over and above last year's budget. If the Brown administration can avoid a levy of $100 million, it's good political hay!

Neighborhood Schools Fail

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In response to the Hepp-Henderscheid letter of Jan. 25, I should like to point out a basic fallacy in this discussion of "neighborhood schools" vs. "bigness". The PANS(Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools) group makes the assumption that a large school site with shared facilities is the cause of "loss of identity" and an "impersonal atmosphere"; and that small, so-called "neighborhood" schools do not do this. This assumption is not warranted by any evidence yet produced.

What the state-wide PANS organization consistently leaves out of its calculations is the effect on learning of class or unit size. As an example of the failure within the "neighborhood" school, I cite an incident which occurred yesterday in Mrs. Hepp's own "neighborhood" school. A child there had his lunch eaten by a dog (a not unusual happening). The teacher allowed him to call his mother, but was indifferent as to the outcome. She said, after school, that (a) she didn't have enough lunch to share, and (b) she had too many children in her class to give them individual attention. So, in this "neighborhood" school, neither Mrs. Hepp, nor the teacher, nor anyone else sees to it that each child has some lunch to carry him through his afternoon's work.

A small thing? No. This is a real picture of loss of identity and impersonal attitude which I hold up against PANS' imaginary horror picture of 4000 mothers rushing to Tennessee Valley to do some imaginary something in case of an imaginary disaster. The little, warm, live human bodies Mrs. Hepp imagines to be in danger in Tennessee Valley do not seem to be worthy of her attention in her "neighborhood" school.

I do wish that instead of spending so much time and energy talking about concepts (which are not real things) we could begin talking about how to make education possible and relevant.

Correction Needed For Traffic Safety

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that the City of San Rafael has managed to do something about the re-alignment of streets, accesses, exits to freeways, frontage roads, shopping centers, etc., there is one little item that has been overlooked. This concerns those of us who live in Brete Harte and/or South San Rafael:

Before re-alignment Irwin Street was a thoroughfare at the intersection of Lincoln Street. At the present time (if one must adhere to the traffic signs) it still is; despite the fact that Irwin Street is a dead end street terminating one block east of the intersection of Irwin and Lincoln streets. This has resulted in a dangerous traffic situation inasmuch as it is visually a very difficult intersection and heavily trafficked. Now that the changes have been made it is only logical that Lincoln Street is and should be the right of way approach at this intersection. I have seen accidents occur at this point and have almost been involved in one simply because this minor, but vital, change of traffic signs has not been made. If this situation were rectified it would add greatly to the safety and expediency of those of us who live in, work in or frequent this area.

Thumbs Down On Book Vote

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your open letter to the San Rafael School Board on Jan. 18, you have developed an original way to run a school district—affectionately to be known as the Roman Circus.

Unlike ordinary, dull school board meetings, we will now have hundreds of well-informed, unbiased, mature parents anxiously awaiting their chance at the democratic process. Outside the door hordes of uninformed, biased and immature teenagers will carry picket signs reading. "No Fun To Be Under 21" and "2,4,6,8, Who Has The Right to Expurgate?".

On page 1 the I-J will have published the list of controversial subjects slated for the parents vote. For example: 1. Jack Kerouac; 2. Darwin's Theory of Evolution; 3. McNamara's latest statement on Viet Nam; 4. Mark Twain's "Letters from the Earth"; 5. Phonics vs. Look-Say. After an impassioned reading of each item by the accused teacher, a vote will be taken: Thumbs-down, death—thumbs-up, transfiguration. Board members and teachers are excluded, of course, as members of the establishment.

An announcement will follow; "Remember folks—next weeks vote; 'Flip and Jane Go for a Walk', 'Catcher in the Rye', 'Moll Flanders at Home and School' and 'The Cleveland New Math'. Don't be late. Activate those phone committees!"

As the parents file out, the under-21 students excluded from the meeting quickly change picket signs. Now they read — "Hot Coffee 10¢," "Diet Cola 15¢," "Popcorn 20¢." Kids never miss a good joke, especially at the expense of their parents.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

GEORGE ORWELL, author of the memorable "1984," once told an interviewer that the principal reason he wrote books was that his old fifth-grade teacher might see his work and be remorseful that she'd misjudged him.

After Moss Hart had made a fortune with a series of Broadway smash hits, he, too, journeyed up to the Bronx to show his old public school principal (a man who had predicted nothing but disaster for him) how wrong that estimate had been. The principal recognized him at once. "Ah, Hart," he rasped. "What are you coming around here for again? You're wasting your time. I won't lift a finger to help you."

THERE'S A TOWN in Illinois named Normal and another not too many miles away named — no kidding — Oblong. And when a boy from one of these communities chose as his bride a girl from the other, the headline writer for a Chicago newspaper did just what you'd expect him to: He captioned his story, "Normal Boy Weds Oblong Girl."

OVERHEARD: At the San Diego zoo, Neil Morgan would have you believe that an amorous tiger was rebuffed by his wife, who demanded harshly, "Where have you been prowling? You reek of gasoline."

At Newwark Airport, Jackie Curtiss heard a newly commissioned pilot tell a stewardess, "I just saved the lives of 47 passengers. I refused to take off."

Economic Miracle Of Growth Keeps U.S. In Guns, Butter

WASHINGTON—It will be a miracle if the U.S. can meet the mounting costs of the Viet Nam war and the Great Society without higher taxes, without dangerous inflation, without great deficit spending.

But the President has a miracle going for him. More than anything else, it can make it possible for the American people to have both guns and butter without economic disaster.

The miracle is the tremendous and sustained dynamism of the U.S. economy.

Time was when the nation's haunting concern was how to avert depression. Today's problem is how to manage prosperity for the benefit of everyone.

In the very recent past, many experts thought high unemployment was insoluble, was built into the economy.

TODAY THE QUESTION is whether industry can find the labor it requires to man the production lines.

Not long ago the admiring eyes of the whole world were on the "European economic miracle." The most industrialized countries in Europe, plus Japan and Russia, were sweeping past the U.S. in annual economic growth.

Today the United States leads every country in growth rate — 5 per cent last year, probably higher this year.

What we are now witnessing is the American economic miracle and, since the nation is now into the sixth year without recession, it is time to recognize that this miracle is not accidental.

AT A TIME when communism is still claiming it is the wave of the future—though neither in Red China nor in the Soviet Union can Communist agriculture feed its own people — maybe competitive private enterprise has something to be said for it.

When President Dwight D. Eisenhower submitted a 1958-59 budget of $72 billion, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey screamed at the White House that such a spending binge would "bring on a recession that would curl your hair." It didn't.

The $112.8 billion budget Lyndon Johnson presented to Congress this week is a big budget but, because of the vigor and growth of the economy, it does not dangerously strain the resources of the nation.

EISENHOWER'S $72 billion was often cited as the biggest peace-time budget ever. But it wasn't. Not that it wasn't the biggest to that moment, but it wasn't a peace-time budget. It was a peace-plus-cold war budget.

And Johnson's $112.8 billion is not a peace-time budget. It is a peace-plus-cold war-plus-hot war budget and the President put his finger on its economic soundness when he pointed out in his economic message that, while our defense needs are great, our economic growth is far greater.

There is no doubt that there are large uncertainties in the budget. The uncertainties are the war-cost estimates and the revenue estimates. They could both be wrong. They usually are.

If they prove to be, the President will have to propose higher taxes and cutting back some home-front spending to hold inflation in check.

Maritime Academies To Be Investigated

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Federally supported merchant marine academies are largely responsible for the serious undermanning of ships transporting U.S. troops and urgently needed suplies to Viet Nam.

A large percentage of graduates from these government-financed schools—the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, Long Island, N.Y., and five state academies — are breaking solemn pledges to serve three years at sea. Instead they are taking more comfortable and less demanding jobs ashore.

MORE THAN A THIRD of the graduates never set foot aboard merchant vessels. And over a 10-year period, less than six per cent spent as much as five years at sea.

And that isn't all. The Kings Point Academy — the "West Point of the merchant marine" —is encouraging its undergraduates to seek shoreside employment and "fostering a feeling of contempt for seagoing officers."

Those are the charges being made by J. M. Calhoun, president, Marine Engineers' Beneficial Assn., AFL-CIO. Ninety per cent of the licensed engineers are members of this organization.

POINTING OUT that two out of every three U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam and 98 per cent of their weapons and supplies are transported by ship, Calhoun declared that more than 2,800 engineer vacancies went unfilled last year. He warned there will be an even more critical shortage this year.

Calhoun charged that the academy permitted "recruiters from shoreside industries" to come on the campus to solicit personnel. Also that the academy's alumni association, with offices on the campus, put an advertisement in a trade paper offering "to fill your personnel requirements both afloat and ashore."

BELATEDLY, the Congressional Board of Visitors to the Kings Point Academy also is manifesting concern. It has scheduled an unusual joint meeting with the industry advisory board to the academy to consider Calhoun's blast and agree on a course of action.

The Congressional board, made up of senators and representatives, is required by law to visit the Kings Point school annually and submit a report. Last year the board didn't go there at all, and its 1964 report has yet to be written.

The Maritime Administration also has decided to look into the matter. It has hired an expert from the University of California to make a survey of the academies.

In addition to naming an investigating committee, Representative Garmatz has written Defense Secretary Robert McNamara pointedly calling his attention to Calhoun's blast. Wrote Garmatz:

"ACTIVE MILITARY operations abroad require special logistics leaning overwhelmingly on the availability of American merchant shipping.

Last year Congress voted $4,163,277 to operate the Kings Point Academy — which currently has 950 cadets. That means a cost to taxpayers of $4,382 per student annually.

The five state merchant marine academies get a $75,000 annual grant from the government for operation and maintenance. They also get a training ship with funds for its upkeep. And each cadet receives $600 a year from the government for subsistence, uniforms and books.

THE STATE ACADEMIES are in Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Texas and California. Their total enrollment this year is 1,672. The Maine, New York and Texas academies are four-year schools; Massachusetts and California three-year.

Public-Relations Wise, Chief Makes A Town Extra Friendly

Once upon a time there was a little town that had big worries about its image, public-relations-wise.

The town was full of solid, roomy houses, and the streets were lined with big shade trees. It was a pretty town, but the problem was that the townsfolk had to go elsewhere if they wanted to find work.

Some went all the way to the big city, others went to neighboring communities and some did not work at all. Those who did not work at all were particularly touchy about the situation, for if the truth were known, as it sometimes was, the nonworkers were idle, not because they did not know how to work, but because they did not have to work.

SO YOU CAN see why the town was worried about its image, public-relations-wise.

The community found great comfort in pointing to the few who did have jobs in the community. These included the fire chief and the police chief.

It was the police chief, however, who won the hearts of the townsfolk with a practice that set the community aside from all others in the country. It was the police chief's practice not to report crimes.

Sometimes when the townsfolk considered their police chief, they forgot all about the unemployment problem. No crimes made the town look good.

It also made the police chief look good. If there were no known crimes, the police were obviously top drawer, public-relations-wise.

SOME OF THE townsfolk thought it would be a fine idea not to report fires, either. But the first time this was tried, neighboring communities saw smoke and heard sirens.

"What's going on?" the neighbors asked.

"Nothing," the townsfolk said, but they felt a little silly about it, and when the flames started leaping high above the big shade trees the townsfolk gigled and said:

"Aw shucks! Come on over and watch the fire."

Actually, you see, it was a very friendly community.

But the policy of not reporting crimes continued.

EVERYONE BENEFITED from this policy, including the criminals. The criminals reasoned that since no one reported it, crime must be no outrage at all in the little community. They felt a sense of welcome about the place.

And keeping his crimes quiet, is something every self-respecting criminal has always striven for. The criminals thus felt a strong comradeship with the police chief.

For instance, if a burglar cleaned out a house on one street one week, he found he could go to a house on the next street the following week and find doors and windows unlocked just as if no one had been warned, as indeed they had not.

ANY BURGLARY victim having the effrontery to question the police chief's policy was snubbed by all, especially by the police chief. If you have ever been snubbed by a police chief, you know why hardly anyone complained.

Residents were naturally surprised when burglars struck their homes, but the losses were worth it, considering the distinction of living in a town that was free of crime, public-relations-wise.

Send James Bond To Viet Nam With A Defoliation Machine

WASHINGTON—The trouble with all the spy fantasy that is being shown these days on television and in the movies is that it tends to give people a false sense of security. Most people are hoping a James Bond, the Man From U.N.C.L.E., or Batman will save us in Viet Nam.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if James Bond was called in by his boss, M?

"James, we have just received information that SMERSH is in league with the North Vietnamese and they plan to take over South Viet Nam."

"IT SOUNDS SERIOUS," Bond replies.

"I'm turning the case over to you. Here is your equipment."

M hands him a Band-Aid.

He explains, "When you rub your thumb against the gauze, this Band-Aid becomes a defoliation machine. That's it. They're waiting for you in Saigon."

Bond flies to Saigon. He's about to take a shower in his hotel room with a stewardess he met on the plane when Ambassador Lodge, Gen. Westmoreland and Gen. Ky walk in.

"We couldn't wait for you to come downtown," Lodge says. "We thought you'd better be filled in on the picture right away."

"THE TRUTH of the matter," Gen. Ky says, "is that we've run out of ideas. The Viet Cong is stronger than ever, more troops are pouring in, and North Viet Nam is getting bolder all the time."

Gen. Westmoreland says, "007, you're our only hope."

Bond starts dressing. "Who is Mr. Big in this operation?" he asks.

Ambassador Lodge replies, "A fellow by the name of Ho Chi Minh who is believed to live in Hanoi. We think he's working with the Chinese."

Bond turns to Gen. Westmoreland. "Can you drop me into Hanoi?"

Gen. Westmoreland replies, "We're not allowed to fly over Hanoi. But we can drop you on a bridge near it on our next bombing raid."

"GOOD. NOW could you gentlemen suggest a restaurant where I could get an adequate bottle of wine?"

Bond is on a B-52. Hanging onto his parachute is a beautiful Eurasian girl known as Lots of Lolly, who is to act as his interpreter. They both jump together and land in a haystack.

A North Vietnamese soldier rushes in and is about to kill them both when Bond notices the soldier is a woman. "Kill her," he says to the woman soldier, "but let me go."

The woman soldier shoots Lots of Lolly. An hour later, as Bond is getting dressed, he says to the woman soldier, "Take me to your leader."

"ANYTHING you want, James," she replies.

She takes Bond to Hanoi and shows him a secret tunnel which leads into Ho's palace. But an alert guard knocks them both out, and they are dragged, chained, into the conference room before Ho and his Chinese Communist advisors.

Ho laughs. "Ho ho, ho, 007, you thought you could defeat the Democratic People's Republic, did you?"

Bond says, "Would it be all right if I put a Band-Aid on my right toe?"

"Go ahead," Ho says, "though you won't live long enough for it to heal."

BOND RUBS the gauze of the Band-Aid and suddenly he is holding a defoliation machine in his bands. "All right, Commies, now it's my turn to laugh."

"Don't shoot, 007," Ho cries. "We'll do anything you want."

"Will you go back to the Geneva Convention of 1954?" Bond asks.

"Of course," Ho says, "and we'll throw in unconditional talks as well."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Eight Million Americans Choose Contact Lenses Over Glasses

VAN DELLEN

Contact lenses are worn by eight million Americans. Many users see well with conventional glasses but prefer contacts because they do not detract from their appearance or interfere with swimming or other sport activities. Some have eye conditions that cannot be corrected with spectacles.

Contact lenses were not practical until 1938, when plastic resins became available. The polymethylmethacrylate lens could be fabricated to duplicate the molded contour of each individually fitted eye.

This created a problem because the cornea needs oxygen that it usually gets from the air or from oxygen-saturated tears. When the contact lens is placed on the eye, the atmospheric source of oxygen is shut off, but not that from the tears, provided the eyelids blink.

THE LARGER scleral contact lenses that cover the cornea and the white part (sclera) of the eye have holes drilled thru the plastic material to allow air and tears to enter the space separating the eye from the contact lens.

This is necessary because when the cornea fails to obtain oxygen it becomes dry and takes on the appearance of window glass, reinforced by a wire network. The scleral type is used for various eye conditions involving the tear glands, since it prevents evaporation of tears.

Contact lenses also are used by persons with distorted corneas that cannot be neutralized with glasses. Keratoconus is a type in which the cornea is cone shaped and occasionally pointed.

OTHER EXAMPLES include corneas that are misshapen by infections or by injuries. They also are used by those who had cataracts removed.

The corneal contact lenses are smaller and cover the clear part that curves over the colored iris. They are more effective in allowing the cornea to breathe. These devices can be left in place for eight or more hours.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

Common Market Officials Prepare For Trade Talks

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) — European Common Market officials, relieved of France's crippling seven-month boycott of the economic community, today began work on draft proposals for speeding up important trade talks with the United States.

The foreign ministers of the six-nation economic bloc are expected to meet in Brussels Feb. 21 to discuss the roposals and issues raised by the so-called "Kennedy Round" of tariff negotiations.

The talks would center on proposals made by the late John F. Kennedy in 1962 for massive tariff reductions between the United States and the market countries as part of a "grand design" for Atlantic partnership.

The market ministers yesterday bowed to French demands for permanent veto power in the market and also agreed to curb the suprenational powers of the bloc's executive authority.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Who's Mike Kellin? Well, He's A Star

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I wonder whether anybody realizes that Mike Kellin is a star. And I onder whether he has fan club. And if not, why not? I bet he has five fan clubs, or maybe even 10, or 50 or 100. Would you believe two?

Please don't embarrass both of us by asking who Mike Kellin is. As I told you, he's a star, every Sunday night, on NBC-TV's series entitled "The Wackiest Ship In The Army." And when I say he's a star, I'm not exaggerating. He gets star billing along with Jack Warden and Gary Collins, but I'll bet all you'd ever say if you saw him is, "Oh yeah, him. The funny one. Why didn't you say so in the first place?"

Well, I'm saying so. He's the funny one, all right. He plays the chief petty officer, Willie Miller, and he plays him right. He played him very right, for instance, last night in a tale in which he had a very good time at a party with the four daughters of a Polynesian native chief, not realizing he was, in the eyes of the father, getting engaged to them, all of them.

The crux of the story is that the native chief, knowing that Kellin was a "chief" also, thought that he was a bigger man than the skipper or anybody. It wasn't much of a crux, but these days there are more important things to worry about.

Kellin takes your mind off worries, though. You have to see him to believe him. From the waist up, he looks like an elongated pyramid, with a chest that seems to recede to the point that starts his neck, which is attached to his head. When he smiles, he looks like a fence with a hole in it. There are gaps and there are gaps, but he has gaps.

He looks like an elegant Lionel Stander, and sounds a little like Stander might have sounded in his hey-day if he had taken cough drops. Kellin's attitude is that of a bartender who couldn't quite make a go of his own place and now works for somebody else. At his worst, he looks as though he had just bitten into a lemon. At his best, he looks as though he had just bitten into a half a lemon.

Yet, when he smiles, it is really a smile of sweetness, of sunshine, the face of a hobo who has just found a $50 bill in front of a liquor store.

Kellin apparently has an off-screen attitude commensurate with his on-screen demeanor. I can tell you this because an NBC-TV man had a talk with him recently and got his views on being a right-hand man. Said Kellin:

"Every hero needs a right-hand man. His job is to let the audience know what the hero is thinking . . . One of his duties is to leave when the hero wants to be with the heroine.

" . . . One can play Horatio to Hamlet, Kent to Lear, Mercutio to Romeo, Brutus to Mark Antony. For those who are using acting as a stepping stone to politics, there's alays the vice presidency.

" . . . The great trick is to stand physically as close to the hero as you can. This doesn't help the story any, or the hero. But it helps the right-hand man in staying on the screen. Otherwise you end up on the cutting room floor.

Rise Proposed In Fire Force

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today said he would propose doubling of the conservation department fire prevention forces to help reduce the annual multi-million-dollar loss to the state's forest resources.

Brown said the increased personnel would be used for patrol and enforcement of regulations in Butte, Napa, Mendocino, Humboldt and San Diego counties and other critical forest fire areas.

The governor said his budget would propose an increase of $500,000 and 47 new fire prevention positions.

Center Gives Calendar For February

The Marin Jewish Community Center has announced a February program of children's trips, classes for children and adults, a theater party, a weekend in the snow and the center's annual meeting.

The annual meeting for the center will be held Feb. 6 at 4 p.m. at Temple Rodef Sholom, Santa Venetia. That day is the Jewish holiday of Hamichah Asar Bishevat, the New Year of the Trees, and trees will be planted on the site of the new Jewish Center next to the synagogue.

Board members for 1966 will be elected at the meeting, and center members will discuss the new center and the program it will have.

A children's trip is scheduled for noon Feb. 12 to the Maritime State Park and Museum, San Francisco, and a family trip is planned for Feb. 26 to a Seals hockey game.

At the center at 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, Friday classes for children will start their second semester Feb. 11.

Fifteen simultaneous classes in creative art for children in kindergarten through sixth grade and painting and ceramics for their mothers will be held for Southern Marin members at the FYT School, 1046 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley, on Tuesdays at 4 p.m. starting Feb. 8.

Consuela Sandoval of the San Francisco Dancers Workshop will give instruction in dance as art experience for eight Mondays starting Feb. 7, with classes for teen-agers at 4:15 p.m. and another for adults at 8 p.m.

Advanced beginner bridge classes will start an eight-week session Monday at 8 p.m. in the center's fireplace lodge with Lura Crossley as instructor. Intermediate guitar classes will begin Wednesday at 7 p.m. for eight weekly sessions.

The theater party will travel to a Yiddish musical review Feb. 12 in Burlingame.

The family snow weekend will be Feb. 19 and 20 at Heavenly Valley.

Airport, Parks On Board Agenda

Marin County supervisors tomorrow are expected to hire a director for the county Parks and Recreation Department and decide the future of the county airport at Novato.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. Supervisors, in a joint meeting with the parks and recreation commission, are to interview three candidates for the $14,400 parks and recreation post.

The joint session will run from 10 a.m. to noon and will be behind closed doors.

At 3 p.m., supervisors will discuss the recommendation from the new aviation commission on development of the county airport, following Federal Aviation Agency standards.

They will also hear a report from County Administrator Alan Bruce that more negotiation is needed on the exclusive lease on airport facilities held by Harry O. Tollefson.

The FAA will not provide its 54 per cent financing in any project where there is an exclusive lease. Tollefson has agreed to sell the lease for $17,500, provided application is made for FAA funds.

Bruce said it apears now that FAA officials will also object to a proviso in the cancellation agreement, which means the county will have to buy back the lease without conditioning the move on FAA application.

Supervisors are also expected to discuss a proposed ordinance that would require undergrounding of utilities in connection with road improvement, to discuss preliminary design of the community mental health center and to approve a joint contract with the City of Fairfax whereby the county planning department will prepare a Fairfax general plan.

Flood Control Inspectors Make Tour In The Rain

An intrepid band of citizens braved rain and wind Saturday to explore the Corte Madera Flood Control Project area from Bon Air Bridge in Greenbrae to the bay.

Purpose of the wet excursion was "to be prepared to take an informed position on recreational aspects of the project," said Jean Barnard, secretary of the Marin Conservation Council.

The 20 hikers will be present Feb. 16 when the board of supervisors meets on the project design.

"We came to no immediate conclusions," Mrs. Barnard said, "but we are primarily concerned that there be continuous access to the creek along the entire length of the project, that there be a park under the Greenbrae interchange, and that as few Boardwalk homes as possible be taken by the project."

Nine civic organizations were represented by the group led by Eugene Spitler, president of the Marin Conservation Council. Other groups were the Sierra Club, Homestead Valley Improvement Club, Marin Conservation League, County Parks and Recreation Commission, Greenbrae Home Owners Assn., Greenbrae Rod and Gun Club, and Boardwalk No. 1 Arkites Assn.

Union Strikes Rocket Test Unit

EDWARDS AFB (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union (UAW) today struck North American Aviation's field laboratory at this aerospace test base, but a company spokesman said work was continuing.

The strike affects about 250 union members at the firm's Rocketdyne facility, which tests rocket engines.

A company spokesman said, however, that 25 of the 125 union employees who work on the first shift had crossed the picket lines set up at five entrances to the base and were at work.

He said work was continuing at the facility with supervisory personnel substituting for the striking workers.

Peace Corps Tests

A placement test for the Peace Corps will be held Feb. 12 at 9 a.m. in Room 7 of the San Rafael Post Office in D Street. Applications forms, obtainable from post offices, must be filled in beforehand and presented at the test location.

Woman Treated

Mrs. Ruth Kentfield of 214 West Street, Sausalito, was treated early today at Marin General Hospital, after she reportedly took an overdose of pills at her home. She was taken to the hospital at 4:25 a.m. by Sausalito ambulance.

Suspicious Dad Leads To Arrest

The suspicion of a father that his son planned to run away from home led to citations on burglary charges for four 15-year-old Tiburon boys Friday.

Sheriff's Sgt. George B. Barnes said the boy's father reported to Tiburon sheriff's substation that he believed the boy planned to run away, and asked deputies to talk to him.

Barnes said that when questioned, the boy admitted he planned to run away with a friend because he was doing poorly in school. He said he and three companions had been shoplifting small items from the Embee Market on the Boardwalk shopping center for several months and had entered the home of S. H. Baker of 730 Hilary Drive, Tiburon, at least twice, taking about $20 from a metal box. The burglaries were never discovered by the Bakers, Barnes said.

Stolen Sports Car Recovered By Police

San Anselmo police Friday recovered a sports car, stolen in San Francisco, in the parking lot of Brookside School.

School principal Jack Graves said he saw a young, "beatnik-type" man park the car and walk away. He was suspicious, he said, because the car was an Austin-Healy, the same type of car stolen in San Francisco and abandoned in the school parking lot earlier this month.

Lightning Puts Out Three Transformers

Lightning struck a garage in Tamalpais Valley early yesterday, burning out three electric transformers in the neighborhood.

The thunderclap that followed was so loud it awakened many residents from Sausalito to San Rafael.

The bolt struck a garage at 436 Wellesley Avenue at 2:01 a.m.

Windows were blown in, a door jolted askew. Two cars were inside the garage. The windshield of one was shattered, and hubcaps were blown off the other.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Lemoyne, who rent the home, were jarred awake. "I thought it was a sonic boom," Mrs. Lemoyne said.

The lighting bolt burned out transformers at Marin Drive, Eastwood Drive and Wellesley Avenue, reported Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical superintendent. All three had to be replaced. Electricity was off to 11 homes in the vicinity while workmen replaced the transformers — a job which took until 1:30 p.m.

Special Meeting Set By Unification Unit

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center's curriculum laboratory.

Unification plans for Tomales and the Tamalpais High School District areas will be discussed.

The Virgin Islands were purchased from Denmark for $25 million, and proclaimed a possession of the United States in January 1917.

Knife Threat Leads To Arrest

Joseph Santoro, 23, arrested by Sausalito police last Friday, has been charged in Marin Municipal Court with felony assault with a knife.

He was booked in county jail, then released on $2,750 bail.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said Santoro, of 513 Humboldt Avenue, Sausalito, allegedly put the knife at the throat of a man identified as Luke Asbury on Jan. 22 during an argument over dating of a woman.

More than half of America's cigarettes are produced in North Carolina.

Ashe Beaten By Emerson In Aussie Tennis Finals

By GORDON TAIT

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Roy Emerson of Australia, the world's top-ranking amateur tennis player, captured the men's singles title of the Australian National Championships for a record fifth time today with a 6-4, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va.

Ashe had defeated Emerson in their last three tournament meetings but the UCLA student was no match for the Australian, who won the Nationals for the fourth straight year.

Emerson previously had shared the record of four Australian National titles with Jack Crawford, who won four crowns in the 1930s, including three in a row.

The finish of the match came unexpectedly as the crowd of 5,000 at the White City Courts was startled as Ashe footfaulted on match point. It was the only footfault of the 1¾ hour match and producted the dramatic ending.

The American was down 13-40. After missing with his first service, the footfault was called on his second, giving Emerson the match. Ashe then walked dejectedly to the net to congratulate the Australian.

Emerson also teamed with Fred Stolle to win the men's doubles championship by defeating defending titleholders John Newcombe and Tony Roche 7-9, 6-3, 6-8, 14-12, 12-10 in the all-Australian final.

Most of the match was played yesterday but was postponed until today with the score 7-7 in the fifth set because of bad lighting. It took only 25 minutes to decide the match today.

The only break came in the 21st game with Newcombe serving — the only service break off him in the entire match.

Margaret Smith of Australia won the women's singles title for the seventh consecutive year when Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., her opponent in the finals, had to forfeit because of an ailing left knee.

Miss Richey aggravated the injury Saturday while pairing with Carole Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio to win the women's doubles crown.

Last night she announced she would not play the singles final on medical advice. She said that the doctor had told her that she would risk permanent injury to her knee cartilage if she continued playing in the tournament.

"I would dearly love to have played against Margaret," Miss Richey said, "but the doctor told me I would jeopardize my career if I further damaged the cartilage."

In the Emerson-Ashe match, after Emerson won the first set 6-4, the American displayed his best tennis in the second set.

In the 14th game Ashe had Emerson down 15-40 after a volleyed winner and Emerson missed the sideline. Emerson again hit the ball too wide on the next point and the set went to Ashe.

This moved eventually to be the only break Ashe was able to gain against the defending champion's service.

Ashe was never able to get on top of Emerson's service, which he frequently returned into the net.

On the other hand, Ashe's service was far from its best. He missed with a great number of his first deliveries and his second service often was slow and weak.

Ashe was broken twice in the third set, once to love. In that game Emerson had him down 0-40 with great passing shots and then hit a lob that just caught the corner.

In the fourth set Ashe was broken to 30 when he badly misjudged a return of service from Emerson. With Emerson then ahead 4-3, the match seemed virtually over and Emerson then served a love game for a 5-3 lead.

In the final game the score was 30-30 and Ashe handed Emerson match point when he netted a volley.

Then came the dramatic double fault resulting from the footfault.

Milwaukee Seeks A Quick Verdict

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Milwaukee, the Cinderella of baseball who discovered her prince was footloose and unfaithful, pressed today for an antitrust verdict against the National League before the Braves' scheduled opening day in Atlanta April 11.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette,third generation member of a Wisconsin political dynasty, has asked Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller to move the trial date forward to no later than Feb. 21.

Roller ordered attorneys for the league and the Braves to appear at a court hearing today to present any arguments against an early trial.

The National League had announced Friday it would ignore Roller's court order that it be prepared to keep the Braves in Milwaukee this year and be prepared to expand beyond the present 10 teams should the judge hand down such an eventual verdict.

The owners voted unanimously to instruct the Braves to proceed with plans to play in Atlanta after 13 seasons in Milwaukee, the city they were once before blocked from abandoning by a court order.

Roller handed down his court order for 1966 preparations Thursday. After listening to Braves' requests that the trial, originally set for Feb. 1, be delayed until June 1, he issued a compromise ruling Friday that rescheduled the trial for March 7.

After the league's statement, La Follette asked Saturday that the date be moved froward again and Roller promptly signed an order summoning Braves' attorneys into court today.

The state antitrust suit contends baseball is a monopoly. It accuses the National League of a conspiracy to deprive Milwaukee of the business of baseball.

The suit asks that either the Braves be required to remain in Milwaukee or the National League be ordered to grant the city a replacement franchise, probably through expansion.

The Braves are already under a temporary injunction issued by a Georgia court ordering them to honor their 25-year contract to play in Atlanta.

State and Milwaukee County attorneys, who have subpoenaed many of the Braves' records, say that contract includes an escape clause freeing the Braves from their lease if the move is prevented by court action. Upholding the contract, they contend, also means upholding the escape clause.

Braves' officials deny there is such an escape clause. Giles said Friday the National League chose to comply with the Atlanta injunction rather than the Milwaukee court order.

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, asked in New York if he intended to act to ease the most serious legal challenge to the sport in 44 years, said yesterday, "The matter is now in the courts and I'm not going to guess or prejudge the situation."

The team was halted from going to Atlanta last year y a court order that it play out its lease with the county for use of the public stadium. The antitrust suit was filed last summer while the Braves were still operating within the boundaries of Wisconsin and subject to its state laws.

Federal courts last fall agreed Wisconsin could prosecute its antitrust suit in state courts. The challenge is considered the most dangerous to baseball's traditional immunity from antitrust laws, won in 1922 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the sport was neither interstate nor commercial in the days before television and transcontinental travel.

Another Black Eye For S.F.; The Weatherman's A Scoundrel

WHY IS IT that just about every time San Francisco puts on a big time sports show the elements act up and give the Bay Area a bad image? Or does it just seem that way?

Remember a few years ago when they staged the major league All-Star game at Candlestick Park and Stu Miller was blown off the mound? Literally. How's the Chamber of Commerce going to describe our "gentle breezes" after a show like that on national television?

Then there was the 1964 East-West college grid all-star game played in a quagmire so bad that televiewers thought they were watching a rerun of "All's Quiet On The Western Front." In living brown.

Saturday's rainout of the Lucky International golf tournament gave us another black eye from the nation's viewpoint. Especially since this was the first golf tourney rained out since last August. I can just hear the wise guys back east calling it the Leaky Intersplashional Gulf Torrent. The strokes they were talking about Saturday were breast, back and butterfly.

Next thing you know one of our famous earthquakes will shakeup the World Series at Candlestick next October. If that happens, at least they won't be able to blame our weather. It would be San Andreas' fault.

ANNOUNCEMENT SATURDAY that Princeton cage great Billy Bradley won the Sullivan Award as the nation's oustanding amateur athlete brings to mind that San Rafael resident Ann Curtis Cuneo was the first woman to win that award back in 1944 when she was an Olympic swim queen and world record breaker.

Mrs. Cuneo now operates a swim school and club in San Rafael.

FRIDAY NIGHT's Hotstove League session at Mill Valley was hailed as a success by the sponsoring Knights of Columbus, with an estimated 150 men and boys in attendance.

Actually, it resembled a Tam High reunion with former Indian coaches and stars dominating the limelight.

The coaches included Jim Langdon and G. T. Wendering of the long, long ago era. Tam alumni who later went on to pro baseball stardom included Joe DeMaestri, Art Schallock, Frank Milani, Bobby Jensen and Ron Cole.

The K of C liked the program so well that it probably will become an annual affair.

Tars All Alone Atop J. C. Cage Ladder

College of Marin's basketballers stand alone on top of Golden Valley Conference standings today after some big weekend action.

Marin 68-58 triumph over Shasta in Redding Saturday night, coupled with Napa's 70-68 loss to Santa Rosa the same night, broke a tie for the conference top spot.

The Tars are now the only team with no conference losses. Marin is 4-0, followed by Santa Rosa, 4-1; Napa, 3-1; Shasta, 2-3; Siskiyous, 1-3; Sierra, 1-3, and Yuba, 0-4.

Marin was given a first half scare before rolling to its 11th straight victory Saturday night in Redding. Shasta was on top 28-27 at intermission, but then the Tars stormed back early in the second half to take over the lead.

It was Don Hanson's jump shot that put Marin ahead early in the second half and started the Tars' hot streak which saw them outscore Shasta 23-5 in one stretch to boom out to a 50-33 lead. Displaying fine accuracy from the floor, Marin made 29 of 61 shots for a fine 47 per cent figure.

The Tars did better from the field than they did from the free-throw line, sinking only 10 of 26 charity tosses for a low 38 per cent figure. Shasta made 21 of 60 shots from the field for 35 per cent and 16 of 25 from the free-trow line, 64 per cent.

Jim Halm led the Mariners' scoring in the rough and tumble game, cashing in on 8 baskets and 3 free throws for 19 points. Fred Arnold and Hanson chipped in with 13 each. Gary Cunningham led Shasta with 17 points.

Marin, now with a 13-5 season record, moves north again Wednesday when it takes on Siskiyous in Weed. The Tars return to Kentfield Friday for a key game against Napa College.

Saturday's scoring:

Marin: Fred Arnold, 6-1-13; Rod Monti, 3-2-8; Jim Halm, 8-3-19; Lorry Galassi, 3-1-7; Don Hanson, 6-1-13; Larry Wolfe, 1-0-2; Bill Brody, 2-26; Totals: 29-10—68.

Shasta: Gary Rogers, 3-5-11; Bill Graf, 2-0-4; Gary Cunningham, 7-3-17; Cal Carpenter, 4-3-11; Gary Hill, 2-3-7; Al Jenkins, 1-2-4; Harnden, 2-0-4; Totals: 21-16—58.

60 Race Horses Die In Blaze At Bowie

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — An estimated 60 race horses died today in a fire that swept through five barns at snowbound Bowie Race Course.

Another 150 to 175 were turned loose by grooms and exercise boys. Some of these were injured so badly they probably will have to be destroyed.

A number of the horses ran through a shopping center four miles from the track. Others roamed in woods and snowdrifts around the race course located about 30 miles south of Baltimore.

One horse known to have died was Sport Casey, owned by Jean Ferris of Bel Alton Md., and valued at $25,000.

Another 18 identified were valued at $105,000. A track spokesman said each horse was insured for a maximum of $5,000.

The fire was discovered in Barn 22 shortly after 1:30 a.m. (EST) by Randy Cutshaw, a former jockey employed as an exercise boy and parttime guard.

Cutshaw awakened grooms and other exercise boys in the stable area and they released horses from the five barns.

Firemen, working in near-zero temperature, used hand shovels to clear a path through heavy snow to the stable area.

Maryland was hit by the biggest snow of the winter over the weekend. Drifts on parts of the track were 3½ feet high and up to the level of the rails.

Firemen were hampered by high winds that spread the flames quickly.

Martin Myer, track superintendent, said the track would not be able to reopen until at least Wednesday.

Today's nine-race card had been canceled earlier because of the 16-inch snowfall. Two other cards were canceled by snow last week, as was Saturday's last race.

Down To Wire Finish In Lucky Tournament

Frank Beard, aiming for a wire to wire victory, nursed a one stroke lead today over veteran Mike Souchak as the field teed off in the final round of the $57,000 Lucky International golf tournament in San Francisco.

Beard started off with a five-under-par 66 at Harding Park in the opening round for a one stroke lead, boosted it to three shots at the halfway point with a 67 and came back yesterday with a one-under-par 70 for a 54-hole total of 203, 10 under par. Saturday's third round was postponed by a rainstorm, putting the schedule back one day.

Souchak, who failed to make the cut at the Bing Crosby tournament a week ago, fashioned three straight 68s to move into second spot at 204.

Ray Floyd, a long-hitting youngster, was all alone at 205 on rounds of 69-67-69.

Five pros were at six-under-par 207 but the man everyone was watching was Arnold Palmer, off to his best start ever on the winter circuit. He won the Los Angeles Open, finished a bang up second at the Crosby and still feels he can win this one.

"I certainly can make up four shots if I play well enough," said the confident Palmer. "But I have to putt better, that is for sure."

Doors To Hall Of Fame Swing Open For Casey

NEW YORK (AP) — The door to Baseball's Hall of Fame has been thrown open for the immediate entrace of Casey Stengel, former player, manager and, at 75, still the sport's outstanding ambassador.

Stengel found out he would be eligible without the usual five-year waiting period when Ford Frick, who has just retired as baseball commissioner, revealed at the baseball writers dinner last night that the Hall of Fame Oldtimers' Committee has changed its rules.

Stengel sat on the dias as Frick spoke of the new rules and made obvious reference to Stengel without mentioning his name by looking down the table and quipping:

"This is not an announcement of election — but the gates are open."

The gates were opened by the simple expedient of waiving the usual five-year waiting period after retirement. Now the waiting period will be a mere six months for all retired baseball personnel, players, managers and officials, 65 or over.

By making that simple adjustment, outstanding men like Stengel who do not retire from baseball until late in life would have a chance to revel in the glory of election to the Hall of Fame while they are still alive.

The Oldtimers' Committee next is scheduled to meet at the end of the year but can call a special session together at any time.

Cassius To Get Another Chance

It has come to my attention that Cassius Marcellus Clay, one of the great minds of our century, is being given another chance at a $70-a-month job, a golden opportunity to exchange a pink Cadillac for a pair of high-cuts, a monogrammed sheet for a jungle hammock, a pillow for a helmet, the Hilton for a hut.

The heavyweight champion's next opponent is going to be Viet Nam.

Cassius Marcellus is the first guy in a long time to become a millionaire who can't add. It was a shortcoming that bothered the Army. Why it should be critical, I don't know, unless they're deciding the fate of that country in a crap game.

CASSIUS WAS not noticeably upset at being turned down as unfit for buck private. That's because, after he got a look at the questions, he thought they were testing him for commander-in-chief.

We take you now to the Pentagon where a chicken colonel is interviewing an orderly who's not too brave, either. The colonel clears his throat:

COLONEL: "Orderly have you brought the Clay papers? Congress has been on my ear all week about this national disgrace as to why this superb physical specimen should not be eligible for slaughter. Whose decision was it, and how was it arrived at?"

ORDERLY: "Well, sir, when he first was asked to describe his stand on 'bigotry' he said he was against it because no man should have more than one wife."

COLONEL: (chomping on cigar): "Well, that's understandable. How many people know the crime of having more than one wife is 'biography?' Let me see those exam papers. (Shuffling through) Why, look here! He's got the right answer 15 times in a row!"

ORDERLY (leaning over, suspicious): "What?"

COLONEL: "I don't know."

ORDERLY (protesting): "But, sir, when you're asked how many sides to a 'triangle,' and you answer, 'Four. His, hers, hers and the truth,' we have to conclude we're dealing with an illiterate."

COLONEL: "Either that or he knows his marital situation better than you do. But, look, what are his arithmetic problems?"

ORDERLY: "Well, sir, here's one. The question posed was this: 'The cities of Emporia and Soot Center are 600 miles apart. One train leaves Emporia for Soot Center at 2 p.m. at 80 m.p.h, and at the same time, another train leaves Soot Center for Emporia at 95 m.p.h. When will they meet?' And he answers, 'I don't know, but you'll be able to tell by the crash.'"

COLONEL: "Good thinking. Did he pass the eye test."

ORDERLY: "He said he could see the chart perfectly but he didn't know what the words spelled. So he guessed 'No smoking.'"

COLONEL: "How was he on historical or algebraic questions?"

ORDERLY: "He thought the War of the Roses was a duel between the Glendale float and the City of Anaheim in the New Year's Day parade, that Napoleon was a product of the Armstrong Cork Co., and that World War II was won by John Wayne. We asked him if there was any way to find the weight of two small children using only a tub of water, a pencil, and a slide rule, if we were told each of the children weighed exactly the same, and he answered, 'Yeah, ask either one of 'em.' We said, 'If a farmer has six bushels of apples worth $10 a piece and drops four of them on the sidewalk, what does he have?' And he answered 'A mess.'"

COLONEL (sighing): "Well, suit him up and send him out to camp. The war in Viet Nam isn't College Bowl, you know. If we can declare Hanoi an open city, maybe we can declare him an open head."

ORDERLY: "Do we send him to the Army? Or the Marines?"

COLONEL: "The Army. No sense in being rotten to the Corps."

WIN GAME, BUT LOSE COACH

Good, Bad News For Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals could look back today upon victory, a 3-0 whitewashing of Vancouver, but it couldn't be considered a good news day.

The reason is the announcement that player-Coach Charley Burns' back condition has been diagnosed as a ruptured disc and he will be lost to the Seals as a player the rest of the season and as coach for two weeks.

General Manager Bud Poile will take over in the meantime. Burns was due to undergo an operation today at Franklin Hospital in San Francisco.

On the brighter side, the Seals skated past the Canucks yesterday afternoon and thereby snapped a four-game home losing streak.

The Seals play at Seattle Tuesday night and Victoria on Wednesday night. Then they're off for six road games against American Hockey League foes.

The Seals scored first yesterday early in the first period on a 35-foot slap shot by defenseman John Gravel. Defenseman Tom Thurlby scored on a similar shot at 3:42 of the second period and Mike Harvey scored from 10 feet at 11:11 of the second period.

The Seals advanced five points ahead of last-place Los Angeles, which lost 4-3 to Seattle last night. But Seattle's victory put the fourth-place Totems seven points ahead of the Seals.

Game Rained Out

Litchfield's semi-pro baseball team from San Rafael had its regularly scheduled San Francisco AAA Winter League game postponed yesterday because of rain. The San Rafael team takes on second place Ellis Brooks next Sunday, weather permitting.

FIGURE SKATING

Allen's Victory Raises Question

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Scott Allen is the national men's figure skating champion once again, but his latest victory over 1965 champion Gary Visconti raised more questions than it answered.

Allen, the 17-year-old 1964 champion from Smoke Rise, N.J., beat Visconti in the U.S. Figure Skating championships Saturday night on the strength of a lead he built in compulsory figures.

Three judges ranked him first overall and two placed him second. Visconti got one first place vote, two seconds and two thirds.

The embullient Visconti, three years older and about six inches shorter than Allen, won the free-skating despite a fall at the end of one triple jump, and another planned triple that "just didn't come off."

Allen received unimpressive free skating marks and two of the five judges ranked him no better than fourth.

Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs won her third straight national women's title, with Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., second and Pamela Schneider of Lincroft, N.J., third. Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle, Wash., won the pairs title.

Surprise! Warriors On A Winning Skein

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors and the Baltimore Bullets mix it up again tonight, 8:30 at Civic Auditorium, the Warriors hoping they can add to their National Basketball Assn. two-game winning "streak."

Behind rookie Rick Barry's 38 points, the Warriors beat the Bullets 108-95 Saturday night. It was the Warriors' second victory after three straight losses during their eastern swing.

Those 38 points are a coincidence for Barry. He also poured in 38 points Friday night in leading the San Franciscans to a 114-104 victory over the St. Louis Hawks.

In the Saturday night contest, Barry kept the Warriors in the game in the first half with 17 points.

San Francisco trailed 47-25 at the half. In the fourth quarter, Al Attles' ball thefts from the Bullets and Barry's shooting carried the Warriors to a 93-83 lead with 4:58 left. The lead grew steadily.

Baltimore, in second place in the NBA's Western Division, dropped a 136-122 decision to the Los Angeles Lakers in Los Angeles last night and fell 5½ games back of the division-leading Lakers. The Warriors are in third spot.

Courteous Cassius Gets Nailed Again By Police

CHICAGO (AP)— A courteous Cassius Clay, heavyweight boxing champion, was arrested on traffic charges yesterday, his second arrest in less than two months.

Policeman Milton Valde said he stopped Clay just west of the Loop on charges of running a stop sign. Clay was given a ticket and surrendered his driver's license in lieu of $25 bond. He was scheduled to appear in Traffic Court Feb. 28.

Valde said Clay, alias Muhammad Ali, was "very polite" and apologized for running the stop sign.

Police stopped a car in which Clay was a passenger Dec. 14 and ended up charging Clay with disorderly conduct. A jury trial is pending on the charge.

Policeman Thomas Faragoi said Clay kept asking him to throw a punch so Clay could sue the government.

Faragoi said Clay told him "we couldn't stop him because he's the champ" and that Clay "represents another government." Clay is a Black Muslim, a Negro supremacy sect. Muhammad Ali is Clay's Muslim name.

But policeman Valde said Clay was alone in a rented 1966 Cadillac just after midnight when he was stopped.

Valde said Clay "was very meek."

College Football 'Without Value'

By CHARLES MAHER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a day when colleges are cranking out football players worth their weight in DuPont stock, it is at least mildly astonishing to come across a man prepared to argue that college football is without value.

But there are those who will tell you that today's full-blown collegiate football programs not only foster empty values but are wholly incompatible with academic life.

Such is the position of James B. Hall, a novelist, short story writer and poet who is a professor of English and director of the Writing Center at the University of California at Irvine. He formerly taught at Cornell, Iowa and Oregon.

"Interest in sports," professor Hall says, "is a flaw in our national character, from my point of view.

"This interest is basically irrational, so any kind of rational program to counter it is not likely to get a consensus.

"Intellectual activity is the only reason for a university's existence. Fundamentally, we have universities to allow students to discipline their minds. Anything that interferes with this objective should take a low priority.

"Athletics interferes with the discipline of the mind—it's a diversion.

"No one can pretend to speak for the academic community. However, some people question whether there should be any athletic programs in colleges unless they are purely recreational and can be used for recreational purposes later in life.

"Football does not qualify, except for the few who are going to play pro football. And they are doing it not for recreation but to make a personal fortune."

"Because of the time they must spend on sports, athletes lack time for contemplation, reading and social activities. These people just can't take part.

"They have to take their game and themselves so seriously they are really short-changed.

"One of the objects of education is to make a person well rounded. But the athlete has to submerge his identity in a team and a kind of bureaucracy made up of the coach and his staff and the boosters.

"This training inculcates a tribal nature — a dehumanizing proposition.

"That's the thing that really strikes me: The grimness of the activity."

If it is considered essential that athletic talent be developed at the college level, Hall said, perhaps it could be done by creating special schools for athletes.

He concludes:

"Why not a national network of such schools for training all our football, baseball and ping-pong players and our Olympic team?

"They could be read heroic poetry every morning"

Yachts Off To Mexico

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kialoa II, a 73-foot aluminum sloop skippered by Newport Harbor racing veteran Jim Kilroy, grabbed a slender first-day lead as 25 yachts opened the 1,430-mile San Diego-to-Acapulco race.

The Kialoa took advantage of 15-knot breezes yesterday to edge ahead of Sumner Long's 57-foot yawl, Ondine, out of Larchmont, N.Y.

The fleet began the eighth biennial running of the race in heavy seas, with swells up to 10 feet.

Sails were full as the yachts dashed through the channel between the Coronado Islands and the Mexican mainland. Then, as breezes receded, some crews unfurled striped spinnakers and set a course nearer shore.

Two miles back of the dueling leaders was a pack that included John Scripps' ketch, Novia del Mar, Bob Johnson's ketch, Ticonderoga, Bill Wilson's K50 Rascal, Peter Davis' Orient and Peter Grant's Malu III.

Elapsed time record for the race, set in 1964 by Howard Ahmanson's Sirius II, is about eight days and nine hours.

To erase the record of the absent Sirius II, a yacht must arrive at the finish by 9:11 p.m., Feb. 7. The race is being run in three classes, the over-all handicap championship determined by corrected times.

WILLIAMS-DI MAGGIO

Big Trade That Almost Came Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ted Williams for Joe DiMaggio even up?

You'd be surprised how close these to Hall of Famers actually came to being swapped for one another.

The Williams-DiMaggio trade actually was made, and then called off by both parties the following morning.

The way I get the story the whole thing took place sometime around 1949 on a train which happened to be carrying Tom Yakey of the Red Sox and Dan Topping of the Yankees to the baseball meetings that year.

As the conversation progressed, they got on to the subject of possible player trades and before you know it, each tried to come up with what he considered a perfect trade for the other.

Well, that wasn't too tough.

As for the Yankees, they were in the market for a good, strong left-handed hitter to take advantage of their beckoning, belt-high right field wall. And who could name anyone better than Ted Williams?

This one looked perfect. Two of the greatest names in baseball, to sluggers who long since had proven themselves, and to men who quite obviously were playing in the wrong ball parks.

The more Yawkey and Topping thought about a Williams-for-DiMaggio deal, the more they liked the idea. And the more they liked the idea, the less reason they could see why they shouldn't make the trade.

The moment of truth arrived and both Yawkey and Topping were up to it. Neither flinched. It was getting late now, but they shook hands on the deal, so the story goes, and then went to sleep.

Topping arose bright and early the next morning but Yawkey already was up ahead of him. Each wanted to see the Yawkey already was up ahead of him. Each wanted to see the other right away.

"We were only kidding last night, weren't we?" was the first question.

It doesn't really matter which one asked it because both had the exact same thought in mind. They reassured themselves they were only joking, went to breakfast and that was the end of that.

Cliffhanger Finish In All-Star Bowling

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Slender Dick Weber had his fourth big pay day in the National All-Star Bowling Tournament yesterday.

The 130-pound St. Louis resident won his second consecutive All-Star title and his fourth in the last five years to add $15,000 to the $60,545 bankroll he earned in previous All-Star tournaments.

Weber tripped fellow townsman Nelson Burton Jr., in the three-game championship rolloff, 684-681. The three-pin difference was the closest margin in the five-years that a three-game series has been used to settle the championship.

Joy Abel of Chicago won the $5,000 top prize in the women's division by defeating Bette Rockwell of Lynn, Mass., 593-538.

It was the 11th time in 14 All-Star appearances that Weber picked up a paycheck. His total winnings easily top the money list. Don Carter, also of St. Louis, is second with $27,000.

Weber and Carter have dominated the tournament in recent years. They are the only four-time winners, but Carter's pay-offs were when the tournament was paying much less than it is today.

Sunday's four finalists earned their way into the championship rolloffs through a series of eliminations during the first 12 days of the tournament.

The men's starting field of 432 had entries from every state plus Japan, Australia and Canada. There were 260 women competing for the feminine title.

Weber started out as if he were going to make it a runaway, but ultimately needed a flying start in the third game to hold off Burton.

After jumping into a 49-pin lead in the first game, 225-176, Weber's advantage was cut to 14 pins when the 23-year-old Burton put together a string of eight consecutive strikes in the middle of the second game for a 269 effort. Weber had his best game of the day, 234, but still lost 25 points to the challenger.

With Burton closing in, Weber fired five strikes in a row to start the deciding game.

However, the champion opened the door when he left the nine-pin in the sixth frame.

Burton took advantage of the break and closed with six strikes in a row, but still was three pins shy at the finish.

Miss Abel settled the issue early in the women's match, picking up a 5-7 pin leave in the first game she won 227-170. Miss Rockwell won the second game, 185-177, but Miss Abel took the third to win the title, 189-183.

The other 14 finalists in the men's and women's divisions rolled a position round to determine the final standings.

3-Way Tie In Pacific Eight Cage Chase

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

How do you go about ranking UCLA?

The on-again, off-again Bruins, just about everyone's choice as the top college basketball squad in the nation two months ago, may have dropped out of the national picture, but they still are in the thick of the torrid Pacific Eight chase.

The Uclans, currently 3-1 in league play, found themselves today in a three way tie for first place with Southern California and Oregon State. The Bruins put a good deal of their remaining prestige on the line tonight when they host tough Arizona in a non-conference game.

The Wildcats prepped for the contest at the expense of Stanford last Friday, handing the Indians a 94-54 drubbing, while the Bruins journeyed all the way to Chicago to lose a 102-96 overtime battle to Loyola.

UCLA returns to league play Saturday against Washington State.

Results last Saturday:

Arizona State 82, Stanford 71
California 64, San Jose State 52
Gonzaga 97, Washington State 82
Washington 87, Hawaii 58
Seattle 84, LaSalle 62
Santa Clara 79, USC 76
UOP 94, San Francisco State 92 (overtime).

Cold Wave Grips East Coast From Florida To Maine

Blizzard Contributes To 72 Deaths; Delaware, Virginia Are Worst Hit

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the icy grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 72 deaths from highay accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept up the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtually paralyzing travel in major cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital. (See photos, page 8.)

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency. Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

In northern and central Florida, the gigantic citrus crop as threatened by freezing temperatures.

Thousands of travelers were inconvenienced as airports in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "socked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

SNOW IN D.C.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow — the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years. The storm dumped 12 new inches of snow with four inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

Federal government and city employees in the capital were told to stay away from work in the morning except for emergencies. However, Congress was scheduled to meet.

State legislative sessions were canceled in Albany, N.Y., and Annapolis, Md.

With driving conditions extremely hazardous, schools were closed in many of the states. At Ithica, N.Y., about 2,000 Cornell University students were given an extra day to prepare for mid-term examinations.

DRY ROADS

Icy roads and drifting snow were the main hazards, with visibility cut to zero in many areas. Portions of key state highways were shut down and hundreds of motorists were stranded.

In one of the worst traffic accidents, 40 persons were injured last night in a series of chain-reaction collisions on New York's Thruway between Rochester and Buffalo.

Frigid temperatures and gale-force winds, rather than the snow, created the most misery in many states.

Fifteen-to 20-foot waves were reported in Narragansett Bay in Rhode Island, flooding low-lying coastal areas. Winds up to 60 mph buffeted some parts of the New Jersey shore.

GAS FOR FIRE

In Pittsburgh, officials at one church had to pour gasoline on the ground and light it to melt ice and snow so a handful of earth could be chipped away for a ground-breaking ceremony.

The cold blast nipped into the Deep South, as temperatures skidded to subzero levels in parts of Georgia. In Atlanta, a reading of three below zero was recorded, a low for the date.

Florida officials described the cold wave as their worst in 30 years and expressed fears that the state's citrus crop might be damaged. Growers on the northern fringe of the citrus belt set out smudge pots. Other crops, such as potatoes and cabbage, were damaged by below-freezing readings in many parts of the state.

Storm Brings Snow, Flood; More On Way

A strange storm brought lightning, hail and snow to southern Marin yesterday, after heavy rainfall on Saturday caused minor flooding in several parts of the county. On Saturday gusts of wind reached 85 mph atop Mount Tamalpais.

The Weather Bureau reported a new storm was headed for the Bay Area, expected to reach here tonight. Small craft warnings have been posted from Point Reyes northward for winds of 20 to 35 knots from the south.

Yesterday thunder and lightning were reported in the Tamalpais Valley about 2 a.m., preceded by hail. Snow fell about the same time on the ridge between Green Gulch Ranch and Tamalpais Valley, along Highway 1, but not on Mount Tamalpais, to the north.

Electricity was cut off for about 125 homes and businesses in Fairfax and San Geronimo Valley at 11:27 a.m. Saturday when a large tree fell across a power line on Meadow Way in San Geronimo. Service was restored to all customers by 3:25 p.m. by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Minor flooding was reported in Granton Park area of Kentfield, with about eight inches of water in some streets, and on Laverne Avenue in Homestead Valley on Saturday afternoon, during the heaviest rains.

Clogged pipes on San Rafael Avenue in Belvedere backed up water, and firemen were called out to pump out the low spots, but there was little damage to homes, according to police.

Heaviest rainfall was reported in Fairfax, which had a storm total of 3.25 inches over the weekend. West Marin had the Viet Bombing Resumes; Johnson Goes To U. N.

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President Johnson called for an immediate meeting of the United Nations Security Council in a new effort to bring the Viet Nam war to the conference table.

The Chief Executive made the request during a brief, televised report to the nation on his decision to resume U.S. bombing raids on Communist North Viet Nam.

Johnson said resumption of the raids, which had been suspended since Christmas Eve, was necessary because of continued Communist aggression.

Speaking of the Hanoi government, Johnson said, "It is plain that there is no readiness to talk—no readiness for peace—in that regime today.

"The end of the pause does not mean the end of our own pusuit of peace," Johnson said. "That pursuit will be as determined and unremitting as the pressure of our military strength on the field of battle."

GOLDBERG PLEA

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, shortly after, officially asked for a Security Council meeting.

Members of the 15-nation council quickly began consultations on the time of the meeting. The United States indicated it was ready to meet this afternoon, if the other members agreed.

The President said that in view of continued Communist violence against South Vietnamese and American forces, any further extension of the U.S. bombing pause might have led to a greatly increased cost in lives. Johnson spoke from the White House less than 10 hours after word came that the United States had begun bombing North Viet Nam.

PEACE HOPES

As for hopes for peace, Johnson said that both direct and indirect approaches by the United States, her allies and even the Vatican "have been in vain."

"The answer of Hanoi to all is the answer that was published three days ago—they persist in aggression and they insist on the surrender of South Viet Nam to Communism," he said.

Johnson's call for a U. N. Security Council session on Viet Nam was in line with the weekend proposal of Pope Paul VI for U.N.-sponsored arbitration to end the bloody fighting.

POPE'S SUGGESTION

The Pope suggested that the war might be ended through such arbitration, "entrusted to neutral nations." There has been no reply thus far from Hanoi or Peking.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk disclosed today the United States offered to extend the bombing pause over North Viet Nam if the Communist leaders there would make a peace gesture in response to the U.S. peace offensive.

He told a news conference that Hanoi's response had been "negative, harsh and unyielding."

Rusk said the United States made clear to Hanoi's leaders that it was prepared for a formal diplomatic conference, for informal discussions or for

U.S., South Vietnamese Step Up Action On Ground

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The United States unleashed its bombers against North Viet Nam today after holding off air attacks for 37 days while it tried vainly to bring the Communists to the peace table.

On the ground, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces stepped up their offensives against the Viet Cong, but the Communists inflicted heavy losses on a militia unit and Red guns hammered Allied positions.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes took the war back to North Viet Nam on White House orders prompted by Hanoi's refusal to talk peace.

The planes hit bridges, ferries, barges, warehouse areas and storage facilities well south of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial area.

One Navy plane was shot down in the sea as the raiders encountered heavy ground fire. But a U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the pilot unharmed under machinegun fire. He was Lt. Cmdr. Sylvester Chumley of Lenoore, Kings County.

Chumley's A-4 Skyhawk jet went down about a mile off Dong Hoi. The Communists peppered the water around him for 35 minutes as he waited to be rescued.

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year. Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers and heavy traffic has been spotted moving toward South Viet Nam over the past two weeks.

On the ground, the Viet Cong backed by regulars of the North Vietnamese forces were goaded into action by Allied troops who have penetrated Communist hideouts in the central coastal plains which had not been disturbed for 15 years.

Operation Masher, the U.S. 1st Cavalry's hedge-hopping push around Bong Son, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, was heavily engaged for the fifth straight day in a firefight the Viet Cong used as a withdrawal action.

Cavalry troops counted 282 Communist dead after four days of heavy fighting with main force Viet Cong and the 18th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 325th division. A spokesman said another 200 Reds may have been killed in air and artillery attacks.

Toward the coast, 20 miles west of Tuy Hoa, South Korean marines squeezed the Viet Cong in another sensitive spot when they sent a column out on a new search and destroy mission. The insurgents reacted from three directions.

The marines hit them hard, split them up and claimed 188 killed by body count, two cap-

Russ Fire Another Moon Shot

MOSCOW (UPI) —Russia today sent another unmanned space station towards the moon, the Soviet Tass news agency reported.

Tass said Luna 9 was "streaking towards the moon along a trajectory close to the calculated one."

It said all the equipment was functioning normally.

The station is carrying scientific, telemetric and other measuring apparatus which was switched on automatically in accordance with the flight program as well as on orders from the earth.

This appeared to be Russia's fifth attempt to land a space station intact on the moon in the past nine months. The first four failed.

The trip from the earth to the moon takes three-and-one-half days. Luna 9 apparently was launched early today.

Bottles Break Glass Along Fourth Street

San Rafael police today sought someone who apparently walked or drove down Fourth Street Friday night throwing beer and tonic bottles through plate glass windows.

Reports of nearly $1,000 in damage to downtown merchants' windows were received by police in an hour's time Saturday.

A two and one-half by six-foot front window of Schwartz' at 925 Fourth Street was broken by a soft drink bottle.

At Shades of Marin, 2070 Fourth Street, a four-by-seven-foot window was shattered by full beer bottles.

At Bianco Motors, 1504 Fourth Street, two windows were broken, also by full beer bottles. One window measured five by nine feet, the other eight by nine feet.

Bay Transportation Study Readied For Legislature

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A long-range study of San Francisco Bay Area transportation to be presented to the Legislature in 1968, will be much more complex than expected and cost $960,000 more than was estimated in 1965.

The Bay Area Transportation Study Commission was given these figures today by its study director, Richard M. Zettel.

He presented a 185-page final study design which he estimated will cost $4,425,000 to complete. The most costly individual item is a home interview survey which is listed at $1,465,000.

The commission already has made 53,000 home interviews and expectes these to start again Feb. 11. It reported that it has 100,000 returns from license plate questionnaires and had made 175,000 roadside interviews.

In this program, the commission is considering such things as land useage and future demands for transportatign in the bay area. The legislative act setting up the commission specifically said that its study was not to impede decisions on individual projects.

A variety of specialized types of transportatiin were on the afternoon agenda, including a report on the status of hydrofoil crafts. Commissiiner John C. Beckett was on the program to present data on research into such items as zinc-air batteries, pneumatic tubes and automated highways.

Veteran Benefit Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A third version of a bill to give cold war veterans a "GI bill of rights" was introduced today in the House.

The latest version of the bill was introduced by Chairman Olin Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Committee. He appeared to have wide committee support for his version.

The Teague bill would extend college, home loan and hospital benefits to Viet Nam veterans and to 3.5 million men who served after Jan. 31, 1955, the cut-off date for benefits under the Korean was GI bill.

THE 1966 LEGISLATURE

It's The Year For Political Survival

EDITOR'S NOTE: The California Constitution says legislative sessions in even-numbered years shall be limited to consideration of a budget for the following year. But the pressing problems of the nation's most populous state say otherwise . . . and prospects are for what amounts to a little general session in an election year. It's complicated by reapportionment and the scramble for Senate seats that will be opening up in next year's Legislature. The session begins a week from today.

By JERRY RANKIN

(First in a series)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A cauldron of controversy faces the 1966 Legislature, stirred by new tax needs and reapportioned lawmakers colliding in an election year struggle for political survival.

Last year's legislative session was one of the most cantankerous in years, as reapportionment became reality — arousing dreams of quick political advancement among assemblymen, and anger from senators doomed to the political junkpile.

Reaction from that historic session will play a key role in this year's meeting, overshadowing the fact that 1966 will be the last time rural interests control either house. When the 1967 Legislature marches in, Southern California will assume numerical control of the Senate, adding to its existing domination of the Assembly.

Reapportionment gave urban areas around San Francisco and in Los Angeles new senators, and assemblymen already are scrambling to shift from the 80-member lower house to the 40-member upper chamber.

More than 10 assemblymen have officially announced they want to be senators. And the cut in the Senate districts in the north is pitting as many as four incumbent senators against each other—and only one can emerge still in office. But already, a third of the incumbents have announced they'll try to retain their seats.

Neither group is expected to relish spending most of the vital spring primary campaigning time talking in Sacramento about how to raise taxes, end smog and deal with the other topics before them.

Compounding the confusion will be Republican economy attacks on Democrat Governor Brown's budget, due to hit an all-time high of about $4.5 billion. Brown needs some of their votes to pass the budget — but many Republicans running for the first time in new districts may not be anxious to spend much time in the Capitol.

Concentration on taxes, the budget and politics portenrs scant attention to the other subjects on the special session agenda to run along with the budget meeting.

One question is whether lawmakers will adopt the budget in the 30 - day period required by law, or whether the extra special session that has become common during recent budget years will be needed to hammer out a compromise.

One leader doubts the first 30 days will be sufficient. Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, commented: "Anyone who expects to reach a satisfactory conclusion on the regularly scheduled day of adjournment is overlooking the deep division in the Legislature."

NEXT: The budget.

Bagley Sees Taxes As Paramount Issue

By WAT TAKESHITA

One of the major goals of the Republican minority during the coming legislative session is to work for relief of local property taxpayers without increasing the total tax bite, in the opinion of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The budget session will open Feb. 7 for what appears to be a short session that should wind up in April.

The record $4.5 billion budget proposed for the next fiscal year means a deficit of some $250 million to $300 million, Bagley noted.

He predicted the Democratic administration will attempt to meet that deficit by proposing a "gamut of other taxes — telephone taxes, sales taxes, corporate taxes, real estate transaction taxes, etc."

"We recognize the need for tax reform and relief for the property taxpayer," said Bagley. But he is opposed to the threat of a major state-wide tax increase under the guise of a "tax reform."

"For example, the Petris-Unruh tax bill, to be again proposed, provides an over-all state tax increase of $1.1 billion. About $700 million of this would be used to relieve property taxpayers. The extra $400 million, however, is pure gravy—calculated to increase taxes and spending, state-wide."

Bagley said he and his colleagues are drafting a tax reform bill which would provide $500 million to $600 million for local property tax relief, without the $400 million "gravy."

Among local projects, Assemblyman Bagley will try again for acquisition of the 3,000-acre Frank Valley area to add to Mount Tamalpais State Park. The money for this acquisition would come from the state parks bond issue approved by the voters in 1964.

Smog will continue to be an issue in the coming session.

Bagley said he is having a measure drafted for over-all control of smog, not only through devices on cars but at the source—the refining of gasoline.

"This measure would provide tax deductions for any research aimed at taking pollutants out of gasoline at the refinery instead of at the exhaust pipe," said Bagley.

The Marin assemblyman said preliminary reports may be coming in from the Constitutional Revision Commission, whose job is to revise and modernize the state constitution.

Among revisions that have been suggested are these:

Have the Legislature meet in annual regular sessions instead of biennially.

Make the job of legislators a full-time one, with salary increase and corresponding cutbacks on some of the fringe benefits.

Adopt the congressional committee bill concept, so that bills introduced in the first session can be carried over into the second session. At present, a bill which dies in interim committee must start from scratch at the new session.

Bagley said he would oppose the governor's request of $300,000 for an "office of tourism," and any attempt to initiate a state withholding tax.

He will continue his campaign to reform the state inheritance tax appraisal system, which allows the controller to reward faithful party workers with political appointments.

Redwoods Promotion On Agenda

Supervisors from eight California counties, including Marin, will meet Friday in Santa Rosa to discuss a plan which would hike the money spent by the Redwood Empire Assn. on travel promotion from around $128,000 to more than $260,000.

The meeting of the supervisors unit of the association will discuss means of raising the money in detail including a suggestion that all counties contribute on an equitable basis.

The promotion plan, unveiled Jan. 21, has been described as the greatest thing that has happened to the Redwood Empire Assn." by Jack Craemer, REA past president and editor of the Independent-Journal. Craemer heads a committee to put the program into effect.

It was estimated that there were 20,000 professional performers headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., during the 1920's at the height of tent repertoire theaters' activities.

VDC Wants President Impeached

BERKELEY (UPI)—The Viet Nam Day Committee, a group opposed to the war in Viet Nam, today asked Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., to introduce legislation to impeach President Johnson.

The VDC said the resumption of bombing in North Viet Nam made it "obvious that Johnson's so-called peace offensive was a hoax."

The committee sent a telegram to Cohelan advising the congressman they planned a "mass sit-in at your Oakland office" today.

"There can no longer be any doubt that Lyndon Johnson is not fit to be President of this country," the telegram said.

The VDC said, "The war in Viet Nam must be ended by immediate cessation of bombing in North and South Viet Nam and immediate withdrawal of American troops in accord with the principles of the 1954 Geneva agreement."

Sierra Road Clogged By Cars

RIVERTON (AP) — A huge traffic jam in the Sierra Nevada closed 50 miles of U. S. 50 for two hours yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said the jam resulted from hundreds of vehicles heading home at the same time after a weekend of winter recreation.

Crews used the two hours to clear away snow and bogged-down cars.

Closed was that stretch of the road between Riverton, on the west side of the Sierra, to Meyers, near the south end of Lake Tahoe.

Policeman Is Booked In Hostess Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A veteran married police officer was booked for investigation of felony assault today after allegedly beating an airline hostess with his service revolver in her apartment.

Chief Thomas Cahill immediately suspended Patrolman G. Williams, 34, on the force 11 years.

Traffic Capt. Les Dolan said William flew into a rage last night when another man telephoned Doris Bulls, 24-year-old airline hostess, while Williams was visiting her apart-apartment.

Williams first beat the woman with a rolled-up magazine, then forced her to drive him to a bar and back to her apartment, Dolan said.

Miss Bulls fled screaming to the street. Neighbors surrounded her but Williams drew his revolver and threatened to shoot anyone who interfered, according to Dolan.

Williams then dragged the woman back to her apartment and slugged her on the head with the pistol, the police official said.

Williams was booked at City Prison. Miss Bulls as treated at Central Emergency Hospital for bruises.

Motorcycle Group Asks Park Use

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission will act Wednesday on a request made by the Marin chapter of the American Motorcycle Assn. for one-day use of the city's Albert Park.

The local motorcycle group has asked permission to host a picnic for 300 Bay Area cyclists on a Sunday afternoon in April.

The commission delayed action on the request at its last meeting to give Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota a chance to check on the group's reputation.

Harold Bell, 26, of 1310 Leafwood Drive, Novato, told the commission that the motorcycle group has no affiliation with the Hell's Angels, but that their picnic could be upset by the Angels unless they had police protection.

Also to be considered at the meeting, to held at 8 p.m. at City Hall, are sponsorship of after-game dances for high school students and the acquisition of a Monticello Road park site.

School Districts To Study Budget

The San Rafael and Dixie School District boards Thursday will compare tax rates necessary to run the districts if they are unified with those if they remain separate.

Meeting at 8 p.m. at Davidson School, the boards will hear a report from the county schools office on tax rates which could be in effect in both districts during the 1966-67 school year if the June unification election fails.

Dr. William Cunningham, superintendent of Hayward Unified School District, will discuss the pros and cons of unification.

Mystery Woman Leaves China

HONG KONG (UPI)—U.S. officials said today they were "studying" the case of an American woman who entered Communist China illegally Jan. 11.

They indicated there was a possibility that the woman, Mrs. Beverly Reilly, 38, of Omaha, Neb., might be prosecuted for possible violation of U.S. passport regulations.

Reilly

Mrs. Reilly, a nurse who said she wanted to write a book on China, returned to Hong Kong yesterday afternoon after being held almost three weeks by Red Chinese authorities.

She came to Hong Kong early last December and took a room in a small boarding house in Sheung--shue Village, near the China border.

She disappeared on Jan. 11 and was reported missing two days later. It was widely speculated then that she had entered Red China.

But it was not known definitely until she was returned suddenly yesterday by Chinese authorities.

Free-Wheeling Baboon Caught

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two young baboons jumped across rooftops, through trees and into yards, then fell victim to a tranquilizer gun, after a three-day spree.

Baboons

The animals—2-year-old Avok and Solearas—escaped Friday from the home of Steve Kallestad, who works as a biochemical specialist for a Los Aneges laboratory, officers said.

While free, the two male baboons dined on neighbors' shrubbery, chewed pine cones and chased each other across rooftops—until cornered on a red tile roof in the neighborhood.

A veterinarian from the Griffith Park Zoo, using the special gun, subdued the baboons yesterday, officials said.

Another Saturday Night In Watts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Violence erupted anew early yesteral youths fighting in the street. of last August's Negro rioting — when about 20 persons attacked to sheriff's deputies trying to stop a street brawl.

Authorities immediately labeled it as "just another Saturday night disturbance."

"Get Whitey," chanted a few persons in the predominantly Negro crowd as deputies Raymond Stewart, 25, and Ronald Dowling, 31, tried to separate several youths fighting in the street.

The two deputies were roughed up in the melee as a crowd of about 100 persons gathered around them. The crowd dispersed at the sound of sirens from additional law enforcement vehicles summoned to the scene by a Negro former sheriff's reserve officer.

Authorities said the Negro bystanders had used the car radio of the to besieged deputies to call aid.

Unlike the chain reaction of violence that exploded last August when to white officers tried to arrest a Negro drunken driving suspect, the distrubance yesterday had no after effects.

Booked on suspicion of felony assault on a law enforcement officer were Willie B. Rucker, 24, his brother, Harrison, 25, and their father, Willie M., 46.

Stewart and Dowling were treated for bruises, cuts and bites before they were released from a local hospital.

Th two deputies said some of the persons in the crowd shouted vulgarities at them while others hit and kicked them and threw things at them.

In last summer's disturbance, more than 30 persons were killed and 4,000 were arrested The rioting ended when California National Guardsmen were called in to assist law enforcement officers.

Lightning Strikes Tank, Ignites Supply Of Oil

COALINGA (AP) — Lightning ignited an oil tank yesterday, destroying 14,500 barrels of high grade lubricant and threatening 101,000 more barrels and a pumping station.

The fire, which started at 3 p.m., still was blazing today.

Hit was a tank holding 10,000 barrels at a holding station owned by Tidewater Oil Co. Blazing oil, boiling out of the first tank, spread to another holding 4,500 barrels.

During the boilover, one volunteer fireman broke his leg, the West Side Fire District lost several thousand feet of hose and a $30,000 bulldozer was ruined.

Pat Niessen of Coalinga, the injured fireman, was one of many who had to run for their lives when the oil boiled out of the tank and spread rapidly on the ground. Although not burned he broke his right leg below the knee. No one else was injured.

The lost bulldozer had been employed in trying to build a dike to hold back spreading oil.

California's Water Need Is Previewed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A preview of federal-state efforts to solve California's water needs in the next 20 years was released in a report during the weekend.

The report resented by the California state-federal interagency group listed 200 water development projects under consideration to meet the state's growing water consumption rage. The group is composed of the Department of Water Resources, the Bureau of Reclamation, the Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Conservation Service.

Of the $9 billion worth of projects listed, some were already under consideration while others either have been authorized or were being studied.

Water Resources Director William E. Warne, chairman of the four-agency organization, said the major water problems facing California can be solved only through coordination of all agencies concerned.

"All members of the group are agreed that California's water resource problems can no longer be solved through piecemeal approaches," he said. He added that the report was the first attempt to ummarize the water development projects of each member agency.

"The $9.2 billion estimated as the cost of water development for the next 20 years is about four times the total spent in California by the four agencies in the last 20 years," he said.

Red Crisis Is Seen Over Aid To Hanoi

MOSCOW (UPI) —The Soviet has taken the first step toward a possible showdown with Peking over alleged delays of Russian aid to North Viet Nam moving across Communist China, informed sources said today.

This seemed to be the intent, the sources said, of a secret memorandum being circulated among the Soviet Union's 12 million rank and file party members accusing the Red Chinese of sabotaging its Hanoi aid efforts.

The document marks the first time the Kremlin has officially acknowleged reports widely circulated in the West that Peking was obstructing the flow of war materials and Soviet specialists to the North Vietnamese regime.

Red China has denied the Russian accusations and countercharged that the Kremlin was conspiring with American to "peddle the Johnson Administration peace talks hoax."

The Kremlin memorandum also charges the Chinese with refusing to participate in a worldwide Communist movement to aid North Viet Nam and ith rejecting appeals to put aside their differences in the face of escalating "American imperialism" in Viet Nam.

Negroes At Base Want Jobs, Food

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A group of plantation Negroes, lugging blankets and clothing, moved into the deactivated Greenville Air Force Base today and demanded food, jobs and land.

Their action caught base guards by surprise and law enforcement officers couldn't decide whether federal, county or city police had jurisdiction.

"We are here because we are hungry and cold and we have no jobs or land," the Negroes said in a statement. "We don't want charity. We are willing to work for ourselves if given a chance."

Greenville police, sheriff's deputies and FBI agents rushed to the base, which ended operations last March.

Officers said about 35 persons were inside a one-story building near the main gate. A spokesman for the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, a civil rights group, said there were 54 in the group.

Civil rights forces said the move grew out of a meeting attended by some 700 Negroes over the weekend at the Mount Beaulah Center near Jackson operated by the National Council of Churches' Delta Ministry.

At a meeting, a "poor people's conference" was launched to ask for land, money and the buildings on the base.

In a statement today, the conference said:

"We are at the Greenville Air Force Base because it is federal property and there are hundreds of empty houses and buildings. We need those houses and the land. We could be trained for jobs in the buildings."

The City of Greenville owns all of the base except 13 acres and had leased the land to the government for use as a base. However, the government leased back a portion to the city for use as an airport and for a Manpower Development Act training school.

Keys District Appointment Is Expected

Jack H. West Sr., chairman of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District Board, has found someone who is willing to serve the remaining two years of his term.

James L. Zoeller of 53 Montego Key said today he will accept appointment to the board. He did not know when West would resign, but believes that it will be prior to the district election April 12.

Zoeller is a lithographer for American Can Co. in San Francisco.

Jack H. West Jr., also on the board, called Zoeller last week to ask if he would be willing to serve. The board can choose men on its own authority to fill vacancies.

The Wests, developers of Bel Marin Keys, have served on the three-member board since the district was created in 1961.

There has never been an election. Term of the third member, Lerona West, Jack H. West Sr.'s wife, will expire April 12. Roger A. Hicks of 49 Montego Key already has announced he will be a candidate for Mrs. West's post.

The new Republic of Zambia is about twice the size of Colorado.

Shop Center Annex Plea Is Protested

A public meeting will be held tomorrow by the Terra Linda Community Services District Board to protest a request by developers for annexation of the 50-acre Lucas Green Shopping Center to the City of San Rafael.

Melvin Warenback, chairman, said the district had filed for a postponement of a public hearing on the annexation scheduled Thursday by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

He said the developers want the land annexed to San Rafael for zoning purposes. "The whole economy of this district," he declared, "has been based since its inception on the inclusion of this land.

"The meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the community building will inform the citizens that their tax structure may be affected. Money from this land has been brought in to help pay for the services we provide."

Warenback said that, if allowed, the annexation could lead to "serious ramifications." Land could be given to, or taken from cities and county districts resulting in assessment changes, he said.

Silverthorne Attorney Asks Mistrial Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The bank fraud trial of Don C. Silverthorne went into its fifth week today with another argument for a mistrial because of publicity.

Silverhorne's attorney, George C. Martinez, has contended from the beginning that it is impossible for his client to get a fair trial because of unfavorable publicity.

On numerous occasions durthe proceedings, he has moved in the chambers of U.S. District Judge Charles L. Powell for a mistrial on the grounds of the previous day's newspaper stories.

The judge has instructed the jury of seven women and five men not to read stories about Silverthorne or to get information about him from any other source than the courtroom.

Offshore Oil Boundaries Delineated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today spelled out the details of California land boundaries as a follow-up to an earlier decision establishing the federal government's claim to multi-million dollar offshore oil lands.

The case, which involves a dispute between the Justice Department and the state, has been shuttled through the courts for the past 20 years.

On May 17, 1965, the court, rejected all but one of California's claims on the ground that international law governs the situation. Under this test, the United States won all disputed areas except Monterey Bay. Today's decree carries out the law laid down in the opinion.

The court inserted language sought by California defining "bays" and where the various boundary lines may be drawn for "inland waters" in the Port of San Pedro, Crescent City Harbor and Monterey Bay.

The court said "the following are not historic land waters and do not comprise inland waters except to the extent that they may be enclosed by lines for inland waters."

The court observed that the federal government retains jurisdiction over all submerged lands on continental shelves beyond the three-mile limit.

NORMAN R. BARNETT
Seeks second term

Incumbents Take Out Corte Madera Papers

The three Corte Madera town councilmen whose terms expire in April have taken out nomination papers at the town hall to seek new terms. They are Mayor Edward W. Colthurst and councilmen Albert E. Kogler and Norman R. Barnett.

Colthurst, 56, who lives at 480 Montecito Drive, has served eight years on the council, four of them as mayor. Before election to the council, he served three years on the town planning commission.

He said he is seeking re-election "with the thought that the knowledge and experience I have gained should be offered to the voters of Corte Madera."

He said that despite Corte Madera's growth, the town is "still just more than half-way to realizing its full potential." Large areas east of Highway 101 are still to be developed, he noted.

Kogler, 50, who lives at 10 Echo Avenue, has also been on the council eight years. He served as mayor for one year.

Kogler cited the present "progressive government in Corte Madera. We have accomplished a lot and there are still a number of projects I would like to see through," he said.

He said the council must place emphasis on getting "all-around" recreation program back into the town. At present, he said, Corte Madera buys its recreation from Larkspur. The town should have its own program, he said.

Barnett, who lives at 25 Stag Hound Passage, Corte Madera, was elected in 1962 and is seeking his second term. He was unavailable for comment today.

Allen, is a retired Navy commander and served throughout World War II and the Korean conflict as a ship repair officer.

He has lived since 1946 at 131 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, in Ross, San Rafael lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the Ross Volunteer Fire Department, and the American Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers.

Jones, 40, a realty broker and appraiser, is a partner in the realty firm of Farrington Jones and Son In San Anselmo.

He was elected for a four-year term on the council in 1962 and has also served as a member of the Town of Ross Citizens Advisory Committee and as a director of the Town of Ross Property Owners Assn.

Jones is a member and was secretary for eight years of the Marin County Real Estate Board. He belongs to the American Rights of Way Assn. and is a life member of the Marin County Historical Society. He and his family live at 20 Olive Avenue.

Water Board Contest First In Eight Years

With three candidates taking out papers for two positions on the North Marin County Water District Board, the district will hold its first election in eight years on March 28.

Terms of Frank Baccaglio and William Jonas expire and both have taken out papers. Attorney Joseph A. Forest of 543 McClay Road, also has taken out papers.

Since 1958, there has not been a contest in the district and members have been reappointed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Baccaglio, 60, has been on the board since the water district was organized in 1949. He was born and still lives at 1522 South Novato Boulevard.

He has long been active in civic affairs. He is a member of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board. He is a member of the Novato Grove of Druids.

William Jonas, owner of the Roger Wilco supermarkets in Novato and Petaluma, has been on the water board since 1960, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Richard O'Connell. He was reappointed in 1962 when there was no opposition in the election.

He has been in business in Novato since 1950. He is a member of the Novato Rotary Club, Novato Grove of Druids, and Indian Valley Golf Club.

He and his wife, Adele, with their two daughters, live at 1522 Indian Valley Road.

Forest, 33, is a native of Seattle, Wash. He was graduated from the naval academy at Anapolis, Md., in 1955 and spent four years as an intelligence officer in the Navy. He was graduated from Stanford Law School in 1962 and spent the next two years as a legal officer with the State Division of Highways. He entered private practice in San Rafael and is now on the staff of the county counsel.

He and his wife, Susan, have three daughters.

diplomatic contacts which would be kept secret.

Hanoi's response, he said, had been to denounce the whole effort as a fraud.

The United States apparently has resumed the bombing of North Viet Nam at about the same level at which the air war started last February.

One knowledgeable source said "we're easing in gently."

The Navy and Air Force raiders which struck today, ending a 37-day lull, hit targets above the demilitarized zone between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam in the same area where the first strikes were mounted last February.

The targets around Vinh and Dong Hoi were the same order as the early targets — bridges, ferries, storage areas and the north-south Highway 1.

It is known that there was some inclination at the State Department to lower the level of the air war and limit it strictly to the infiltration routes when the strikes resumed.

Hanoi has been exempt from bombing so far.

Communist China said today North Vietnamese gunners shot down five U.S. planes and hit a number of others during renewed bombing raids.

The claim was made in a new China News Agency dispatch from Hanoi. It followed a Peking charge that the United States had "recklessly resumed" bombing of the north after the "utter failure of its 'peace hoax'."

Moscow Radio said the renewed raids "unmasked the hyprocricy of the 'peaceful offensive,' so called," and promised that "the Soviet Union is rendering and will render aid to the fraternal people of North Viet Nam."

The President's resumption of the bombing brought a Republican call for universal draft, higher taxes and wartime controls over the economy.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who had advocated a continued pause in the bombing said:

"I fully appreciate the difficulty and the agony of the decision which was his, and his alone, to make," Mansfield said.

ALFRED J. AZEVEDO
Tiburon candidate

Mrs. Parnell, Azevedo Plan To Run

Incumbent councilman Jacqueline A. Parnell and San Francisco educator Alfred J. Azevedo have become the second and third candidates to take out nomination papers for the Tiburon city council in the April 12 election.

Councilman Fred C. Hannahs had earlier taken out papers. His term and those of Mrs. Parnell and Anne Ellingwood expire.

Mrs. Parnell was appointed to the council on May 10, 1965, after Councilman Leo Souza resigned. She ran sixth in the June 2, 1964, incorporation and council election.

Mrs. Parnell, 36, said she is running "because the city is still feeling its way and I believe there will be many important planning matters during the next four years that will determine what kind of community Tiburon will be in the next 20 years. . . .

"I think we can have a fine community without its being one we can't afford to live in. I would like to continue on the council to fight for an efficient city government guided by intelligent conservation."

Mrs. Parnell is secretary of the Tiburon Peninsula coordinating council, a charter member of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, and is active in the Reed School District Parent-Teachers Club, and the Belveron Guild of Sunny Hills. She lives at 8 Filipe Court with her husband, Edward T., a captain with the Tiburon fire department, and their two sons and daughter.

Azevedo, 53, principal of Pacific Heights Adult School in San Francisco, was a member of the Tiburon Fire District Commission from 1952 to 1958. He was a member of the Reed School District Board from 1957 to 1960, when he resigned for a year's trip to Europe.

Azevedo said he is running for council "because I'm interested in efficient government and as a 15-year resident of Tiburon I feel I can speak for some of the older residents of this new city.

"I also want to see some action taken on parks and recreation. And of course, we're all concerned about our taxes."

Azevedo, a captain in World War II, lives with his wife, Margaret, a member of the Marin County Planning Commission, and son and daughter, at 1877 Centro West Street.

The population of the United States increases an average of one person every 12 seconds.

The whole 2nd Corps area was under the lash of Air Force attack and U.S. destroyers pounded Viet Cong concentration sectors.

Air control reported that the destroyer Bache apparently hit a fuel or ammunition dump. Seven secondary explosions were set off and huge clouds of black smoke were seen.

In heavy weekend fighting, military authorities said a large Red force wiped out a government militia unit and a relief force 55 miles south of the U.S. air base at Da Nang.

A small unit of U.S. Special Forces men with the militia suffered heavy casualties, authorities said. A second relief force that searched the area said all members of the two government units were killed, wounded or missing. There was no casualty estimate.

The 1st Cavalry last encountered the North Vietnamese 325th Division two months ago in the bloody battle of Ia Drang Valley, about 110 miles west of Bong Son. The cavalry lost 270 killed and 600 wounded in that encounter but claimed an estimated 1,300 Communist dead.

About 25 miles north of the cavalry sweep, B-52 bombers from Guam hit Red positions where U. S. Marines were pressing a massive amphibious assault begun last Friday. The landing was described as the biggest amphibious operation since the Inchon landing in Korea. News of it was withheld until yesterday for security reasons.

Out for Assembly nod

Assemblyman Young To Run For Senate

Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Solano and Napa, today kicked off his campaign to oppose State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, with a personal visit to Marin.

"I am encouraged by the great support indicated for me in Marin County," said Young. He added that as yet, he has heard of no one else who is thinking of opposing him for the Democratic nomination.

The 41-year-old Napa attorney was accompanied on the Marin visit by San Rafael attorney Robert I. Conn, who was Young's classmate at Boalt School of Law.

Young has represented Napa and Solano counties in the State Assembly for four years. He is now running for the Democratic nomination from the Fourth Senatorial District, comprising Marin, Solano and Napa.

He won his bachelor's and master's degrees at Stanford University. At Stanford, he was twice nominated as a Rhodes Scholar, and in 1951 went to Oxford University on a Fulbright Scholarship. After returning from England, he won his law degree from Boalt Hall of University of California in 1956.

He is a veteran flying officer of the Pacific Theater during World War II.

Young began his political career in 1960 as campaign manager for the late Sen. Samuel R. Geddes of Napa. He received Senator Geddes' support in his bid for the Assembly in 1962. This year, he has the endorsement of Sen. Luther E. Gibson of Solano, who is retiring.

During his two terms in the Legislature, Young was one of two assemblymen to serve on the California Arts Commission. In his second term, he was named chairman of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

Recently he completed extensive hearings on the Watts riot and recommended new legislation in the field of arson and criminal justice. He plans to introduce an entire series of bills in the field of law enforcement.

Young has been lauded by the California Teachers Assn. for his work in behalf of schools in California.

On Wednesday night, Young will appear with Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the Walter Cronkhite television program (6:30 p.m., channel 5) to discuss politics.

Youth's Body Found In Auto

Marin County sheriff's deputies early this morning found the body of Benjamine Mohandras Ehreth, 19, of 792 St. Francis Avenue, Novato, in an automobile parked on Novato Boulevard west of Novato.

Asst. County Coroner William C. Bradley said the death was a suicide.

Deputies Weldon Travis and Richard Borba found the body in the car at 12:30 a.m. A hose had been run from the exhaust pipe to the front seat, asphyxiating Ehreth, Bradley reported.

The youth had been despondent over losing a motorcycle race at Point Arena yesterday, according to Bradley.

Fish Hatchery Funds Proposed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown said today he will propose $1.6 million in his 1966-67 budget for modernizing and expanding the state's fish hatchery system.

The program, Brown said, would be part of a project to greatly increase the supply of catchable trout and other fish.

The funds would come from the $5 million set aside in the $150 million State Beach, Park, Recreation and Historical Facilities Bond Act, approved by the voters in 1964.

Party Service On Way Out

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has taken steps to eliminate phone service in Marshall and the surrounding area.

The company filed an application with the California Public Utilities Commission Friday asking that mileage charges be eliminated on one, two and four-party services. The existing charges, the company said, have resulted in residence subscribers taking 10-party service at $2.90 a month. There are no mileage charges on this service, which is to be dropped.

The proposed rates for the new mileage-free area on one, two and four-party service are $5.20, $4.05 and $3.20 respectively.

PROBLEM IN WOODACRE A TRIFLE ODORIFEROUS

A skunk has taken over a Woodacre home, forcing the tenants to leave and posing a ticklish problem for the landlord's representative.

Bard Clow of 45 Rockridge Road, Woodacre, said he has complained to the county health department, agricultural commissioner and humane society with no results.

"One department simply refers you to another and you end up with an empty bag," Clow said.

He is managing the home for James David, who is in New York this year on a teaching job. Last week Al Chelinie, his wife and baby moved out of the house after finding the skunk in a cabinet under the kitchen sink.

"It seems to be living in the kitchen cabinets," Clow said. He said he is not sure whether there is just one skunk or a family of skunks.

Two months ago he got an exterminator to visit the home. The skunk vanished, but only temporarily. Clow said he has tried to get the exterminator to return to finish the job, but that has proved a difficult thing to do.

So far no one has been squirted by the skunk, but Clow thinks it's high time he raised a stink about it.

Gun Collector Put In Jail After Threat

A Sausalito gun collector was captured in his truck minutes after he allegedly held a gun on a rookie police officer and threatened to kill him Saturday evening.

Alfred T. Domergue, 49, of 323 Pine Street, was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon on a Sausalito police officer who was discharging his duty.

Police were called at 5:44 p.m. by Mrs. Domergue, who said her husband was fighting with her. Patrolman Brian Newlon was dispatched in a patrol car.

When 21-year-old Newlon, who has been on the force only five months, arrived at the scene, Mrs. Domergue met him outside to say her husband had a gun and threatened to shoot her. Newlon radioed police headquarters for "cover," and Patrolmen Thomas Cain and Michael Keilman were dispatched.

As they arrived, Domergue opened the door with gun in hand and threatened Newlon. Cain related. For several minutes, he stood in the doorway confronting Newlon, who was on the porch. Finally, he slammed the door, dashed through the house and out the back way and drove away on Bonita Street in his truck. Cain and Keilman pursued him.

"Newlon in his car blocked off the south side of the street, and my car blocked from the rear," Cain continued.

Cain said the officers asked Domergue to "give up," but he kept brandishing a .38-caliber revolver.

"Keilman crawled up the sidewalk, opened the passenger side, jumped in and got him," Cain said.

Domergue's revolver was unloaded, but there were shells in the glove compartment, Cain said. "He has a gun collection in his house."

Domergue was booked at Marin County jail on the charge and released under $2,200 bail. He is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court for arraignment at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

SIGN OF A STAR

Paul Peterson, star of television's Donna Reed Show, takes time out from dancing with the girls in San Rafael Saturday to sign an autograph for enthralled teenager Janie Cannedy. Peterson was special guest at a dance at San Rafael High School which raised nearly $600 for this year's Marin Chapter campaign for the March of Dimes. Brown Asks More Acreage For Tamalpais State Park

Addition of 4,796 acres, and four and one-half miles of ocean frontage, to Tamalpais State Park was requested Saturday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The purchase was turned down last year by the State Legislature. Brown requested the funds in a message listing park acquisitions statewide, calling for spending the last of the park bond money approved by the voters in 1964.

He had said earlier he would repeat his request for the Tamalpais Park money this year.

The long list of requests includes several additions of redwood groves in northern California. The largest ones along the coast would add 1,000 acres to the Avenue of the Giants along Highway 101 in Humboldt County, and another 1,000 acres and four miles of beach frontage to the Del Norte Redwoods State Park just south of Crescent City.

A 1,734-acre addition was requested for Calaveras Big Tree State Park about 25 miles east of Angels Camp, for 600 new camping units.

Purchase of 995 acres of private land to give public access to Montgomery Woods State Reserve, 15 miles west of Ukiah, was also asked.

Drug Effects To Be Checked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Records of some 200,000 persons will be checked in a study concerning the side effects of medical drugs.

Kaiser Foundation Health Plan in Oakland and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration announced the study yesterday.

At first the study will concern the persons covered by the prepayment health plan in San Francisco, San Mateo and Marin counties. Eventually it may involve more than a million patients and the 600 physicians in the 15 Kaiser hospitals.

No experimental dugs will be checked but the study will concern others ranging from aspirin to antibiotics, those currently in standard use at hospitals.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The rosary will be recited tonight at the bier of Michael J. Quill, the Irish immigrant who rose from a ticket taker on the New York subway system to the president of the Transport Workers Union. Quill died Friday.

Medicare Sign-Up Rate Increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Social Security officials today reported a sharp rise in the number of old people signing up for Medicare insurance against doctors' bills.

The weekly enrollment rate for the optional insurance, known as "Part B" of the Medicare program, has quadrupled since late December.

Time is running out. Eligible oldsters have exactly two more months, until March 31, to sign up for coverage. After the deadline passes, they'll have to wait two years to get in.

WASHINGTON SNOWSTORM — Falling flakes blanket the Capitol Building in the District of Columbia, as midweek storms beginning Wednesday dumped more than a foot of snow into surrounding states, and tumbled temperatures to below freezing in 32 states by the weekend. The snow-softened outlines of the historic building are framed by the iron grillwork of a covered rest shelter in the Capitol plaza.

BALTIMORE STREETS MUFFLED—There was mighty little traffic in Baltimore, Md., during last week's 14-state snowstorm, but plenty of cars parked at curbside, thickly coated by the seven-plus inches of white precipitation. Throughout the middle Atlantic seaboard, traffic was snarled; schools closed in many areas, and federal and state workers were urged to stay home for the duration of the storm.

More Parochial Schools Slated For TB Testing

Dates for tuberculin testing of students at three more Marin parochial schools were announced today by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Students at Saint Patrick's School, Larkspur, and the Blessed Sacrament School, Santa Venetia, will be tested March 7. On March 21, students of the Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato will be tested.

Since the testing program was started in February of 1963 by the County Health Department and the tuberculosis association, 8,172 school children have been tested, and 113 of them have been found infected with tuberculosis germs, according to Helane Anderson of the association.

Elementary school children in the Mill Valley School District will be tested on Feb. 7, she said.

NEW ROAD EXTENDS NOVATO TO RIVER

Earth moving equipment at the Bahia Marin subdivision in Novato has cut a road, as yet unnamed, from Bugeia Lane at the bottom of the picture through hills to the benched lots and lagoon of the 1,200-acre development. At the top can be seen the Petaluma River, with a canal letting water in to the lagoon. In all, the subdivision will have 1,600 house lots, 36 acres of apartments, 11 acres for a shopping center, 450 acres of water and 366 acres of greenbelt, mainly the wooded hillsides in the center of the picture. Mrs. Kennedy Talks With Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy talked for 15 minutes today with Pope Paul VI at a private audience in the pontiff's study in the Apostolic Palace.

It was Mrs. Kennedy's first audience with Pope Paul, whom she had met when he was in New York last fall to address the United Nations. She was received in audience in 1962 by the late Pope John XXIII.

She came here on a private visit last Friday from Switzerland. She wore a black dress and black veil. She is visiting the Spanish ambassador to the Vatican, Antonio Garrigues y Diaz Canabate, who formerly was Spanish ambassador to the United States.

Warburg Quits Plan Commission

Felix M. Warburg, chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission, today submitted his resignation, ending five and one-half years on the commission.

Warburg, an architect and resident of San Anselmo, said "responsibilities of my professional career now require all of my time."

He concluded in a letter to the board of supervisors that it would be best for the county, the commission and the new planning director if he resigned now and "allow a new chairman to start work with the new director."

Planning Director Paul Zucker attended his first commission meeting today. Warburg was absent.

Warburg said the county has progressed by realizing the need for professional guidance in planning.

"There have been some failures also. We have moved much too slowly, and in such cases as Marincello, in the wrong direction, I feel," he continued.

"The need for new towns, at the right time and the right place, cannot be denied. Instead we have approved a well publicized and thinly disguised land subdivision, which I strongly feel is a wrong use of land, at the wrong time and the wrong place."

Warburg and commissioners Hugh Dougherty and William F. Upton were opposed to Marincello.

Secretary Eugene R. Trombley conducted today's planning commission meeting in the absence of Warburg and vice chairman Margaret Azevedo.

Stops Itch — Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®.

In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to Take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Suspicion Actually Has Virtue When It Comes To Bridge Play

The man who thinks well of his fellow creatures is admirable, but I don't want him as my bridge partner.

Give me the partner who thinks ill of the opponents and gives them every chance to live up to his estimate of them.

SOUTH'S ATTITUDE

When this hand was played South was a believer in minding his own business.

He won the first heart trick, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then went after the diamonds.

South hoped that the jack of diamonds would drop or that each opponent would hold three diamonds for then he would be able to get rid of a club on dummy's fourth diamond.

Ast it happened, the diamonds did not break favorably.

South had to give up a spade and a club. Down one.

NO HURRY

There's no way of being sure, but South would probably make the slam if he remembered that the opponents were human beings.

There was no need to hurry the play of the diamonds.

South should lead out his top trumps, cash the other top heart and then give West his trump trick at once — before touching the diamonds.

West cannot tell whether to return a club or a diamond.

The club return would be fatal if South held K-J or K-10; the diamond return, if South held Q-10.

This makes it appear that the club lead is twice as dangerous as the diamond lead.

If West happens to return a club, South has lost nothing.

He can still try out the diamonds, and in the meantime he has given West the chance to make the wrong guess.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♥ A J
♦ Q 10 4
♣ K 8 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is a trifle too strong for an opening bid of one no-trump since you have not only the maximum count of 18 points but also a strong five-card suit.

Stocks Fall, Except For Aerospace Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed irregularly lower today in fairly active trading.

Aerospace stocks were strong in early trading after the U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam were renewed but lost some of their edge later. Boeing erased a gain of 6, showed a small loss then rebounded a few points.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.1 million shares compared with 9 million Friday.

The aerospace defense stocks spurted on news that U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam had been resumed but the over-all list was uncertain.

Boeing ran up 6 points and Douglas Aircraft gained more than 2. United Aircraft held a fractional gain. General Dynamics erased a small gain and took a small loss.

American Motors loomed as the most-active stock, opening on a delayed block of 60,000 shares and extending a fractional rise to a full point on word that Detroit industrialist Robert B. Evans had bought more than 200,000 shares of the stock.

Lehn & Fink was a 6-point gainer on word that Sterling Drug had made an offer for the stock. Sterling slipped fractionally.

American Telephone was fractionally lower as it slid to a new low of 59¾ as the investigation of its rate structure was awaited.

Sperry Rand sank ⅞ to 18⅛ on a block of 87,000 shares, pared the loss, and was among the top volume leaders.

Gold-mining stocks rallied as U.S. gold holdings declined. American South African Investment rose 3, Dome Mines more than a point, Homestake nearly a point.

Fairchild Camera gained 3, IBM, Control Data and U.S. Gypsum 1 each.

Zenith erased a loss exceeding a point and was up well over 2 points on news of a 100 per cent stock dividend.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading. U.S. Treasury bonds retreated nearly across the board, apparently in reaction to the Treasury's new offering of 4⅞ and 5 per cent notes.

Income Rises

LOS ANGELES—Net income of International Pope and Ceramics Corp. rose 19 per cent to $6,441,000, or $2.57 per common share, after allowance for preferred dividends, from $5,423,000, or $2.02 per common share in 1964. Revenue rose 6 per cent to a record level of $127,316,000, up from $119,820,000 in 1964.

INCOME TAX FACTS

There Are Some Persons Who Need Not File Return

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

P. J. Wikel

What is self-employment income?

Self-employment income is the net profit, that is, the gross receipts minus the costs, of your business of $400 or more.

You may have more than one business. Then you add your self - employment income from all businesses.

You may be a partner in a business. Then you must include your share of the partnership income or loss in computing your net earnings for self-employment.

Wages (but not drawings) you receive from the partnership must be included, plus your share of the earnings or minus your share of the losses. If you are a member of a corporation electing not to be taxed as a corporation, you must include your share of this corporate income in your self-employment tax. All individuals engaged in a trade, business or the pursuit of a profession in any capacity, other than employees, are subject to the self-employment tax, except officials elected or appointed. Clergymen, Christian Science practitioners and members of religious orders are not subject, unless they choose to be covered. Once they have chosen to be covered, they are continuously covered.

If your wages subject to social security tax were in excess of $4,800 you are not subject to the self - employment tax on any self-employment income you may have.

Schmidt's services will encompass all phases of interior designing, furniture, carpeting, etc. He has been in the business for the past five years, working mostly from his home.

SOMETHING LIKE 40,000 people have visited the Flea Market at 943 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, since its opening last May, says owner Kay Fossey. She has recently expanded this business to take over the entire building here—upstairs, downstairs—and outdoors in front on Sundays. Newest addition to regular stocks of used furniture and antiques is a supply of "nearly new" women's apparel.

Duffy To Advise Steps Foundation

Clinton T. Duffy, former San Quentin Prison warden and member of the State Adult Authority, has been appointed national adviser to the Seven Step Foundation.

The foundation works with ex-convicts, seeking keep them straight and reduce the incidence of return to prison.

Duffy has been a director of the foundation since its establishment in California last August. In his new full-time position, he will travel throughout the country assisting in establishment of foundation branches in other states.

The three-year-old organization now operates in five states. In California, its members work with inmates of San Quentin and the California Institution for Men at Chino.

Pre-parole classes are held for volunteers in both prisons. After release, the men receive continuing advice and assistance from foundation staff members, all of them former convicts who have been successful on the outside.

Of the 15 men who have joined the program in California since August, only four have returned to prison, compared with a usual rate of return of 60 per cent, according to Jim O'Toole, foundation executive.

Duffy, now in New York, has recently sold his Greenbrae home and will live at 2116 Golden Rain Road at Leisure World, near Walnut Creek.

He will speak Sunday at a public meeting of the foundation at 2 p.m. in Nourse Auditorium, Hayes and Franklin streets, San Francisco.

More Teaching Time To Teachers Asked

Volunteer helpers for teachers should not make the job of a teacher easier, Ross School Supt. William W. Monahan said Saturday at a meeting of teachers and volunteers at the College of Marin.

He said the aides should relieve the teacher so she will have time to teach, and not be bothered with housekeeping chores.

"Unfortunately," he complained, "some teachers have made a security blanket out of correcting papers and collecting milk money and cutting out letters for the bulletin board. These people should probably quit being teachers and become teacher aides."

Monahan's speech closed the conference on "the school, the teacher and the volunteer." He called for a program to greatly increase the use of volunteers, or paid teacher aides, for schools in Marin to allow teachers to deal with children individually.

He said he felt there would have to be a coordination of a program for volunteers at the county level, and that it would cost money, but he added he was sure it would be worth it.

The central organization could, for instance, screen and assign volunteers to schools, Monahan said. Most principals probably do not want people that they have not screened themselves, working in their schools.

But most principals also don't want to have to screen a volunteer who might also be a parent of a child in the school, the superintendent explained.

The speech came after conferees had been divided into groups of about 25 for discussion sessions, during which problems of using volunteers in schools were discussed.

Notes from the discussion groups gathered by secretaries in each place indicated most school districts not now using aides were advised to start slowly, picking a good volunteer and good teacher to start with.

Various kinds of volunteers were mentioned, including tutors to give special help in a classroom, library assistants, playground monitors and specialists who might come a few times a year to speak to a class or give a demonstration of a particular subject.

A diversified program will allow use of almost any volunteer in some job, so few would have to be turned away, said Mrs. Violet Smith, in charge of school resource volunteers for the Berkeley Unified School District.

Monahan said teachers now spend 90 per cent of their teaching time conducting classes. He said that other equally important functions are being neglected: Getting to know students and their individual needs, providing the appropriate instruction for each student and evaluating the job that has been done.

No Filibuster End In Sight On Union Shop Law Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today goes into its second week of the union shop battle with neither side ready to budge from its position.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his only plan for now was to keep before the Senate his motion to bring up the bill which would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his forces would maintain their filibuster which has prevented a vote even on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Foes of the repeal bill estimated they had enough speakers lined up to keep the filibuster going for several weeks, if necessary, against even the motion to make it the Senate's pending business.

Before the fight began a week ago today, Mansfield made it clear he felt that at some point he probably would have to try to shut off the filibuster with a cloture petition.

Such a move failed last October in the first Senate floor battle over the measure. Not even the most optimistic supporter of the repealer contends that his side has the necessary two-thirds to invoke cloture at this time.

A union shop contract requires all employes covered to join a union.

Hunger Rioting Spreads In India

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Rampaging student mobs today fought a three-hour pitched battle with police in Trivandrum, capital of Communist-infested Kerala state. Police used tear gas and clubs against the rioters who threw up barricades in the streets, set fire to a bus and theater and ripped down power and communication lines.

Violence also was reported in the important northern Kerala city of Trichur. Students there blocked public vehicles and were also attacked by club-wielding and tear gas-hurling police.

It was the fourth day of hunger riots in the densely populated and impoverished state in the south of India.

Constable Gets Man, But The Hard Way

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Constable Don Smith of Midvale, Utah, served a resisting arrest warrant in Salt Lake City, but it wasn't easy.

Police said Smith's man provoked a fist fight with him, threatened to throw a fire extinguisher at him, swung an ax at him and took him for a cross-town ride in the bed of his pick-up truck before surrendering. Smith returned to his own car to find it damaged by vandals.

Sailor, Boy Lost In Surf

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Coast Guard Sunday called off a search for the bodies of a boy and sailor who drowned in churning surf near famed Seal Rock.

The boy, identified as Mario Forstein, 13, San Francisco, fell into the ocean Saturday from the side of a steep bluff where he had been playing with four other youngsters.

Stephen Hung, 18, Fremont a sailor stationed at Treasure Island, was one of three sailors who went to the youth's aid. As two of the Navy men climbed back up the sheer cliffside to get help, a wave swept both the boy and Hung off a rock to which they were clinging.

FOR RESORT AND EARLY SPRING TRAVEL

Instant elegance for early spring is this coat, left, of pure wool by Brittany. Meticulous silhouette is achieved by shaped front seams, lean set-in sleeves and cleanly spliced notch collar. Flapped patch pockets highlight bodice. The fashion finesse of pure wool is seen in this two-piece dress, center, designed by Jacques Tiffeau. Newly buttoned, short-sleeved bodice skims the figure and stops just short of dirndl gathers on a horizontally pieced skirt. At right, a festive gown, designed with dancing in mind, is of pure naked wool in new softly defined stepping, demi-longeur length by Teal Triana. Waist is softly defined by gathers and narrow belt of matching fabric is gracefully bowed at one side.

Cardin's Nude Look An Undercover Idea

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PARIS (AP) It was what the models didn't wear that made the fashion news at the packed Pierre Cardin spring collection opening Friday.

What they didn't wear was underwear.

What they did wear were jersey shifts, bicolored suits, colored stockings, square hats, blue and green wigs and peephole dresses.

A record crowd that left more than 100 persons outside the door witnessed the daredevil designer's "Nude Woman" collection opening.

SEVERAL CAMERAS were confiscated from guests by representatives of the house. Photographs of Cardin's collection, as well as all members of the Chambre Syndicale, are forbidden as a measure against design piracy.

Every eye was trained on each model, from the first in bicolored leather shifts to the demure bride in lacy white folds, for signs of undress. In their long parade from one showroom to another, the pretty misses often halted to answer candidly such questions as "What holds up your colored stockings?"

THE ANSWER: A garter girdle, the maximum in unmentionables that Cardin will permit.

Still, there was not the nude look the title of the designer's collection suggested. Shifts that skimmed natural curves were made of hardy stuff like wool jersey, leather, heavy crepe. Even the sheer fabrics doubled over opaque ones that hampered the view.

THERE WAS plenty of leg exposure—six inches above the knee on some costumes.

There was midriff bareness with boleros hanging loosely and shortly over the skirts cut low on the hipbone. And there was shoulder bareness on dresses with harness type necklines, or halters worn backward. But this kind of undress is now practically universal in the fashion world.

The presidents of the Marin County Federated Women's Clubs are to be honored guests at this Guest Day program.

At 11 a.m. the executive board will meet, followed by a business meeting at 1 p.m.

'Need More Girls In Field' Says Leading Woman Doctor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women make whizzbang doctors. The only trouble, there aren't enough of them in the profession.

So says Dr. Margaret Jane Schneider, the new president of the American Medical Women's Assn. (AMWA), the world's oldest organization of women physicians.

SHE'S SPEARHEADING a campagn to get more women into the medical field. There are only 15,249 female physicians in the United States, she said. "Only six per cent of all U.S. physicians," she added. "In Russia, oddly enough, 80 per cent of all physicians are women."

Dr. Schneider, in private life the wife of Joseph W. Austin, a certified life underwriter of Cincinnati, Ohio, plans to take to the lecture circuit to get more girls into medicine.

"MANY GIRLS of high school age decline a medical career because they believe that marriage and subsequent motherhood would abruptly end their careers, due to absence from practice," she said. Her answer — dozen of medical schools offer refresher courses in medicine and specialization.

Additional information is available in publications from the AMWA. And, she added, proper counseling, adequate knowledge as to where to go to receive scholarships, grants and financial assistance are also available at the association's numerous branches throughout the country.

Venereal Disease Problem Subject Of P-TA Meeting

The increase of venereal disease in young people will be the subject of a meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., in the Terra Linda High School cafeteria.

Miss Denning Kemp of the Marin County Health Department will review the problems in Marin, and Mrs. Joanne Foote, Terra Linda High School nurse, will present a film.

This will be a joint Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting of the Terra Linda and San Rafael High School organizations, sponsored by the Terra Linda P-TA.

Med Students Are Excused From Lectures

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twenty-five Harvard medical students say their lectures are dull and a waste of time. So they're being excused from class — and told to study on their own.

"The lecture system just doesn't work out," says Andrew Weil, 23, of Philadelphia, a second-year student at the Harvard Medical School.

"The psychological effect of sitting in a class and being lectured and 'labbed' at is to make you passive, dull, lose motivation and curiosity," he said.

TOO MANY LABS

Weil, a leader of the student group that successfully petitioned Dean Robert H. Ebert to be excused from classes for the rest of the year, said medical schools are throwing too many organized laboratory sessions and too many lectures at their medical students.

He said, "Most of the time the lectures are giving information that can be found in books, and found much quicker."

Ebert agreed to excuse the 25 from the lectures and laboratories. He said if anyone "is really going to excel at anything he must continue with his own education and a university must have the ability to stimulate a person to study in a particular field that he could only survey superficially in school."

MANY FACTS

He said students should have a chance to digest the many facts and mountains of material presented to them, that they should have a chance to catch hold of something that interests them particularly and go into it in depth. This, he said, would help develop curiosity.

The 25 students are part of a 106-member class studying pathophysiology, a combined approach to diseases and their effects on the body.

They will be divided into groups of five to devise their own learning techniques with the help of volunteer faculty advisers.

They will take the same examinations as their 81 classmates and will attend the lectures that interest them.

Ebert said Harvard has no intention of abandoning the lecture system altogether.

Achievements In Space Held Brilliant

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today that American space achievements last year were a brilliant preface to the coming years of stations in space and voyages to the planets.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said 1965 with its walk in space and the rendezvous of to manned U.S. spacecraft was the most successful year in the nation's aeronautics-space history.

"The space program of the United States today is the largest effort ever undertaken by any nation to advance the frontiers of human knowledge," the President said. "What we are discovering and building today will help solve many of the great problems which an increasingly complex and heavily populated world will face tomorrow."

The military space section of the report included this development on space surveillance: Research is under way on the best means of determining the physical characteristics of "uncooperating objects in earth orbit" through observation by ground-based radar.

And the Atomic Energy Commission's section reported that a third pair of detection satellites launched in mid-July is watching for nuclear explosions in space and is measuring X-ray emission from the sun.

In a separate chapter of the lengthy report, the National Aeronautics and Space Council noted that U.S. achievements during the year were so distinctivin quality and quantity as to cause people at home and abroad to conclude that the United States had attained world space leadership.

The council said that in many respects that conclusion as accurate.

MUSIC REVIEW

Community Concert Is Good To Ragged

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Music lovers attending the winter concert of the College of Marin's community orchestra Saturday night in the gymnasium heard some good performances from the orchestra and several soloists.

The 60-piece orchestra, directed by John H. Myers, was at its best in Bizet's "L'Arlesienne Suite No. 11" when all players seemed to be putting forth their top effort.

More colorfully orchestrated than the other numbers, the suite offered the richest sonority for tutti passages with strings, most outstanding in the intermezzo. One of the most enjoyable parts was in the minuet in the lovely duet of the flute played by Dollie Egere and harp by Melony Rogers.

Unusual was the saxophone called for in the Bizet suite — a 19th century work! It was well played by Susan Ernst.

"Epilogue" by Ernst Toch proved to be a good modern work given a sprightly performance.

Haydn's Concerto for Piano in D Major was especially interesting from the standpoint of the soloist, Marilyn Covell, since it was the first time we had heard her since she made her Marin debut in a recital under auspices of the Dominican College Music Department in November, 1962. Her performance showed much more maturity in the control of tempo and assurance of touch and manner.

The most surprising experience of the evening was hearing a group of little known songs by Chopin, an extraordinary type of composition for him, in orchestral form freely transcribed by contemporary composer Norman Dello Joio.

Only in "The Ring" and especially in the waltz, "The Wish," was the familiar lyricism of the composer heard, and emphasized by Myers. "The Lovers" sounded like something Oriental.

The opening Concerto for Orchestra in D Major by Handel suffered from some intonation difficulties and ragged attacks and releases by some instruments.

X-Ray Machine Money Drive Is Unsuccessful

The efforts of three Marin doctors to raise $1,000 for a used X-ray machine to be operated in the tuberculosis-ridden Mexican town of Zacapu have been largely unsuccessful, reported Dr. Richard S. Hahn of Belvedere.

Hahn, Dr. Michael J. Franzblau of Terra Linda and Dr. Catherine Pike of Ross have spent summers in the town giving tuberculin tests and vaccinations against whooping cough, tetanus and diptheria.

The Alliance for Health was formed by the doctors to raise enough money to purchase and ship an X-ray machine to the town so that the anti-tuberculosis campaign can be continued.

"In our recent effort we raised only $106," said Dr. Hahn today. "Of that, $100 came in a single gift, so I suppose its fair to say response hasn't been very good.

"We're going to continue to speak to various local organizations about the project though, asking if they'll help us."

Drug Addiction Conference Set

The Northern California chapter of Americans for Democratic Action, headed by Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon, will sponsor a day-long conference on "Drug Use and Addiction" at the Canterbury Hotel, 750 Sutter Street, San Francisco, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Purpose of the conference is to "re-examine" state and federal laws dealing with norcotics offenders, Mrs. Swadesh announced.

Dr. Karel Botermans, minister of the Marin Unitarian-Universalist Church, will give the summation.

Woman Hospitalized After Taking Pills

Mrs. Gloria Louise Sumner, 27, of 137 San Carlos Way, Novato, was in good condition today at Novato General Hospital after taking an overdose of barbituate pills yesterday, Novato police reported.

Her husband, Duane Smith Sumner, 28, reported to police that his wife had taken six or eight tablets about 4 p.m., following a family argument over the car.

CDC Wins Point With Democrats

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A statement favoring independence for volunteer party organizations has won approval of the state central committee of the California Federation of Young Democrats.

The committee, at its weekend convention, approved the statement yesterday after listening to Mrs. Simon Casady, wife of the president of the California Democratic Council, say:

"The issue at the CDC convention (Feb. 18-20 in Bakersfield) is not Si Casady; it is the independence of the CDC—whether the governor or any other constitutional officer runs CDC or whether CDC is to remain an independent, grass roots, issues-oriented organization."

Missing Girl, 14, Found In Hospital

Patricia Ann Thompson, 14, missing from her home at 88 Florence Avenue, San Anselmo, since Jan. 17, was found being treated for an illness, in San Francisco General Hospital Friday, San Anselmo police chief Raymond Buchignani reported.

The girl was to be released from the hospital and booked at Marin County Juvenile Hall as a runaway today, the chief said. She had been in the hospital since Tuesday, but used a different name and gave her age as 18, he said.

The car rental industry is a $400 million-a-year business.

San Quentin Workshop Chief Named

San Quentin Prison inmate Hal Waddell has been named executive director of the prison's drama workshop, replacing Rick Cluchey in the post.

Cluchey, who has held the job since 1963, stepped down in hopes of being paroled next month. He will continue in the meantime as associate director and an adviser to the group.

The changes were made by prison recreation supervisor T. L. Baker.

Waddell's first actions were to name Ron Hunter, formerly the workshop's master carpenter, as production manager, and staff artist Veat Neal, as art director. The posts had been vacant.

Waddell joined the workshop in 1964. He has apeared in six productions and directed one, "The Zoo Story." He now is directing rehearsals for "The Dumbwaiter" which will open Feb. 12.

Cluchey has been with the group since 1957. He authored "Le Cage," which was performed by the San Francisco Actor's Workshop in December. He is scheduled to go before the parole board the week of Feb. 21.

Trustees To Hear Bond Issue Report

A report on the progress of the Feb. 15 bond issue election in the Lagunitas School District will be given at a meeting of the district board tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Lagunitas School.

The election will determine whether the district shall issue $200,000 worth of bonds and borrow another $400,000 from the state for site purchase and construction of new schools.

Junior Theater Sets Story Of Aladdin

The story of Aladdin will be presented for Junior Theater of Marin on Feb. 5 at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. at Marin Country Day School, 5221 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

The play is directed by Martha Bigelow Eliot, who for 17 seasons has guided the San Francisco Players Guild.

The Sultan is played by John Brebner, who has worked with the Guild in a variety of capacities since 1959. He and his wife, Ann, were founders of the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Aladdin is played by a new addition to the guild's company, Clifford Dean, just back from two years duty in Germany with the Army where he was able to participate in theater productions.

Season tickets may be purchased at the door. If available, single seats will also be sold.

Dance Limit May Be Modified

Corte Madera town council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the recreation room of the public safety building, will discuss changing the section of the business ordinance which limits public dances in town to three every two months.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said the council, about nine months ago, discussed changing the ordinance to allow two dances a month. The matter was never acted on, he said.

The council also will be asked to call for bids on the new fire engine for which it has budgeted $27,000. Tonight's meeting was rescheduled from two weeks ago, after it was cancelled then for lack of a quorum.

When captured or kept out of water, porpoises do not thrash or struggle.

AUTO TOPS TREE—Tree in divider of Miracle Mile in San Rafael is split five feet above ground after being hit by car (right) which flew through the air after hitting a parked car Saturday just before midnight. Bystanders aid Robert L. Russell of San Anselmo and his passenger, Kathleen G. Hall of San Rafael, both injured in the crash. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Speeding Car Snaps Tree; 27 Injured In Accidents

A speeding car flew through the air to snap off a tree in the Miracle Mile divider strip in San Rafael just before midnight Saturday in the most sepctacular of 15 weekend traffic accidents reported today, which injured 27 persons.

San Rafael police reported a car driven by Albert Luigi Russell, 19, of 37 Cordone Drive, San Anselmo, eastbound on the Miracle Mile, went into a skid near Alexander Avenue. It slid sideways into a car owned by Max E. Spikes of 2066 Fourth Street, San Rafael, parked between trees in the divider strip.

60 MPH

The Russell car—which police witnesses reported was going at least 60 mph, took off after hitting the parked auto. It leaped some five feet off the ground, snapping a tree in two.

Kathleen Gertrude Hall, 17, of Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, passenger, was thrown from the car as it spun in the air. She was reported in fair condition with internal injuries today at San Rafael General Hospital.

Russell was treated for a cut head and sprained ankle at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Four persons were injured in Larkspur early yesterday when a car sped through a stop sign at Williams Avenue and Magnolia Avenue, striking two autos traveling in opposite directions on Magnolia, police reported.

Marius E. Ledebur, 14, of 22 Currey Street, Sausalito, driving without a license, failed to stop his westbound auto for a stop sign at Williams Avenue and Magnolia Avenue, police said.

His car struck first a northbound auto driven by Jack R. Padbury of 727-B Spring Street, Sausalito. Then both cars were struck by a southbound auto driven by John W. Groth of 137 King Street, Larkspur. Female passengers in all three cars struck and broke the car windshields, police said.

Teresa Ann Gira, 17, of 1411 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, whose parents lease the car driven by Ledebur, was admitted briefly to Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts and an injured left shoulder.

Jo Jennings, 20, of 280 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, a passenger in Groth's auto, was treated at Letterman General Hospital for multiple bruises.

Amy Favre, 36, of 37-B Locust Street, Larkspur, riding with Padbury, was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple bruises and a scraped right leg.

Ledebur was treated at the same hospital for a cut scalp. Police cited him for driving without a license, running a stop sign, and reckless driving which caused injury.

A two-car collision at Fifth and Lincoln avenues, San Rafael, at 9:12 yesterday, sent three persons, including a 3-year-old girl, to the hospital. None was hurt seriously.

Treated at San Rafael General Hospital were driver John K. Enos, 50, of 1303 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, for a sore leg, and his wife, Catherine Teresa Enos, 49, for painful ribs.

Catherine Annette Marie Dieli, 3, daughter of the other driver, Paula Antoinette Dieli, 29, of 29 Strawberry Circle, Strawberry, was treated for multiple bruises of her face and head at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital.

HEADED SOUTH

San Rafael police said Mrs. Dieli's car was headed south on Lincoln Avenue and Enos was headed west on Fifth Avenue. They said one of the cars must have run a stoplight.

Driving rains and a slippery roadway resulted in a score of accidents along Highway 101 Saturday.

In the Corte Madera area, at 3:15 p.m., a car driven by Pamela Serino, 21, of 19 Merrydale Road, Los Ranchitos, slid on the wet roadway into a bank and overturned about 100 feet south of the town limits, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Miss Serino suffered a sprained leg and a head bump. Her passenger, Ruth Thompson, 19, of 123 Union Street, San Rafael, suffered cuts of both feet. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

ANOTHER CAR

Moments later a car driven by Jane S. Washburn, 28, of 1288 Denlyn Street, Novato, slowed about 200 feet north of the Corte Madera town limits, for the Serino accident. A car driven by Mario A. Colombo, 47, of 267 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, slid into the rear of the Washburn car, then spun into a bank. Both Colombo and his wife, Doris, 41, were thrown from the car. He suffered chest pains, and she scrapes of her left leg. Both were treated at Marin General Hospital.

There also were two accidends along Highway 101 near the San Rafael overpass.

A car driven by Edmund P. Lencioni, 17, of 370 Via Casitas, Greenbrae, spun into the fence and guard rail about a quarter mile south of the overpass at 1:50 p.m., the Highway Patrol reported.

Eric Swanson, 15, of 567 Tarragon Drive, Terra Linda, a passenger, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for face cuts and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

THREE-CAR COLLISION

A three-car collision just south of the San Rafael overpass at 4:40 p.m. injured Lucille Davenport, 19, also of San Francisco. She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for a leg injury and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

The Davenport car hit the rear of a car driven by Jeffrey E. Benninger, 26, of Berkeley, which had slowed for traffic, then collided with a car driven by Robert M. Ellwanger, 26, of 169-A Woodward Avenue, Sausalito, the patrol reported.

William Rabben, 52, of Boyes Springs, suffered a scalp cut and chest injuries when he was thrown from his pickup truck as it spun backward into an embankment and overturned off Highway 101, about three miles north of Novato, at 4:45 p.m. Saturday.

Rabben was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital.

THREE INJURED

Three persons were injured in a three-car collision on Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue, Novato, at 6 p.m. Saturday.

A car driven by Mildred Landucci, 52, of San Francisco, entering the highway, was struck by one driven by P. E. Williams Jr., 50, of 200 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, the patrol reported. Williams' car then spun and hit a northbound car driven by Bertha Mae Balfour, 34, of Petaluma.

Mrs. Landucci, who was thrown from her car, suffered a cut scalp. She was admitted to Novato General Hospital where she was reported in good condition today.

Dadmar Anderson, 62, of New Westminster, British Columbia, a passenger in the Landucci car, suffered a cut forehead and chest bruises. He was treated at Novato General Hospital. Williams, who suffered back pains, told officers he would be treated by his own doctor.

Carrie Priscilla Kennedy, 24, of 30 Tiburon Boulevard, Alto, suffered a sprained shoulder when her car rolled over on Highway 101, about 1000 feet south of the Corte Madera overpass at 6:45 p.m. Saturday. She was treated at Marin General Hospital.

A pedestrian, John M. Foran, 27, of San Francisco, was struck by a car as he walked along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard about 200 yards west of the crest of White's Hill at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Driver Clyde A. Barnett, 39, of Arroyo Road, Forest Knolls, said Foran was walking in the middle of the traffic lane.

Foran was treated at Marin General Hospital for a sprained left ankle. Sheriff's deputies later found him wandering at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue in Kentfield at 10:30 p.m. and took him to Napa State Hospital for observation.

SPLIT LIP

A Sausalito youth suffered a split lip in a three-car accident on Highway 101, just south of Puerto Suello Hill, at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Injured was Richard E. Phelps, 20, of 315 Second Street, who was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and transferred to Treasure Island Naval Hospital.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Kevin J. Downey, 18, of 703 Bradley Avenue, Novato, spun on the wet roadway and hit the center guard rail. A car driven by Paul Robert Keeler, 18, of 2 Golden Hinde Passage, Corte Madera, struck the Downey car veered off the shoulder of the road. Phelps' car struck the Downey car, officers said.

Joseph N. Perry, 31, and his wife, Mary K., 39, of 98 Buena Vista Drive, Novato, both suffered bruises at about 12:30 a.m. yesterday when the car Perry was driving north on Highway 101 crashed into the guard rail.

The highway patrol said Perry was just north of the Blackpoint cutoff in the slow lane when a car cut in front of him. His car hit the right guard rail.

LEFT TURN

A car making a left turn at 4:55 p.m. Saturday struck two 13-year-old girls in a crosswalk at Third and A streets, San Rafael, but San Rafael General Hospital officials said neither was hurt enough to require treatment.

The car, driven by Harold J. Vonfeldt, 37, of Sterling, Colo., was making a left turn when it hit the girls: Vera J. Presley, of 9 Taylor Street, and Kathy M. Hollingsworth of 238 San Rafael Avenue, both of San Rafael.

Keith Joseph Sides, 30, of 645 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, was cut over his left eye about 2:15 a.m., yesterday when he rode his motorcycle around the home of Loren R. Williams at 1400 Chase Street, Novato, and hit a childrens' swing, Novato police reported. He was treated at Novato Hospital.

Hedda Hopper's Condition Critical

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood columnist Hedda Hopper, 75, was in critical condition from pneumonia today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

She was admitted to this hospital yesterday, the spokesman added.

Equipment Taken

Walter Kurne of 40 Jessup Street, San Rafael, reported to police at 4:20 p.m. Saturday that $285 worth of electrical equipment had been stolen from his 1965 Volkswagen while it was parked in his driveway between 2 a.m. and 10 a.m.

Samoa Digs Out After Hurricane

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP)—Hurricane-battered America Samoa surveyed millions of dollars in damage today. Seven persons were injured by the fierce storm's winds exceeding 110 miles an hour.

The major island of Tutuila was hit by the hurricane's main force yesterday. Strong winds still raked the smaller island of Manua today as the storm moved slowly to the southeast on a course passing near Tahiti.

American Samoa has a population of about 26,000 and lies 2,280 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Five Scouts Found Safe On Mountain

PALM SPRINGS (AP)—Five Explorer Scouts from Arcadia were found today, in good condition, after spending the night atop 10,800-foot Mt. San Jacinto.

They were on a weekend camping and hiking trip and were expected to return to the top of the Palm Springs tramwas yesterday afternoon. The sheriff's office was notified las night when they failed to appear. It was snowing on the mountain all day.

Armed Men Strike Two Marin Stores

Market Loses $105 To Robber; $75 Taken At Store

Separate armed robbers struck twice in Marin County yesterday, making off with $105 cash from a Santa Venetia supermarket owner and about $75 from a Tamalpais Valley liquor store.

Sheriff's officers said one of two men involved in the latter may be the same bandit who pulled two earlier holdups, the Jan. 8 robbery of a Union Service Station and another of Del's Liquors No. 2 in Mill Valley last Jan. 16.

Robert E. Porter, co-owner of Santa Venetia Super Market, 741 North San Pablo Avenue, told deputies a tall man with pock-marked face entered the store about 9 a.m. and asked for garlic salt.

RINGING UP

Porter said he was ringing up the 39-cent sale when the robber pulled a small revolver, spun the cylinder for emphasis, and fled with the loot.

Officers said witnesses reported two cars left the scene shortly after, one a blue Volkswagen with a single occupant, and the other a Chevrolet convertible with a man and woman as occupants, but it wasn't determined if either vehicle was involved.

Walter Raymond Snell, clerk at Dan's Groceries and Liquor, 254 Shoreline Highway, Dolan's corner, said two young Negro men entered while he was stacking milk in the building's rear at 9:50 p.m. yesterday.

The shorter of the two men, wearing a blue fuzzy wool jacket with parka hood, drew what appeared to be a .32-caliber pistol, Snell told officers.

RAISES HANDS

He said he raised his hands, but the robber said, "No, just open the cash register." Snell said the robber had scooped from $50 to $75 in bills from the register, and was reaching for more when a car drove up outside.

The bandit instead grabbed a March of Dimes coin box containing about $5 and he and his companion fled afoot, Snell added.

Deputies said Snell's description of the gunman, about five feet, eight inches tall and stocky, matched that of one of three men who took $40 from an attendant at the Union Service Station, Frontage Road and Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, on Jan. 8.

His description also matched one of two gunmen who took $100 from Del's Liquors No. 2, 653 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, on Jan. 16. Officers said both wore dark parkas.

Old Shotgun, Typewriter Are Stolen

Loss of an antique 16-gauge shotgun, a typewriter and three sweaters in burglary of the home of Clarence Arthur Wigell, 101 South Ridgewood Road, Kent Woodlands, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Harold E. Riegger, 469 Panoramic Highway, Tamalpais Valley, said burglars entered via an open window, making off with a high fidelity phonograph worth $135, amplifier equipment worth $150, and a Japanese camera worth $95.

L. E. Vern Denson, 102 Garden Avenue, Santa Venetia, reported 21 cans of beer were taken from his unlocked garage.

Richard Robert Anderson, 410 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, told officers that burglars entered his unlocked patio and ransacked a bedroom, but nothing was believed taken.

Watch Stolen

Dog Kills Cow, Calf On Marin Dairy Ranch

Two dogs reportedly killed a white-faced cow and injured a calf during the weekend on the dairy ranch of George Giannecchini in Tennessee Valley.

Giannecchini told the Independent-Journal today that he shot and hit one of the dogs. His loss is $200 for the cow and, he added, "the calf is no good to me" because of its injuries and because it is now without its mother.

"People don't realize," the rancher said, "They think their dogs are at home by the hearth."

Giannecchini, who leases the Dean Witter Ranch, said he has lost at least 20 head of cattle in eight years and has killed 14 to 18 dogs. "Ninety per cent of the dogs I have killed have no licenses," he said.

Rings, Cuff Links Reported Stolen

Harold K. Harroun of 154 Terrace Street, San Rafael, told police at 2:23 a.m. yesterday that $300 in men's rings and cuff links had been taken from his home during the night.

Harroun said 15 pairs of cuff links and five rings were taken. Entry was gained through an unlocked sliding glass door, he reported.

Nomination Papers Out

Nomination papers were taken out today for Dean N. Meyer, a candidate for Mill Valley city councilman in the April 12 election.

The papers will be circulated by George W. Blackwell, former city councilman.

Meyer, 38, is president of Leo W. Meyer, Ltd., a San Francisco insurance brokerage company. He announced his candidacy Jan. 19.

Corvette Stolen

George S. Fletcher of Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, 5880 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, told police Saturday that a 1966 Corvette convertible was stolen from the auto agency parking lot Friday night.

Senate Will Lose Gibson Due To Reapportionment

Senator Luther E. Gibson's departure from the State Senate at the end of this year means a big loss to the State of California and to the County of Solano, which he so long and faithfully served.

Gibson, of Vallejo, last of the long line of distinguished newspaper publishers who served in the Legislature, has been representing Solano County for the past 17 years.

During his five terms, he sponsored $200 million in Solano County projects, including the Monticello Dam on Putah Creek. He was the leading supporter of legislation creating Carquinez and Benicia-Martinez bridges, including the extensive highway approach systems.

Gibson's departure from the Senate is the direct result of reapportionment, ordered by the United States Supreme Court.

While Gibson represented Solano, the late Sen. Samuel Geddes represented Napa, and John F. McCarthy represents Marin County. After Jan. 1, 1967, there will be only one senator representing these three counties. Instead of each county getting a vote in the Senate, the three counties will have to share one vote beginning next year.

Senator Gibson is only one of many old-time stalwarts who will be squeezed out of the Senate. The redistricting is taking a heavy toll in experienced and dedicated public servants.

These developments once again underscore the importance of Sen. Everett Dirksen's amendment to permit states to apportion at least one house on a basis other than population, provided the people of each state approve.

We regret that the efforts of Senator Dirksen and his colleagues were not successful in keeping men like Senator Gibson in public service in the Legislature, at least through 1968, which would have normally been the end of his present term had it not been for reapportionment.

We'll miss Senator Gibson in the Senate come next January. But he will continue to be active in the newspaper field, as publisher of three dailies—Vallejo Times-Herald, Vallejo News-Chronicle, and Contra Costa Gazette.

We expect to continue hearing his voice of experience brought to bear on public issues, through his publications.

Ground Hog Day And The Heart Fund

It's mere coincidence that Ground Hog day falls on Feb. 2, the beginning of Heart Fund Month.

Actually, Mister Ground Hog is one of the most valuable Heart volunteers. He has already provided much information vital in delicate human surgery, such as the open-heart operation.

The ground hog is one animal whose heart can be studied in normal state at a temperature as low as 10 to 15 degrees centigrade and a slowed pulse rate as low as two beats per minute.

So, hats off to the ground hog. Hats off also to the Marin County Heart Assn., and its continuing fight to bring under control heart attack, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases through its local and national research grants.

The Heart Assn. also provides weight and nutrition classes, nurses symposium and physician conference periods.

Switch To Accrual Bookkeeping Is Governor's Latest Gimmick

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The administration of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, it appears, never will run out of political gimmicks, especially during an election year when it is trying desperately to avoid new and increased taxes as an added burden of the public which is supporting a government dedicated to the "give-away" philosphy of the modern age.

The latest gimmick now under consideration is the switching of revenue bookkeeping from a cash to an accrual basis.

THIS MEANS, to those uninformed about the various methods used to juggle books in order to come up with more money than actually is on hand, that the revenues of the state will be computed on the basis of what is owed at any given time, rather than money that has been paid.

This is not a new procedure in the bookkeeping world. Many private firms use the accural system. Banks require a statements of accounts receivable on financial statements. The procedure, however, has been eschewed as far as government is concerned, largely on the grounds that when financial statements are issued, it is necessary to show the cash on hand to meet the expenditures.

Governor Brown explains it this way:

"If you have $5 on Tuesday and payday is Friday, it is something less than accurate to say that your assets during that week were $5. But under the cash system, that is how you would report your finances for the week if you did not actually have the paycheck in hand."

HOWEVER, if the bill collector happens to want his money on Wednesday, it might be embarassing to the individual who says he has his money, but actually doesn't have it.

By going on the accrual system, taxpayers of the state would in effect be "gypped" out of about $2 million a year. This would result from the fact that funds normally raised by taxes are invested and draw interest until it becomes necessary to use the money to meet normal state expenditures.

Under the accrual system, financial statements would show the tax money was there, but actually the money wouldn't be there, so it couldn't be invested.

Also, there would be a possibility of increased borrowing by the state general funds, from its varied special funds. Added cost to the taxpayers would result if this occurred, due to the fact the general fund pays interest on its borrowings.

SHOULD THE ACCRUAL system be adopted, the governor said, estimating revenues would be done by computer. Private financial firms which have studied the problem and recommended its solving by the accrual method, say it would not have been possible before the age of the computer to use the accrual basis.

However, the fact remains that eventually, the bills have to be paid, and a switch to the accrual system merely means another political delay in facing the facts of life. It is estimated such a delay would eliminate the necessity of raising about $100 million of the anticipated $350 million the administration indicates is needed to finance government next year, over and above last year's budget. If the Brown administration can avoid a levy of $100 million, it's good political hay!

Neighborhood Schools Fail

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In response to the Hepp-Henderscheid letter of Jan. 25, I should like to point out a basic fallacy in this discussion of "neighborhood schools" vs. "bigness". The PANS(Parents Assn. for Neighborhood Schools) group makes the assumption that a large school site with shared facilities is the cause of "loss of identity" and an "impersonal atmosphere"; and that small, so-called "neighborhood" schools do not do this. This assumption is not warranted by any evidence yet produced.

What the state-wide PANS organization consistently leaves out of its calculations is the effect on learning of class or unit size. As an example of the failure within the "neighborhood" school, I cite an incident which occurred yesterday in Mrs. Hepp's own "neighborhood" school. A child there had his lunch eaten by a dog (a not unusual happening). The teacher allowed him to call his mother, but was indifferent as to the outcome. She said, after school, that (a) she didn't have enough lunch to share, and (b) she had too many children in her class to give them individual attention. So, in this "neighborhood" school, neither Mrs. Hepp, nor the teacher, nor anyone else sees to it that each child has some lunch to carry him through his afternoon's work.

A small thing? No. This is a real picture of loss of identity and impersonal attitude which I hold up against PANS' imaginary horror picture of 4000 mothers rushing to Tennessee Valley to do some imaginary something in case of an imaginary disaster. The little, warm, live human bodies Mrs. Hepp imagines to be in danger in Tennessee Valley do not seem to be worthy of her attention in her "neighborhood" school.

I do wish that instead of spending so much time and energy talking about concepts (which are not real things) we could begin talking about how to make education possible and relevant.

Correction Needed For Traffic Safety

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that the City of San Rafael has managed to do something about the re-alignment of streets, accesses, exits to freeways, frontage roads, shopping centers, etc., there is one little item that has been overlooked. This concerns those of us who live in Brete Harte and/or South San Rafael:

Before re-alignment Irwin Street was a thoroughfare at the intersection of Lincoln Street. At the present time (if one must adhere to the traffic signs) it still is; despite the fact that Irwin Street is a dead end street terminating one block east of the intersection of Irwin and Lincoln streets. This has resulted in a dangerous traffic situation inasmuch as it is visually a very difficult intersection and heavily trafficked. Now that the changes have been made it is only logical that Lincoln Street is and should be the right of way approach at this intersection. I have seen accidents occur at this point and have almost been involved in one simply because this minor, but vital, change of traffic signs has not been made. If this situation were rectified it would add greatly to the safety and expediency of those of us who live in, work in or frequent this area.

Thumbs Down On Book Vote

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your open letter to the San Rafael School Board on Jan. 18, you have developed an original way to run a school district—affectionately to be known as the Roman Circus.

Unlike ordinary, dull school board meetings, we will now have hundreds of well-informed, unbiased, mature parents anxiously awaiting their chance at the democratic process. Outside the door hordes of uninformed, biased and immature teenagers will carry picket signs reading. "No Fun To Be Under 21" and "2,4,6,8, Who Has The Right to Expurgate?".

On page 1 the I-J will have published the list of controversial subjects slated for the parents vote. For example: 1. Jack Kerouac; 2. Darwin's Theory of Evolution; 3. McNamara's latest statement on Viet Nam; 4. Mark Twain's "Letters from the Earth"; 5. Phonics vs. Look-Say. After an impassioned reading of each item by the accused teacher, a vote will be taken: Thumbs-down, death—thumbs-up, transfiguration. Board members and teachers are excluded, of course, as members of the establishment.

An announcement will follow: "Remember folks—next weeks vote: 'Flip and Jane Go for a Walk', 'Catcher in the Rye', 'Moll Flanders at Home and School' and 'The Cleveland New Math'. Don't be late. Activate those phone committees!"

As the parents file out, the under-21 students excluded from the meeting quickly change picket signs. Now they read — "Hot Coffee 10¢," "Diet Cola 15¢," "Popcorn 20¢." Kids never miss a good joke, especially at the expense of their parents.

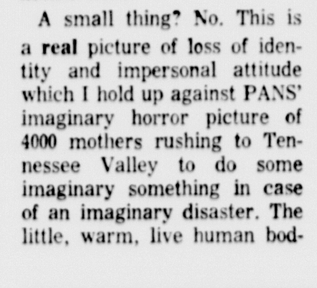
TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

GEORGE ORWELL, author of the memorable "1984," once told an interviewer that the principal reason he wrote books was that his old fifth-grade teacher might see his work and be remorseful that she'd misjudged him.

After Moss Hart had made a fortune with a series of Broadway smash hits, he, too, journeyed up to the Bronx to show his old public school principal (a man who had predicted nothing but disaster for him) how wrong that estimate had been. The principal recognized him at once. "Ah, Hart," he rasped. "What are you coming around here for again? You're wasting your time. I won't lift a finger to help you."



THERE'S A TOWN in Illinois named Normal and another not too many miles away named — no kidding — Oblong. And when a boy from one of these communities chose as his bride a girl from the other, the headline writer for a Chicago newspaper did just what you'd expect him to: He captioned his story, "Normal Boy Weds Oblong Girl."

OVERHEARD: At the San Diego zoo, Neil Morgan would have you believe that an amorous tiger was rebuffed by his wife, who demanded harshly, "Where have you been prowling? You reek of gasoline."

At Newwark Airport, Jackie Curtiss heard a newly commissioned pilot tell a stewardess, "I just saved the lives of 47 passengers. I refused to take off."

Economic Miracle Of Growth Keeps U.S. In Guns, Butter

WASHINGTON—It will be a miracle if the U. S. can meet the mounting costs of the Viet Nam war and the Great Society without higher taxes, without dangerous inflation, without great deficit spending.

But the President has a miracle going for him. More than anything else, it can make it possible for the American people to have both guns and butter without economic disaster.

The miracle is the tremendous and sustained dynamism of the U. S. economy.

Time was when the nation's haunting concern was how to avert depression. Today's problem is how to manage prosperity for the benefit of everyone.

In the very recent past, many experts thought high unemployment was insoluble, was built into the economy.

TODAY THE QUESTION is whether industry can find the labor it requires to man the production lines.

Not long ago the admiring eyes of the whole world were on the "European economic miracle." The most industrialized countries in Europe, plus Japan and Russia, were sweeping past the U. S. in annual economic growth.

Today the United States leads every country in growth rate — 5 per cent last year, probably higher this year.

What we are now witnessing is the American economic miracle and, since the nation is now into the sixth year without recession, it is time to recognize that this miracle is not accidental.

AT A TIME when communism is still claiming it is the wave of the future—though neither in Red China nor in the Soviet Union can Communist agriculture feed its own people — maybe competitive private enterprise has something to be said for it.

When President Dwight D. Eisenhower submitted a 1958-59 budget of $72 billion, Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey screamed at the White House that such a spending binge would "bring on a recession that would curl your hair." It didn't.

The $112.8 billion budget Lyndon Johnson presented to Congress this week is a big budget but, because of the vigor and growth of the economy, it does not dangerously strain the resources of the nation.

EISENHOWER'S $72 billion was often cited as the biggest peace-time budget ever. But it wasn't. Not that it wasn't the biggest to that moment, but it wasn't a peace-time budget. It was a peace-plus-cold war budget.

And Johnson's $112.8 billion is not a peace-time budget. It is a peace-plus-cold war-plus-hot war budget and the President put his finger on its economic soundness when he pointed out in his economic message that, while our defense needs are great, our economic growth is far greater.

There is no doubt that there are large uncertainties in the budget. The uncertainties are the war-cost estimates and the revenue estimates. They could both be wrong. They usually are.

If they prove to be, the President will have to propose higher taxes and cutting back some home-front spending to hold inflation in check.

Maritime Academies To Be Investigated

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Federally supported merchant marine academies are largely responsible for the serious undermanning of ships transporting U.S. troops and urgently needed suplies to Viet Nam.

A large percentage of graduates from these government-financed schools—the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, Long Island, N.Y., and five state academies — are breaking solemn pledges to serve three years at sea. Instead they are taking more comfortable and less demanding jobs ashore.

MORE THAN A THIRD of the graduates never set foot aboard merchant vessels. And over a 10-year period, less than six per cent spent as much as five years at sea.

And that isn't all. The Kings Point Academy — the "West Point of the merchant marine" —is encouraging its undergraduates to seek shoreside employment and "fostering a feeling of contempt for seagoing officers."

Those are the charges being made by J. M. Calhoun, president, Marine Engineers' Beneficial Assn., AFL-CIO. Ninety per cent of the licensed engineers are members of this organization.

POINTING OUT that two out of every three U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam and 98 per cent of their weapons and supplies are transported by ship, Calhoun declared that more than 2,800 engineer vacancies went unfilled last year. He warned there will be an even more critical shortage this year.

Calhoun charged that the academy permitted "recruiters from shoreside industries" to come on the campus to solicit personnel. Also that the academy's alumni association, with offices on the campus, put an advertisement in a trade paper offering "to fill your personnel requirements both afloat and ashore."

BELATEDLY, the Congressional Board of Visitors to the Kings Point Academy also is manifesting concern. It has scheduled an unusual joint meeting with the industry advisory board to the academy to consider Calhoun's blast and agree on a course of action.

The Congressional board, made up of senators and representatives, is required by law to visit the Kings Point school annually and submit a report. Last year the board didn't go there at all, and its 1964 report has yet to be written.

The Maritime Administration also has decided to look into the matter. It has hired an expert from the University of California to make a survey of the academies.

In addition to naming an investigating committee, Representative Garmatz has written Defense Secretary Robert McNamara pointedly calling his attention to Calhoun's blast. Wrote Garmatz:

"ACTIVE MILITARY operations abroad require special logistics leaning overwhelmingly on the availability of American merchant shipping.

Last year Congress voted $4,163,277 to operate the Kings Point Academy — which currently has 950 cadets. That means a cost to taxpayers of $4,382 per student annually.

The five state merchant marine academies get a $75,000 annual grant from the government for operation and maintenance. They also get a training ship with funds for its upkeep. And each cadet receives $600 a year from the government for subsistence, uniforms and books.

THE STATE ACADEMIES are in Maine, Massachusetts, New York, Texas and California. Their total enrollment this year is 1,672. The Maine, New York and Texas academies are four-year schools; Massachusetts and California three-year.

Public-Relations Wise, Chief Makes A Town Extra Friendly

Once upon a time there was a little town that had big worries about its image, public-relations-wise.

The town was full of solid, roomy houses, and the streets were lined with big shade trees. It was a pretty town, but the problem was that the townsfolk had to go elsewhere if they wanted to find work.

Some went all the way to the big city, others went to neighboring communities and some did not work at all. Those who did not work at all were particularly touchy about the situation, for if the truth were known, as it sometimes was, the nonworkers were idle, not because they did not know how to work, but because they did not have to work.

SO YOU CAN see why the town was worried about its image, public-relations-wise.

The community found great comfort in pointing to the few who did have jobs in the community. These included the fire chief and the police chief.

It was the police chief, however, who won the hearts of the townsfolk with a practice that set the community aside from all others in the country. It was the police chief's practice not to report crimes.

Sometimes when the townsfolk considered their police chief, they forgot all about the unemployment problem. No crimes made the town look good.

It also made the police chief look good. If there were no known crimes, the police were obviously top drawer, public-relations-wise.

SOME OF THE townsfolk thought it would be a fine idea not to report fires, either. But the first time this was tried, neighboring communities saw smoke and heard sirens.

"What's going on?" the neighbors asked.

"Nothing," the townsfolk said, but they felt a little silly about it, and when the flames started leaping high above the big shade trees the townsfolk gigled and said:

"Aw shucks! Come on over and watch the fire."

Actually, you see, it was a very friendly community.

But the policy of not reporting crimes continued.

EVERYONE BENEFITED from this policy, including the criminals. The criminals reasoned that since no one reported it, crime must be no outrage at all in the little community. They felt a sense of welcome about the place.

And keeping his crimes quiet, is something every self-respecting criminal has always striven for. The criminals thus felt a strong comradeship with the police chief.

For instance, if a burglar cleaned out a house on one street one week, he found he could go to a house on the next street the following week and find doors and windows unlocked just as if no one had been warned, as indeed they had not.

ANY BURGLARY victim having the effrontery to question the police chief's policy was snubbed by all, especially by the police chief. If you have ever been snubbed by a police chief, you know why hardly anyone complained.

Residents were naturally surprised when burglars struck their homes, but the losses were worth it, considering the distinction of living in a town that was free of crime, public-relations-wise.

Send James Bond To Viet Nam With A Defoliation Machine

WASHINGTON—The trouble with all the spy fantasy that is being shown these days on television and in the movies is that it tends to give people a false sense of security. Most people are hoping a James Bond, the Man From U.N.C.L.E., or Batman will save us in Viet Nam.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if James Bond was called in by his boss, M?

"James, we have just received information that SMERSH is in league with the North Vietnamese and they plan to take over South Viet Nam."

"IT SOUNDS SERIOUS," Bond replies.

"I'm turning the case over to you. Here is your equipment."

M hands him a Band-Aid.

He explains, "When you rub your thumb against the gauze, this Band-Aid becomes a defoliation machine. That's it. They're waiting for you in Saigon."

Bond flies to Saigon. He's about to take a shower in his hotel room with a stewardess he met on the plane when Ambassador Lodge, Gen. Westmoreland and Gen. Ky walk in.

"We couldn't wait for you to come downtown," Lodge says. "We thought you'd better be filled in on the picture right away."

"THE TRUTH of the matter," Gen. Ky says, "is that we've run out of ideas. The Viet Cong is stronger than ever, more troops are pouring in, and North Viet Nam is getting bolder all the time."

Gen. Westmoreland says, "007, you're our only hope."

Bond starts dressing. "Who is Mr. Big in this operation?" he asks.

Ambassador Lodge replies, "A fellow by the name of Ho Chi Minh who is believed to live in Hanoi. We think he's working with the Chinese."

Bond turns to Gen. Westmoreland. "Can you drop me into Hanoi?"

Gen. Westmoreland replies, "We're not allowed to fly over Hanoi. But we can drop you on a bridge near it on our next bombing raid."

"GOOD. NOW could you gentlemen suggest a restaurant where I could get an adequate bottle of wine?"

Bond is on a B-52. Hanging onto his parachute is a beautiful Eurasian girl known as Lots of Lolly, who is to act as his interpreter. They both jump together and land in a haystack.

A North Vietnamese soldier rushes in and is about to kill them both when Bond notices the soldier is a woman. "Kill her," he says to the woman soldier, "but let me go."

The woman soldier shoots Lots of Lolly. An hour later, as Bond is getting dressed, he says to the woman soldier, "Take me to your leader."

"ANYTHING you want, James," she replies.

She takes Bond to Hanoi and shows him a secret tunnel which leads into Ho's palace. But an alert guard knocks them both out, and they are dragged, chained, into the conference room before Ho and his Chinese Communist advisors.

Ho laughs. "Ho ho, ho, 007, you thought you could defeat the Democratic People's Republic, did you?"

Bond says, "Would it be all right if I put a Band-Aid on my right toe?"

"Go ahead," Ho says, "though you won't live long enough for it to heal."

BOND RUBS the gauze of the Band-Aid and suddenly he is holding a defoliation machine in his bands. "All right, Commies, now it's my turn to laugh."

"Don't shoot, 007," Ho cries. "We'll do anything you want."

"Will you go back to the Geneva Convention of 1954?" Bond asks.

"Of course," Ho says, "and we'll throw in unconditional talks as well."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Eight Million Americans Choose Contact Lenses Over Glasses

VAN DELLEN

Contact lenses are worn by eight million Americans. Many users see well with conventional glasses but prefer contacts because they do not detract from their appearance or interfere with swimming or other sport activities. Some have eye conditions that cannot be corrected with spectacles.

Contact lenses were not practical until 1938, when plastic resins became available. The polymethylmethacrylate lens could be fabricated to duplicate the molded contour of each individually fitted eye.

This created a problem because the cornea needs oxygen that it usually gets from the air or from oxygen-saturated tears. When the contact lens is placed on the eye, the atmospheric source of oxygen is shut off, but not that from the tears, provided the eyelids blink.

THE LARGER scleral contact lenses that cover the cornea and the white part (sclera) of the eye have holes drilled thru the plastic material to allow air and tears to enter the space separating the eye from the contact lens.

This is necessary because when the cornea fails to obtain oxygen it becomes dry and takes on the appearance of window glass, reinforced by a wire network. The scleral type is used for various eye conditions involving the tear glands, since it prevents evaporation of tears.

Contact lenses also are used by persons with distorted corneas that cannot be neutralized with glasses. Keratoconus is a type in which the cornea is cone shaped and occasionally pointed.

OTHER EXAMPLES include corneas that are misshapen by infections or by injuries. They also are used by those who had cataracts removed.

The corneal contact lenses are smaller and cover the clear part that curves over the colored iris. They are more effective in allowing the cornea to breathe. These devices can be left in place for eight or more hours.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

Common Market Officials Prepare For Trade Talks

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) — European Common Market officials, relieved of France's crippling seven-month boycott of the economic community, today began work on draft proposals for speeding up important trade talks with the United States.

The foreign ministers of the six-nation economic bloc are expected to meet in Brussels Feb. 21 to discuss the roposals and issues raised by the so-called "Kennedy Round" of tariff negotiations.

The talks would center on proposals made by the late John F. Kennedy in 1962 for massive tariff reductions between the United States and the market countries as part of a "grand design" for Atlantic partnership.

The market ministers yesterday bowed to French demands for permanent veto power in the market and also agreed to curb the suprenational powers of the bloc's executive authority.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Who's Mike Kellin? Well, He's A Star

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I wonder whether anybody realizes that Mike Kellin is a star. And I onder whether he has fan club. And if not, why not? I bet he has five fan clubs, or maybe even 10, or 50 or 100. Would you believe two?

Please don't embarrass both of us by asking who Mike Kellin is. As I told you, he's a star, every Sunday night, on NBC-TV's series entitled "The Wackiest Ship In The Army." And when I say he's a star, I'm not exaggerating. He gets star billing along with Jack Warden and Gary Collins, but I'll bet all you'd ever say if you saw him is, "Oh yeah, him. The funny one. Why didn't you say so in the first place?"

Well, I'm saying so. He's the funny one, all right. He plays the chief petty officer, Willie Miller, and he plays him right. He played him very right, for instance, last night in a tale in which he had a very good time at a party with the four daughters of a Polynesian native chief, not realizing he was, in the eyes of the father, getting engaged to them, all of them.

The crux of the story is that the native chief, knowing that Kellin was a "chief" also, thought that he was a bigger man than the skipper or anybody. It wasn't much of a crux, but these days there are more important things to worry about.

Kellin takes your mind off worries, though. You have to see him to believe him. From the waist up, he looks like an elongated pyramid, with a chest that seems to recede to the point that starts his neck, which is attached to his head. When he smiles, he looks like a fence with a hole in it. There are gaps and there are gaps, but he has gaps.

He looks like an elegant Lionel Stander, and sounds a little like Stander might have sounded in his hey-day if he had taken cough drops. Kellin's attitude is that of a bartender who couldn't quite make a go of his own place and now works for somebody else. At his worst, he looks as though he had just bitten into a lemon. At his best, he looks as though he had just bitten into a half a lemon.

Yet, when he smiles, it is really a smile of sweetness, of sunshine, the face of a hobo who has just found a $50 bill in front of a liquor store.

Kellin apparently has an off-screen attitude commensurate with his on-screen demeanor. I can tell you this because an NBC-TV man had a talk with him recently and got his views on being a right-hand man. Said Kellin:

"Every hero needs a right-hand man. His job is to let the audience know what the hero is thinking . . . One of his duties is to leave when the hero wants to be with the heroine.

" . . . One can play Horatio to Hamlet, Kent to Lear, Mercutio to Romeo, Brutus to Mark Antony. For those who are using acting as a stepping stone to politics, there's alays the vice presidency.

" . . . The great trick is to stand physically as close to the hero as you can. This doesn't help the story any, or the hero. But it helps the right-hand man in staying on the screen. Otherwise you end up on the cutting room floor.

Rise Proposed In Fire Force

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today said he would propose doubling of the conservation department fire prevention forces to help reduce the annual multi-million-dollar loss to the state's forest resources.

Brown said the increased personnel would be used for patrol and enforcement of regulations in Butte, Napa, Mendocino, Humboldt and San Diego counties and other critical forest fire areas.

The governor said his budget would propose an increase of $500,000 and 47 new fire prevention positions.

Airport, Parks On Board Agenda

Marin County supervisors tomorrow are expected to hire a director for the county Parks and Recreation Department and decide the future of the county airport at Novato.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. Supervisors, in a joint meeting with the parks and recreation commission, are to interview three candidates for the $14,400 parks and recreation post.

The joint session will run from 10 a.m. to noon and will be behind closed doors.

At 3 p.m., supervisors will discuss the recommendation from the new aviation commission on development of the county airport, following Federal Aviation Agency standards.

They will also hear a report from County Administrator Alan Bruce that more negotiation is needed on the exclusive lease on airport facilities held by Harry O. Tollefson.

The FAA will not provide its 54 per cent financing in any project where there is an exclusive lease. Tollefson has agreed to sell the lease for $17,500, provided application is made for FAA funds.

Bruce said it apears now that FAA officials will also object to a proviso in the cancellation agreement, which means the county will have to buy back the lease without conditioning the move on FAA application.

Supervisors are also expected to discuss a proposed ordinance that would require undergrounding of utilities in connection with road improvement, to discuss preliminary design of the community mental health center and to approve a joint contract with the City of Fairfax whereby the county planning department will prepare a Fairfax general plan.

Flood Control Inspectors Make Tour In The Rain

An intrepid band of citizens braved rain and wind Saturday to explore the Corte Madera Flood Control Project area from Bon Air Bridge in Greenbrae to the bay.

Purpose of the wet excursion was "to be prepared to take an informed position on recreational aspects of the project," said Jean Barnard, secretary of the Marin Conservation Council.

The 20 hikers will be present Feb. 16 when the board of supervisors meets on the project design.

"We came to no immediate conclusions," Mrs. Barnard said, "but we are primarily concerned that there be continuous access to the creek along the entire length of the project, that there be a park under the Greenbrae interchange, and that as few Boardwalk homes as possible be taken by the project."

Nine civic organizations were represented by the group led by Eugene Spitler, president of the Marin Conservation Council. Other groups were the Sierra Club, Homestead Valley Improvement Club, Marin Conservation League, County Parks and Recreation Commission, Greenbrae Home Owners Assn., Greenbrae Rod and Gun Club, and Boardwalk No. 1 Arkites Assn.

Union Strikes Rocket Test Unit

EDWARDS AFB (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union (UAW) today struck North American Aviation's field laboratory at this aerospace test base, but a company spokesman said work was continuing.

The strike affects about 250 union members at the firm's Rocketdyne facility, which tests rocket engines.

A company spokesman said, however, that 25 of the 125 union employees who work on the first shift had crossed the picket lines set up at five entrances to the base and were at work.

He said work was continuing at the facility with supervisory personnel substituting for the striking workers.

Peace Corps Tests

A placement test for the Peace Corps will be held Feb. 12 at 9 a.m. in Room 7 of the San Rafael Post Office in D Street. Applications forms, obtainable from post offices, must be filled in beforehand and presented at the test location.

Woman Treated

Mrs. Ruth Kentfield of 214 West Street, Sausalito, was treated early today at Marin General Hospital, after she reportedly took an overdose of pills at her home. She was taken to the hospital at 4:25 a.m. by Sausalito ambulance.

Suspicious Dad Leads To Arrest

The suspicion of a father that his son planned to run away from home led to citations on burglary charges for four 15-year-old Tiburon boys Friday.

Sheriff's Sgt. George B. Barnes said the boy's father reported to Tiburon sheriff's substation that he believed the boy planned to run away, and asked deputies to talk to him.

Barnes said that when questioned, the boy admitted he planned to run away with a friend because he was doing poorly in school. He said he and three companions had been shoplifting small items from the Embee Market on the Boardwalk shopping center for several months and had entered the home of S. H. Baker of 730 Hilary Drive, Tiburon, at least twice, taking about $20 from a metal box. The burglaries were never discovered by the Bakers, Barnes said.

Stolen Sports Car Recovered By Police

San Anselmo police Friday recovered a sports car, stolen in San Francisco, in the parking lot of Brookside School.

School principal Jack Graves said he saw a young, "beatnik-type" man park the car and walk away. He was suspicious, he said, because the car was an Austin-Healy, the same type of car stolen in San Francisco and abandoned in the school parking lot earlier this month.

Lightning Puts Out Three Transformers

Lightning struck a garage in Tamalpais Valley early yesterday, burning out three electric transformers in the neighborhood.

The thunderclap that followed was so loud it awakened many residents from Sausalito to San Rafael.

The bolt struck a garage at 436 Wellesley Avenue at 2:01 a.m.

Windows were blown in, a door jolted askew. Two cars were inside the garage. The windshield of one was shattered, and hubcaps were blown off the other.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Lemoyne, who rent the home, were jarred awake. "I thought it was a sonic boom," Mrs. Lemoyne said.

The lighting bolt burned out transformers at Marin Drive, Eastwood Drive and Wellesley Avenue, reported Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical superintendent. All three had to be replaced. Electricity was off to 11 homes in the vicinity while workmen replaced the transformers — a job which took until 1:30 p.m.

Special Meeting Set By Unification Unit

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center's curriculum laboratory.

Unification plans for Tomales and the Tamalpais High School District areas will be discussed.

The Virgin Islands were purchased from Denmark for $25 million, and proclaimed a possession of the United States in January 1917.

Knife Threat Leads To Arrest

Joseph Santoro, 23, arrested by Sausalito police last Friday, has been charged in Marin Municipal Court with felony assault with a knife.

He was booked in county jail, then released on $2,750 bail.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said Santoro, of 513 Humboldt Avenue, Sausalito, allegedly put the knife at the throat of a man identified as Luke Asbury on Jan. 22 during an argument over dating of a woman.

More than half of America's cigarettes are produced in North Carolina.

Ashe Beaten By Emerson In Aussie Tennis Finals

By GORDON TAIT

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Roy Emerson of Australia, the world's top-ranking amateur tennis player, captured the men's singles title of the Australian National Championships for a record fifth time today with a 6-4, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va.

Ashe had defeated Emerson in their last three tournament meetings but the UCLA student was no match for the Australian, who won the Nationals for the fourth straight year.

Emerson previously had shared the record of four Australian National titles with Jack Crawford, who won four crowns in the 1930s, including three in a row.

The finish of the match came unexpectedly as the crowd of 5,000 at the White City Courts was startled as Ashe footfaulted on match point. It was the only footfault of the 1¾ hour match and producted the dramatic ending.

The American was down 13-40. After missing with his first service, the footfault was called on his second, giving Emerson the match. Ashe then walked dejectedly to the net to congratulate the Australian.

Emerson also teamed with Fred Stolle to win the men's doubles championship by defeating defending titleholders John Newcombe and Tony Roche 7-9, 6-3, 6-8, 14-12, 12-10 in the all-Australian final.

Most of the match was played yesterday but was postponed until today with the score 7-7 in the fifth set because of bad lighting. It took only 25 minutes to decide the match today.

The only break came in the 21st game with Newcombe serving — the only service break off him in the entire match.

Margaret Smith of Australia won the women's singles title for the seventh consecutive year when Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., her opponent in the finals, had to forfeit because of an ailing left knee.

Miss Richey aggravated the injury Saturday while pairing with Carole Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio to win the women's doubles crown.

Last night she announced she would not play the singles final on medical advice. She said that the doctor had told her that she would risk permanent injury to her knee cartilage if she continued playing in the tournament.

"I would dearly love to have played against Margaret," Miss Richey said, "but the doctor told me I would jeopardize my career if I further damaged the cartilage."

In the Emerson-Ashe match, after Emerson won the first set 6-4, the American displayed his best tennis in the second set.

In the 14th game Ashe had Emerson down 15-40 after a volleyed winner and Emerson missed the sideline. Emerson again hit the ball too wide on the next point and the set went to Ashe.

This moved eventually to be the only break Ashe was able to gain against the defending champion's service.

Ashe was never able to get on top of Emerson's service, which he frequently returned into the net.

On the other hand, Ashe's service was far from its best. He missed with a great number of his first deliveries and his second service often was slow and weak.

Ashe was broken twice in the third set, once to love. In that game Emerson had him down 0-40 with great passing shots and then hit a lob that just caught the corner.

In the fourth set Ashe was broken to 30 when he badly misjudged a return of service from Emerson. With Emerson then ahead 4-3, the match seemed virtually over and Emerson then served a love game for a 5-3 lead.

In the final game the score was 30-30 and Ashe handed Emerson match point when he netted a volley.

Then came the dramatic double fault resulting from the footfault.

Milwaukee Seeks A Quick Verdict

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Milwaukee, the Cinderella of baseball who discovered her prince was footloose and unfaithful, pressed today for an antitrust verdict against the National League before the Braves' scheduled opening day in Atlanta April 11.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette, third generation member of a Wisconsin political dynasty, has asked Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller to move the trial date forward to no later than Feb. 21.

Roller ordered attorneys for the league and the Braves to appear at a court hearing today to present any arguments against an early trial.

The National League had announced Friday it would ignore Roller's court order that it be prepared to keep the Braves in Milwaukee this year and be prepared to expand beyond the present 10 teams should the judge hand down such an eventual verdict.

The owners voted unanimously to instruct the Braves to proceed with plans to play in Atlanta after 13 seasons in Milwaukee, the city they were once before blocked from abandoning by a court order.

Roller handed down his court order for 1966 preparations Thursday. After listening to Braves' requests that the trial, originally set for Feb. 1, be delayed until June 1, he issued a compromise ruling Friday that rescheduled the trial for March 7.

After the league's statement, La Follette asked Saturday that the date be moved froward again and Roller promptly signed an order summoning Braves' attorneys into court today.

The state antitrust suit contends baseball is a monopoly. It accuses the National League of a conspiracy to deprive Milwaukee of the business of baseball.

The suit asks that either the Braves be required to remain in Milwaukee or the National League be ordered to grant the city a replacement franchise, probably through expansion.

The Braves are already under a temporary injunction issued by a Georgia court ordering them to honor their 25-year contract to play in Atlanta.

State and Milwaukee County attorneys, who have subpoenaed many of the Braves' records, say that contract includes an escape clause freeing the Braves from their lease if the move is prevented by court action. Upholding the contract, they contend, also means upholding the escape clause.

Braves' officials deny there is such an escape clause. Giles said Friday the National League chose to comply with the Atlanta injunction rather than the Milwaukee court order.

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, asked in New York if he intended to act to ease the most serious legal challenge to the sport in 44 years, said yesterday, "The matter is now in the courts and I'm not going to guess or prejudge the situation."

The team was halted from going to Atlanta last year y a court order that it play out its lease with the county for use of the public stadium. The antitrust suit was filed last summer while the Braves were still operating within the boundaries of Wisconsin and subject to its state laws.

Federal courts last fall agreed Wisconsin could prosecute its antitrust suit in state courts. The challenge is considered the most dangerous to baseball's traditional immunity from antitrust laws, won in 1922 when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the sport was neither interstate nor commercial in the days before television and transcontinental travel.

Another Black Eye For S.F.; The Weatherman's A Scoundrel

WHY IS IT that just about every time San Francisco puts on a big time sports show the elements act up and give the Bay Area a bad image? Or does it just seem that way?

Remember a few years ago when they staged the major league All-Star game at Candlestick Park and Stu Miller was blown off the mound? Literally. How's the Chamber of Commerce going to describe our "gentle breezes" after a show like that on national television?

Then there was the 1964 East-West college grid all-star game played in a quagmire so bad that televiewers thought they were watching a rerun of "All's Quiet On The Western Front." In living brown.

Saturday's rainout of the Lucky International golf tournament gave us another black eye from the nation's viewpoint. Especially since this was the first golf tourney rained out since last August. I can just hear the wise guys back east calling it the Leaky Intersplashional Gulf Torrent. The strokes they were talking about Saturday were breast, back and butterfly.

Next thing you know one of our famous earthquakes will shakeup the World Series at Candlestick next October. If that happens, at least they won't be able to blame our weather. It would be San Andreas' fault.

ANNOUNCEMENT SATURDAY that Princeton cage great Billy Bradley won the Sullivan Award as the nation's oustanding amateur athlete brings to mind that San Rafael resident Ann Curtis Cuneo was the first woman to win that award back in 1944 when she was an Olympic swim queen and world record breaker.

Mrs. Cuneo now operates a swim school and club in San Rafael.

FRIDAY NIGHT's Hotstove League session at Mill Valley was hailed as a success by the sponsoring Knights of Columbus, with an estimated 150 men and boys in attendance.

Actually, it resembled a Tam High reunion with former Indian coaches and stars dominating the limelight.

The coaches included Jim Langdon and G. T. Wendering of the long, long ago era. Tam alumni who later went on to pro baseball stardom included Joe DeMaestri, Art Schallock, Frank Milani, Bobby Jensen and Ron Cole.

The K of C liked the program so well that it probably will become an annual affair.

Tars All Alone Atop J. C. Cage Ladder

College of Marin's basketballers stand alone on top of Golden Valley Conference standings today after some big weekend action.

Marin 68-58 triumph over Shasta in Redding Saturday night, coupled with Napa's 70-68 loss to Santa Rosa the same night, broke a tie for the conference top spot.

The Tars are now the only team with no conference losses. Marin is 4-0, followed by Santa Rosa, 4-1; Napa, 3-1; Shasta, 2-3; Siskiyous, 1-3; Sierra, 1-3, and Yuba, 0-4.

Marin was given a first half scare before rolling to its 11th straight victory Saturday night in Redding. Shasta was on top 28-27 at intermission, but then the Tars stormed back early in the second half to take over the lead.

It was Don Hanson's jump shot that put Marin ahead early in the second half and started the Tars' hot streak which saw them outscore Shasta 23-5 in one stretch to boom out to a 50-33 lead. Displaying fine accuracy from the floor, Marin made 29 of 61 shots for a fine 47 per cent figure.

The Tars did better from the field than they did from the free-throw line, sinking only 10 of 26 charity tosses for a low 38 per cent figure. Shasta made 21 of 60 shots from the field for 35 per cent and 16 of 25 from the free-trow line, 64 per cent.

Jim Halm led the Mariners' scoring in the rough and tumble game, cashing in on 8 baskets and 3 free throws for 19 points. Fred Arnold and Hanson chipped in with 13 each. Gary Cunningham led Shasta with 17 points.

Marin, now with a 13-5 season record, moves north again Wednesday when it takes on Siskiyous in Weed. The Tars return to Kentfield Friday for a key game against Napa College.

Saturday's scoring:

Marin: Fred Arnold, 6-1-13; Rod Monti, 3-2-8; Jim Halm, 8-3-19; Lorry Galassi, 3-1-7; Don Hanson, 6-1-13; Larry Wolfe, 1-0-2; Bill Brody, 2-26; Totals: 29-10—68.

Shasta: Gary Rogers, 3-5-11; Bill Graf, 2-0-4; Gary Cunningham, 7-3-17; Cal Carpenter, 4-3-11; Gary Hill, 2-3-7; Al Jenkins, 1-2-4; Harnden, 2-0-4; Totals: 21-16—58.

60 Race Horses Die In Blaze At Bowie

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — An estimated 60 race horses died today in a fire that swept through five barns at snowbound Bowie Race Course.

Another 150 to 175 were turned loose by grooms and exercise boys. Some of these were injured so badly they probably will have to be destroyed.

A number of the horses ran through a shopping center four miles from the track. Others roamed in woods and snowdrifts around the race course located about 30 miles south of Baltimore.

One horse known to have died was Sport Casey, owned by Jean Ferris of Bel Alton Md., and valued at $25,000.

Another 18 identified were valued at $105,000. A track spokesman said each horse was insured for a maximum of $5,000.

The fire was discovered in Barn 22 shortly after 1:30 a.m. (EST) by Randy Cutshaw, a former jockey employed as an exercise boy and parttime guard.

Cutshaw awakened grooms and other exercise boys in the stable area and they released horses from the five barns.

Firemen, working in near-zero temperature, used hand shovels to clear a path through heavy snow to the stable area.

Maryland was hit by the biggest snow of the winter over the weekend. Drifts on parts of the track were 3½ feet high and up to the level of the rails.

Firemen were hampered by high winds that spread the flames quickly.

Martin Myer, track superintendent, said the track would not be able to reopen until at least Wednesday.

Today's nine-race card had been canceled earlier because of the 16-inch snowfall. Two other cards were canceled by snow last week, as was Saturday's last race.

BREMEN, Germany — Martha Randall of Philadelphia won two events in the final day of the Bremen international swimming meet, breaking the American record in the 200-meter freestyle with a time of 2:12.

HORSE RACING

BOWIE, Md. — Exceedingly, $10.60, captured the $16,500-added Annapolis Stakes in a driving snowstorm at Bowie.

MIAMI, Fla. — First Family, $18.40 and Point du Jour, $5 won the split divisions of the Royal Palm Handicap at Hialeah.

OLDSMAR, Fla. — Paulding Flash, $2.80, came from far back and won the feature at Florida Downs.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Battler Star, $39.40, took the $10,000-added Thelma Stakes at the Fair Grounds.

ARCADIA, Calif. — Bold Bidder, $9.60, scored a six-length triumph in the $134,500 Charles H. Strub Stakes at Santa Anita.

PARIS — Roquepine, a 5-year-old French mare, won the $100,000 Prix d'Amerique, edging American-owned Elma by a half-length.

Swim Winners

Three young gals from the San Rafael Swim Club placed at the Stockton AB meet over the weekend. JoAnn Hislop was third in the "A" 50-yard backstroke, Marilyn Nederman was fifth in the "B" 100-yard breaststroke, and Linda Nederman was sixth in the "B" 50-yard back.

Down To Wire Finish In Lucky Tournament

Frank Beard, aiming for a wire to wire victory, nursed a one stroke lead today over veteran Mike Souchak as the field teed off in the final round of the $57,000 Lucky International golf tournament in San Francisco.

Beard started off with a five-under-par 66 at Harding Park in the opening round for a one stroke lead, boosted it to three shots at the halfway point with a 67 and came back yesterday with a one-under-par 70 for a 54-hole total of 203, 10 under par. Saturday's third round was postponed by a rainstorm, putting the schedule back one day.

Souchak, who failed to make the cut at the Bing Crosby tournament a week ago, fashioned three straight 68s to move into second spot at 204.

Ray Floyd, a long-hitting youngster, was all alone at 205 on rounds of 69-67-69.

Five pros were at six-under-par 207 but the man everyone was watching was Arnold Palmer, off to his best start ever on the winter circuit. He won the Los Angeles Open, finished a bang up second at the Crosby and still feels he can win this one.

"I certainly can make up four shots if I play well enough," said the confident Palmer. "But I have to putt better, that is for sure."

Joining Palmer at 207 were Ken Venturi, making a fine comeback after a year-long siege of hand trouble; colorful Joe Campbell, Dave Ragan and tour sophomore Tom Weiskopf.

Doors To Hall Of Fame Swing Open For Casey

NEW YORK (AP) — The door to Baseball's Hall of Fame has been thrown open for the immediate entrace of Casey Stengel, former player, manager and, at 75, still the sport's outstanding ambassador.

Stengel found out he would be eligible without the usual five-year waiting period when Ford Frick, who has just retired as baseball commissioner, revealed at the baseball writers dinner last night that the Hall of Fame Oldtimers' Committee has changed its rules.

Stengel sat on the dias as Frick spoke of the new rules and made obvious reference to Stengel without mentioning his name by looking down the table and quipping:

"This is not an announcement of election — but the gates are open."

The gates were opened by the simple expedient of waiving the usual five-year waiting period after retirement. Now the waiting period will be a mere six months for all retired baseball personnel, players, managers and officials, 65 or over.

By making that simple adjustment, outstanding men like Stengel who do not retire from baseball until late in life would have a chance to revel in the glory of election to the Hall of Fame while they are still alive.

The Oldtimers' Committee next is scheduled to meet at the end of the year but can call a special session together at any time.

PRACTICE GAMES SLATED

Marin League Cagers Rest From Title Race Tomorrow

Prep basketball team of the Marin Athletic League don't start the second half of their double round-robin schedule until Friday, but four of the teams will get in some practice game action tomorrow.

On tap for Drake and Novato teams are faculty games, the Pirates of San Anselmo playing at 2:45 p.m. and the Hornets at 4. Marin Catholic hosts Vallejo and Napa comes to San Rafael High School's court in two other 4 p.m. games.

Starting the second half of league play Friday, Drake (4-2) is at Redwood (5-1); Tamalpais (4-2) is at Novato (3-3), and Terra Linda (3-) is at Marin Catholic (2-4). San Rafael (0-6) has a bye.

League-leading Redwood has three boys in the top six of the individual scoring race. Russ Smith is leading the loop with 101 points and a 16.6 average. Andre Horn is third at 14.3, and Bruce McGee is sixth, 13.0.

Novato's John Dolinsek is on the heels of Smith in the scoring race with 94 points and a 15.7 average.

Pat Schafer of Tam is top scorer in the Class B race with 98 points and a 16.0 average per game. He's one good reason the little Indians are undefeated in league competition.

In varsity team statistics, Redwood has the best offense (64-point average) and Novato has taken over the defensive lead from Tam, 43 points per game allowed to the Indians' 45.

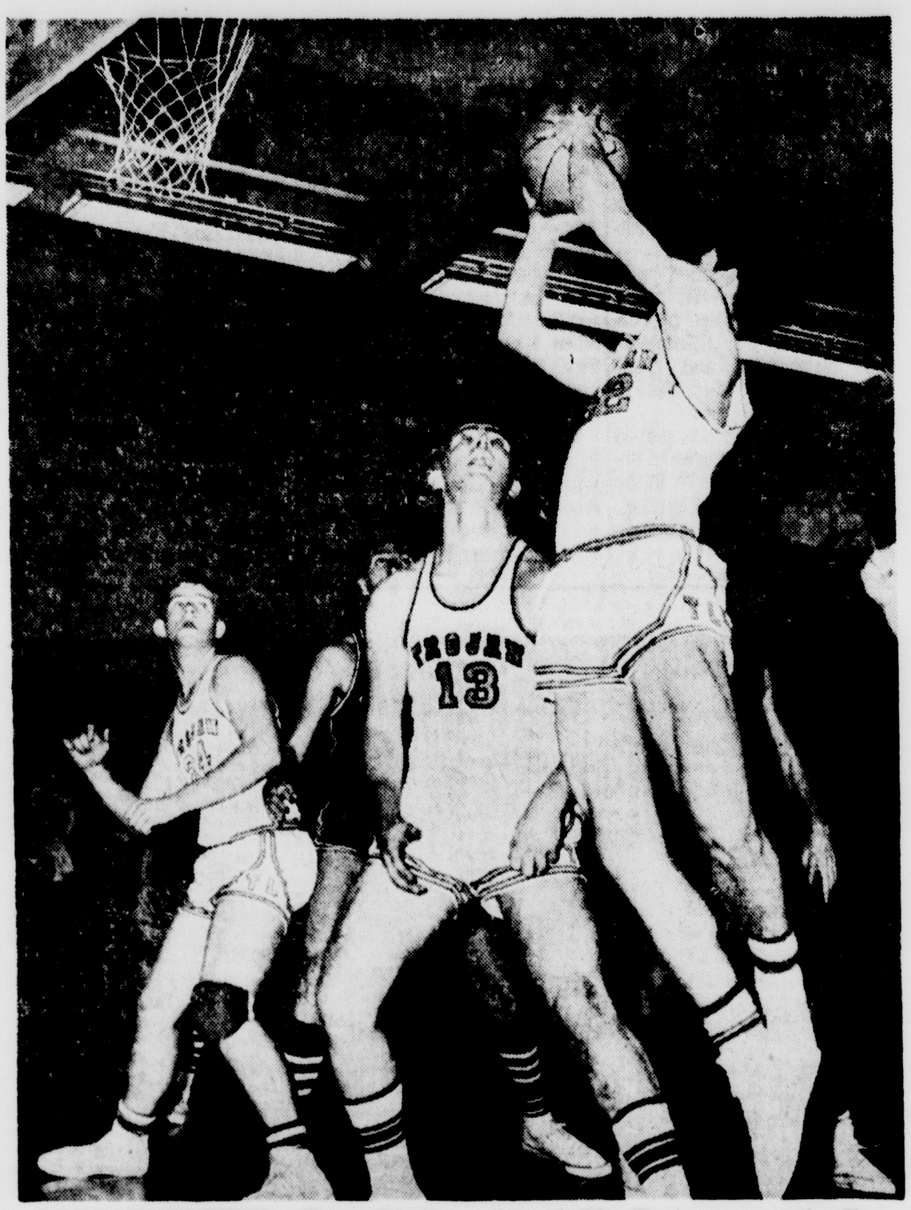
Game Rained Out

Litchfield's semi-pro baseball team from San Rafael had its regularly scheduled San Francisco AAA Winter League game postponed yesterday because of rain. The San Rafael team takes on second place Ellis Brooks next Sunday, weather permitting.



TRIES JUMP SHOT—Terra Linda guard Fred Daniele gets high in the air but misses shot as teammates Brian Perron (13) and Dave Dukes (24) position themselves for the rebound. The Trojans upset the Tamalpais Indians 56-54 last Friday to even their Marin Athletic League record at 3-3. League action resumes next Friday.

Cassius To Get Another Chance

It has come to my attention that Cassius Marcellus Clay, one of the great minds of our century, is being given another chance at a $70-a-month job, a golden opportunity to exchange a pink Cadillac for a pair of high-cuts, a monogrammed sheet for a jungle hammock, a pillow for a helmet, the Hilton for a hut.

The heavyweight champion's next opponent is going to be Viet Nam.

Cassius Marcellus is the first guy in a long time to become a millionaire who can't add. It was a shortcoming that bothered the Army. Why it should be critical, I don't know, unless they're deciding the fate of that country in a crap game.

CASSIUS WAS not noticeably upset at being turned down as unfit for buck private. That's because, after he got a look at the questions, he thought they were testing him for commander-in-chief.

We take you now to the Pentagon where a chicken colonel is interviewing an orderly who's not too brave, either. The colonel clears his throat:

COLONEL: "Orderly have you brought the Clay papers? Congress has been on my ear all week about this national disgrace as to why this superb physical specimen should not be eligible for slaughter. Whose decision was it, and how was it arrived at?"

ORDERLY: "Well, sir, when he first was asked to describe his stand on 'bigotry' he said he was against it because no man should have more than one wife."

COLONEL: (chomping on cigar): "Well, that's understandable. How many people know the crime of having more than one wife is 'biography?' Let me see those exam papers. (Shuffling through) Why, look here! He's got the right answer 15 times in a row!"

ORDERLY (leaning over, suspicious): "What?"

COLONEL: "I don't know."

ORDERLY (protesting): "But, sir, when you're asked how many sides to a 'triangle,' and you answer, 'Four. His, hers, hers and the truth,' we have to conclude we're dealing with an illiterate."

COLONEL: "Either that or he knows his marital situation better than you do. But, look, what are his arithmetic problems?"

ORDERLY: "Well, sir, here's one. The question posed was this: 'The cities of Emporia and Soot Center are 600 miles apart. One train leaves Emporia for Soot Center at 2 p.m. at 80 m.p.h, and at the same time, another train leaves Soot Center for Emporia at 95 m.p.h. When will they meet?' And he answers, 'I don't know, but you'll be able to tell by the crash.'"

COLONEL: "Good thinking. Did he pass the eye test."

ORDERLY: "He said he could see the chart perfectly but he didn't know what the words spelled. So he guessed 'No smoking.'"

COLONEL: "How was he on historical or algebraic questions?"

ORDERLY: "He thought the War of the Roses was a duel between the Glendale float and the City of Anaheim in the New Year's Day parade, that Napoleon was a product of the Armstrong Cork Co., and that World War II was won by John Wayne. We asked him if there was any way to find the weight of two small children using only a tub of water, a pencil, and a slide rule, if we were told each of the children weighed exactly the same, and he answered, 'Yeah, ask either one of 'em.' We said, 'If a farmer has six bushels of apples worth $10 a piece and drops four of them on the sidewalk, what does he have?' And he answered 'A mess.'"

COLONEL (sighing): "Well, suit him up and send him out to camp. The war in Viet Nam isn't College Bowl, you know. If we can declare Hanoi an open city, maybe we can declare him an open head."

ORDERLY: "Do we send him to the Army? Or the Marines?"

COLONEL: "The Army. No sense in being rotten to the Corps."

WIN GAME, BUT LOSE COACH

Good, Bad News For Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals could look back today upon victory, a 3-0 whitewashing of Vancouver, but it couldn't be considered a good news day.

The reason is the announcement that player-Coach Charley Burns' back condition has been diagnosed as a ruptured disc and he will be lost to the Seals as a player the rest of the season and as coach for two weeks.

General Manager Bud Poile will take over in the meantime. Burns was due to undergo an operation today at Franklin Hospital in San Francisco.

On the brighter side, the Seals skated past the Canucks yesterday afternoon and thereby snapped a four-game home losing streak.

The Seals play at Seattle Tuesday night and Victoria on Wednesday night. Then they're off for six road games against American Hockey League foes.

The Seals scored first yesterday early in the first period on a 35-foot slap shot by defenseman John Gravel. Defenseman Tom Thurlby scored on a similar shot at 3:42 of the second period and Mike Harvey scored from 10 feet at 11:11 of the second period.

The Seals advanced five points ahead of last-place Los Angeles, which lost 4-3 to Seattle last night. But Seattle's victory put the fourth-place Totems seven points ahead of the Seals.

FIGURE SKATING

Allen's Victory Raises Question

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Scott Allen is the national men's figure skating champion once again, but his latest victory over 1965 champion Gary Visconti raised more questions than it answered.

Allen, the 17-year-old 1964 champion from Smoke Rise, N.J., beat Visconti in the U.S. Figure Skating championships Saturday night on the strength of a lead he built in compulsory figures.

Three judges ranked him first overall and two placed him second. Visconti got one first place vote, two seconds and two thirds.

The embullient Visconti, three years older and about six inches shorter than Allen, won the free-skating despite a fall at the end of one triple jump, and another planned triple that "just didn't come off."

Allen received unimpressive free skating marks and two of the five judges ranked him no better than fourth.

Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs won her third straight national women's title, with Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., second and Pamela Schneider of Lincroft, N.J., third. Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle, Wash., won the pairs title.

Surprise! Warriors On A Winning Skein

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors and the Baltimore Bullets mix it up again tonight, 8:30 at Civic Auditorium, the Warriors hoping they can add to their National Basketball Assn. two-game winning "streak."

Behind rookie Rick Barry's 38 points, the Warriors beat the Bullets 108-95 Saturday night. It was the Warriors' second victory after three straight losses during their eastern swing.

Those 38 points are a coincidence for Barry. He also poured in 38 points Friday night in leading the San Franciscans to a 114-104 victory over the St. Louis Hawks.

In the Saturday night contest, Barry kept the Warriors in the game in the first half with 17 points.

San Francisco trailed 47-25 at the half. In the fourth quarter, Al Attles' ball thefts from the Bullets and Barry's shooting carried the Warriors to a 93-83 lead with 4:58 left. The lead grew steadily.

Baltimore, in second place in the NBA's Western Division, dropped a 136-122 decision to the Los Angeles Lakers in Los Angeles last night and fell 5½ games back of the division-leading Lakers. The Warriors are in third spot.

Courteous Cassius Gets Nailed Again By Police

CHICAGO (AP)— A courteous Cassius Clay, heavyweight boxing champion, was arrested on traffic charges yesterday, his second arrest in less than two months.

Policeman Milton Valde said he stopped Clay just west of the Loop on charges of running a stop sign. Clay was given a ticket and surrendered his driver's license in lieu of $25 bond. He was scheduled to appear in Traffic Court Feb. 28.

Valde said Clay, alias Muhammad Ali, was "very polite" and apologized for running the stop sign.

Police stopped a car in which Clay was a passenger Dec. 14 and ended up charging Clay with disorderly conduct. A jury trial is pending on the charge.

Policeman Thomas Faragoi said Clay kept asking him to throw a punch so Clay could sue the government.

Faragoi said Clay told him "we couldn't stop him because he's the champ" and that Clay "represents another government." Clay is a Black Muslim, a Negro supremacy sect. Muhammad Ali is Clay's Muslim name.

But policeman Valde said Clay was alone in a rented 1966 Cadillac just after midnight when he was stopped.

Valde said Clay "was very meek."

ALL-STAR BOWLERS—Joy Abel of Chicago and Dick Weber of St. Louis are all smiles after winning the All-Star bowling tournament yesterday in Lansing, Mich. Weber is now a four-time winner of the event and pocketed $15,000. Miss Abel won $5,000. (AP Wirephoto)

Cliffhanger Finish In All-Star Bowling

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Slender Dick Weber had his fourth big pay day in the National All-Star Bowling Tournament yesterday.

The 130-pound St. Louis resident won his second consecutive All-Star title and his fourth in the last five years to add $15,000 to the $60,545 bankroll he earned in previous All-Star tournaments.

Weber tripped fellow townsman Nelson Burton Jr., in the three-game championship rolloff, 684-681. The three-pin difference was the closest margin in the five-years that a three-game series has been used to settle the championship.

Joy Abel of Chicago won the $5,000 top prize in the women's division by defeating Bette Rockwell of Lynn, Mass., 593-538.

It was the 11th time in 14 All-Star appearances that Weber picked up a paycheck. His total winnings easily top the money list. Don Carter, also of St. Louis, is second with $27,000.

Weber and Carter have dominated the tournament in recent years. They are the only four-time winners, but Carter's payoffs were when the tournament was paying much less than it is today.

Sunday's four finalists earned their way into the championship rolloffs through a series of eliminations during the first 12 days of the tournament.

The men's starting field of 432 had entries from every state plus Japan, Australia and Canada. There were 260 women competing for the feminine title.

Weber started out as if he were going to make it a runaway, but ultimately needed a flying start in the third game to hold off Burton.

After jumping into a 49-pin lead in the first game, 225-176, Weber's advantage was cut to 14 pins when the 23-year-old Burton put together a string of eight consecutive strikes in the middle of the second game for a 269 effort. Weber had his best game of the day, 234, but still lost 25 points to the challenger.

With Burton closing in, Weber fired five strikes in a row to start the deciding game.

However, the champion opened the door when he left the nine-pin in the sixth frame.

Burton took advantage of the break and closed with six strikes in a row, but still was three pins shy at the finish.

Miss Abel settled the issue early in the women's match, picking up a 5-7 pin leave in the first game she won 227-170. Miss Rockwell won the second game, 185-177, but Miss Abel took the third to win the title, 189-183.

The other 14 finalists in the men's and women's divisions rolled a position round to determine the final standings.

3-Way Tie In Pacific Eight Cage Chase

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

How do you go about ranking UCLA?

The on-again, off-again Bruins, just about everyone's choice as the top college basketball squad in the nation two months ago, may have dropped out of the national picture, but they still are in the thick of the torrid Pacific Eight chase.

The Uclans, currently 3-1 in league play, found themselves today in a three way tie for first place with Southern California and Oregon State. The Bruins put a good deal of their remaining prestige on the line tonight when they host tough Arizona in a non-conference game.

The Wildcats prepped for the contest at the expense of Stanford last Friday, handing the Indians a 94-54 drubbing, while the Bruins journeyed all the way to Chicago to lose a 102-96 overtime battle to Loyola.

UCLA returns to league play Saturday against Washington State.

Results last Saturday:

Arizona State 82, Stanford 71
California 64, San Jose State 52
Gonzaga 97, Washington State 82
Washington 87, Hawaii 58
Seattle 84, LaSalle 62
Santa Clara 79, USC 76
UOP 94, San Francisco State 92 (overtime).

College Football 'Without Value'

By CHARLES MAHER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a day when colleges are cranking out football players worth their weight in DuPont stock, it is at least mildly astonishing to come across a man prepared to argue that college football is without value.

But there are those who will tell you that today's full-blown collegiate football programs not only foster empty values but are wholly incompatible with academic life.

Such is the position of James B. Hall, a novelist, short story writer and poet who is a professor of English and director of the Writing Center at the University of California at Irvine. He formerly taught at Cornell, Iowa and Oregon.

"Interest in sports," professor Hall says, "is a flaw in our national character, from my point of view.

"This interest is basically irrational, so any kind of rational program to counter it is not likely to get a consensus.

"Intellectual activity is the only reason for a university's existence. Fundamentally, we have universities to allow students to discipline their minds. Anything that interferes with this objective should take a low priority.

"Athletics interferes with the discipline of the mind—it's a diversion.

"No one can pretend to speak for the academic community. However, some people question whether there should be any athletic programs in colleges unless they are purely recreational and can be used for recreational purposes later in life.

"Football does not qualify, except for the few who are going to play pro football. And they are doing it not for recreation but to make a personal fortune."

"Because of the time they must spend on sports, athletes lack time for contemplation, reading and social activities. These people just can't take part.

"They have to take their game and themselves so seriously they are really short-changed.

"One of the objects of education is to make a person well rounded. But the athlete has to submerge his identity in a team and a kind of bureaucracy made up of the coach and his staff and the boosters.

"This training inculcates a tribal nature — a dehumanizing proposition.

"That's the thing that really strikes me: The grimness of the activity."

If it is considered essential that athletic talent be developed at the college level, Hall said, perhaps it could be done by creating special schools for athletes.

He concludes:

"Why not a national network of such schools for training all our football, baseball and ping-pong players and our Olympic team?

"They could be read heroic poetry every morning."

Yachts Off To Mexico

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Kialoa II, a 73-foot aluminum sloop skippered by Newport Harbor racing veteran Jim Kilroy, grabbed a slender first-day lead as 25 yachts opened the 1,430-mile San Diego-to-Acapulco race.

The Kialoa took advantage of 15-knot breezes yesterday to edge ahead of Sumner Long's 57-foot yawl, Ondine, out of Larchmont, N.Y.

The fleet began the eighth biennial running of the race in heavy seas, with swells up to 10 feet.

Sails were full as the yachts dashed through the channel between the Coronado Islands and the Mexican mainland. Then, as breezes receded, some crews unfurled striped spinnakers and set a course nearer shore.

Two miles back of the dueling leaders was a pack that included John Scripps' ketch, Novia del Mar, Bob Johnson's ketch, Ticonderoga, Bill Wilson's K50 Rascal, Peter Davis' Orient and Peter Grant's Malu III.

Elapsed time record for the race, set in 1964 by Howard Ahmanson's Sirius II, is about eight days and nine hours.

To erase the record of the absent Sirius II, a yacht must arrive at the finish by 9:11 p.m., Feb. 7. The race is being run in three classes, the over-all handicap championship determined by corrected times.

Raiders Get Two Linemen

OAKLAND (AP) — The Buffalo Bills sent linemen Tom Keating and George Flint to the Oakland Raiders yesterday in a trade for Bo Roberson, a flanker.

Roberson had gone to the Bills in October, helping them win the American Football League title. He since has been sent to the Miami Dolphins, who are building a new club.

Keating, 24, is from Michigan and is a defensive end-tackle. Flint, 27, is from Arizona State and an offensive guard.

WILLIAMS-DI MAGGIO

Big Trade That Almost Came Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ted Williams for Joe DiMaggio even up?

You'd be surprised how close these to Hall of Famers actually came to being swapped for one another.

The Williams-DiMaggio trade actually was made, and then called off by both parties the following morning.

The way I get the story the whole thing took place sometime around 1949 on a train which happened to be carrying Tom Yakey of the Red Sox and Dan Topping of the Yankees to the baseball meetings that year.

As the conversation progressed, they got on to the subject of possible player trades and before you know it, each tried to come up with what he considered a perfect trade for the other.

Well, that wasn't too tough.

As for the Yankees, they were in the market for a good, strong left-handed hitter to take advantage of their beckoning, belt-high right field wall. And who could name anyone better than Ted Williams?

This one looked perfect. Two of the greatest names in baseball, to sluggers who long since had proven themselves, and to men who quite obviously were playing in the wrong ball parks.

The more Yawkey and Topping thought about a Williams-for-DiMaggio deal, the more they liked the idea. And the more they liked the idea, the less reason they could see why they shouldn't make the trade.

The moment of truth arrived and both Yawkey and Topping were up to it. Neither flinched. It was getting late now, but they shook hands on the deal, so the story goes, and then went to sleep.

Topping arose bright and early the next morning but Yawkey already was up ahead of him. Each wanted to see the Yawkey already was up ahead of him. Each wanted to see the other right away.

"We were only kidding last night, weren't we?" was the first question.

It doesn't really matter which one asked it because both had the exact same thought in mind. They reassured themselves they were only joking, went to breakfast and that was the end of that.

THE 1966 LEGISLATURE

It's The Year For Political Survival

EDITOR'S NOTE: The California Constitution says legislative sessions in even-numbered years shall be limited to consideration of a budget for the following year. But the pressing problems of the nation's most populous state say otherwise . . . and prospects are for what amounts to a little general session in an election year. It's complicated by reapportionment and the scramble for Senate seats that will be opening up in next year's Legislature. The session begins a week from today.

By JERRY RANKIN

(First in a series)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A cauldron of controversy faces the 1966 Legislature, stirred by new tax needs and reapportioned lawmakers colliding in an election year struggle for political survival.

Last year's legislative session was one of the most cantankerous in years, as reapportionment became reality — arousing dreams of quick political advancement among assemblymen, and anger from senators doomed to the political junkpile.

Reaction from that historic session will play a key role in this year's meeting, overshadowing the fact that 1966 will be the last time rural interests control either house. When the 1967 Legislature marches in, Southern California will assume numerical control of the Senate, adding to its existing domination of the Assembly.

Reapportionment gave urban areas around San Francisco and in Los Angeles new senators, and assemblymen already are scrambling to shift from the 80-member lower house to the 40-member upper chamber.

More than 10 assemblymen have officially announced they want to be senators. And the cut in the Senate districts in the north is pitting as many as four incumbent senators against each other—and only one can emerge still in office. But already, a third of the incumbents have announced they'll try to retain their seats.

Neither group is expected to relish spending most of the vital spring primary campaigning time talking in Sacramento about how to raise taxes, end smog and deal with the other topics before them.

Compounding the confusion will be Republican economy attacks on Democrat Governor Brown's budget, due to hit an all-time high of about $4.5 billion. Brown needs some of their votes to pass the budget — but many Republicans running for the first time in new districts may not be anxious to spend much time in the Capitol.

Concentration on taxes, the budget and politics portenrs scant attention to the other subjects on the special session agenda to run along with the budget meeting.

One question is whether lawmakers will adopt the budget in the 30 - day period required by law, or whether the extra special session that has become common during recent budget years will be needed to hammer out a compromise.

One leader doubts the first 30 days will be sufficient. Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, commented: "Anyone who expects to reach a satisfactory conclusion on the regularly scheduled day of adjournment is overlooking the deep division in the Legislature."

NEXT: The budget.

Bagley Sees Taxes As Paramount Issue

By WAT TAKESHITA

One of the major goals of the Republican minority during the coming legislative session is to work for relief of local property taxpayers without increasing the total tax bite, in the opinion of Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The budget session will open Feb. 7 for what appears to be a short session that should wind up in April.

The record $4.5 billion budget proposed for the next fiscal year means a deficit of some $250 million to $300 million, Bagley noted.

He predicted the Democratic administration will attempt to meet that deficit by proposing a "gamut of other taxes — telephone taxes, sales taxes, corporate taxes, real estate transaction taxes, etc."

"We recognize the need for tax reform and relief for the property taxpayer," said Bagley. But he is opposed to the threat of a major state-wide tax increase under the guise of a "tax reform."

"For example, the Petris-Unruh tax bill, to be again proposed, provides an over-all state tax increase of $1.1 billion. About $700 million of this would be used to relieve property taxpayers. The extra $400 million, however, is pure gravy—calculated to increase taxes and spending, state-wide."

Bagley said he and his colleagues are drafting a tax reform bill which would provide $500 million to $600 million for local property tax relief, without the $400 million "gravy."

Among local projects, Assemblyman Bagley will try again for acquisition of the 3,000-acre Frank Valley area to add to Mount Tamalpais State Park. The money for this acquisition would come from the state parks bond issue approved by the voters in 1964.

Smog will continue to be an issue in the coming session.

Bagley said he is having a measure drafted for over-all control of smog, not only through devices on cars but at the source—the refining of gasoline.

"This measure would provide tax deductions for any research aimed at taking pollutants out of gasoline at the refinery instead of at the exhaust pipe," said Bagley.

The Marin assemblyman said preliminary reports may be coming in from the Constitutional Revision Commission, whose job is to revise and modernize the state constitution.

Among revisions that have been suggested are these:

Have the Legislature meet in annual regular sessions instead of biennially.

Make the job of legislators a full-time one, with salary increase and corresponding cutbacks on some of the fringe benefits.

Adopt the congressional committee bill concept, so that bills introduced in the first session can be carried over into the second session. At present, a bill which dies in interim committee must start from scratch at the new session.

Bagley said he would oppose the governor's request of $300,000 for an "office of tourism," and any attempt to initiate a state withholding tax.

He will continue his campaign to reform the state inheritance tax appraisal system, which allows the controller to reward faithful party workers with political appointments.

Redwoods Promotion On Agenda

Supervisors from eight California counties, including Marin, will meet Friday in Santa Rosa to discuss a plan which would hike the money spent by the Redwood Empire Assn. on travel promotion from around $128,000 to more than $260,000.

The meeting of the supervisors unit of the association will discuss means of raising the money in detail including a suggestion that all counties contribute on an equitable basis.

The promotion plan, unveiled Jan. 21, has been described as the greatest thing that has happened to the Redwood Empire Assn." by Jack Craemer, REA past president and editor of the Independent-Journal. Craemer heads a committee to put the program into effect.

It was estimated that there were 20,000 professional performers headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., during the 1920's at the height of tent repertoire theaters' activities.

VDC Wants President Impeached

BERKELEY (UPI)—The Viet Nam Day Committee, a group opposed to the war in Viet Nam, today asked Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., to introduce legislation to impeach President Johnson.

The VDC said the resumption of bombing in North Viet Nam made it "obvious that Johnson's so-called peace offensive was a hoax."

The committee sent a telegram to Cohelan advising the congressman they planned a "mass sit-in at your Oakland office" today.

"There can no longer be any doubt that Lyndon Johnson is not fit to be President of this country," the telegram said.

The VDC said, "The war in Viet Nam must be ended by immediate cessation of bombing in North and South Viet Nam and immediate withdrawal of American troops in accord with the principles of the 1954 Geneva agreement."

Sierra Road Clogged By Cars

RIVERTON (AP) — A huge traffic jam in the Sierra Nevada closed 50 miles of U. S. 50 for two hours yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said the jam resulted from hundreds of vehicles heading home at the same time after a weekend of winter recreation.

Crews used the two hours to clear away snow and bogged-down cars.

Closed was that stretch of the road between Riverton, on the west side of the Sierra, to Meyers, near the south end of Lake Tahoe.

Policeman Is Booked In Hostess Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A veteran married police officer was booked for investigation of felony assault today after allegedly beating an airline hostess with his service revolver in her apartment.

Chief Thomas Cahill immediately suspended Patrolman G. Williams, 34, on the force 11 years.

Traffic Capt. Les Dolan said William flew into a rage last night when another man telephoned Doris Bulls, 24-year-old airline hostess, while Williams was visiting her apartment.

Williams first beat the woman with a rolled-up magazine, then forced her to drive him to a bar and back to her apartment, Dolan said.

Miss Bulls fled screaming to the street. Neighbors surrounded her but Williams drew his revolver and threatened to shoot anyone who interfered, according to Dolan.

Williams then dragged the woman back to her apartment and slugged her on the head with the pistol, the police official said.

Williams was booked at City Prison. Miss Bulls as treated at Central Emergency Hospital for bruises.

Motorcycle Group Asks Park Use

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission will act Wednesday on a request made by the Marin chapter of the American Motorcycle Assn. for one-day use of the city's Albert Park.

The local motorcycle group has asked permission to host a picnic for 300 Bay Area cyclists on a Sunday afternoon in April.

The commission delayed action on the request at its last meeting to give Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota a chance to check on the group's reputation.

Harold Bell, 26, of 1310 Leafwood Drive, Novato, told the commission that the motorcycle group has no affiliation with the Hell's Angels, but that their picnic could be upset by the Angels unless they had police protection.

Also to be considered at the meeting, to held at 8 p.m. at City Hall, are sponsorship of after-game dances for high school students and the acquisition of a Monticello Road park site.

School Districts To Study Budget

The San Rafael and Dixie School District boards Thursday will compare tax rates necessary to run the districts if they are unified with those if they remain separate.

Meeting at 8 p.m. at Davidson School, the boards will hear a report from the county schools office on tax rates which could be in effect in both districts during the 1966-67 school year if the June unification election fails.

Dr. William Cunningham, superintendent of Hayward Unified School District, will discuss the pros and cons of unification.

High Court To Review Hoffa Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to a limited review of James R. Hoffa's conviction in 1964 on jury-tampering charges.

In a brief order, the court said it would hear the teamsters Union president's appeal on one question alone. That is:

"Whether evidence obtained by the government by means of deceptively placing a secret informer in the quarters and councils of a defendant during one criminal trial so violates the defendant's fourth, fifth and Sixth Amendment rights that suppression of such evidence is required in a subsequent trial of the same defendant on a different charge."

Hoffa asked reversal by the court of his conviction. He was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000.

Three co-defendants, each sentenced to three years in prison, filed separate appeals. Their petitions to be heard also were granted, limited to one question. The three are Thomas Ewing Parks, Larry Campbell and Ewing King.

Hoffa and the three others were tried in federal court in Chattanooga, Tenn., on charges of tampering with the jury in Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial in Nashville. The Nashville trial ended in a mistrial when jurors could not agree.

The Justice Department opposed hearings for the four men.

Today's ruling means the court will hear arguments on the cases.

The first hospital in the United States devoted to caring for chronic diseases was the Montefiore Home in New York City, founded in 1884.
